Once Doomed, Dorman House Is Saved By Historical Society

BY JENNIFER JACKSON
Staff Reporter

People coming to town this year for Olde Glory Days will find a special attraction. For the first time in two years, the Dorman House will be open to the public.

"We are hoping to have it open by Olde Glory Days, so people can go through it," said Suzanne Bush, director of the Henry County Historical Museum.

Built in 1852, the Dorman House was closed in June of 2021 because of structural problems. Now, work is going ahead to put it back on a firm foundation. To help cover the costs of the first two phases of the project, the Henry County Historical Society, which manages the museum, has launched a campaign to raise $250,000.

The first phase started in March. In order to secure the walls, builders had to remove wallpaper, and in some places, replace bricks in the interior walls with concrete blocks. Steel lintels were installed over doorways, pier supports were placed under the east and north sides, and a concrete floor was poured under the living room and music room. New ducts for heating and air conditioning hold metal rods, which tie the inside walls to the outside walls to prevent bowing.

Workers also removed the front hall staircase, and installed steel posts to support a new staircase and the upstairs landing. The work revealed the old strongbox, built of brick into the floor of the office.

The box was found years ago, so held no secrets, Suzanne said. A plexiglass cover will be placed over it, she said, so it remains in view.

By next fall, the Historical Society hopes to be entering the second phase of the Dorman House project, putting the interior back together.

To help pay for the project, the Historical Society has planned three fundraisers — a chicken dinner and auction on June 10, a hamburger and bratwurst cookout on Sept. 23, and a Murder Mystery Dinner on Oct. 2. The chicken dinner and the Murder Mystery Dinner will both be held in the Delozier Building, 101 N. Washington. Tickets Dorman House 3

CHS Jazz Prepares To Turn Up The Beat At Concert

BY JENNIFER JACKSON
Staff Reporter

When Pat Miles auditioned for the choir at Clinton Middle School, he received an ambivalent response.

"The teacher said I had a voice for band," he said.

So Pat took band, and now leads the band program at Clinton schools with an energy and joy that inspires his students. On Thursday, May 11, the Jazz Band will share that spirit with the public at a community concert at 7 p.m. at the Elks Club, 115 W. Franklin, on the north side of the Clinton Square.

The concert is free, and is put on in conjunction with the Clinton Arts Council, which supports the CHS band program by donating their money and time.

"This is a way to say thank-you for everything they do," Pat said.

Pat graduated from CHS in 2002, attended the University of Missouri, then taught band in Greenridge for eight years, before he took the job in Clinton, where his wife works. He plays a little bit of everything, he said, but when he was in high school, played the saxophone.

CHS had a jazz program, he said, but there were only about 15 students in the jazz band. The year he started teaching at CHS in 2015, that had dropped to six and seven students, Pat said, and the marching band had 35 students.

He started his eighth year last fall teaching at CHS, he said, where the marching band now has 96 members.

The jazz program has also grown — about 30 musicians fill the rehearsal room every weekday morning at 8:35 a.m. for Jazz Band class. That number makes it more of a big band, Pat said.

He also has what he calls his "jazz crew" in the middle school. Pat, who said he loves all kinds of music, said his strength is improvisation — there's nothing sadder than a jazz solo where someone is rigidly following the music, he said.

"The students in middle school learn chords," he said.

"That's how they break it down for jazz."

Have I Got A Line For You!

By James Mahlon White

Lot's of us we're "glued to the tube" over the weekend watching the coronation of King Charles. I loved it! A country however flawed that still believes in tradition. Not my tradition, but still something to marvel at. It was nice to see the arrangements were genuine diversity. That was refreshing given that many graduating students from universities want separate and apart commencement programs these days. In the meantime, many of our traditions are being swept into the dustbin and we seem more divided by the day. What will become of us?

Well, the President was finally asked about the latest round of allegations regarding Hunter's shady business dealings. He said Hunter has done nothing wrong and, "Impacts my Presidency by making me feel proud of him." UNBELIEVABLE! The Biden standard for doing nothing wrong is to disavow a child out of wedlock, engage in rampant influence peddling, lie on a Federal firearm application, video tape yourself doing crack with hookers, go after your dead brothers wife and hide out in the White House to avoid process servers with child support papers. Criminals always feel proud of their criminal children. It's like the mafia. The apple doesn't fall far from the tree. Harsh, but it's true.

I read yesterday that a good book to re-read is John Steinbeck's novel "The Moon Is Down." It's a story about the uneasiness soldiers occupying Norway felt. They'd been told before the "conquest" that Norwegians would welcome them. What happened though, as Steinbeck described it, was a constant uneasiness and a feeling that these quiet non-smiling people were watching, watching and waiting. Years later this book was made into a movie and Ronald Reagan starred in it.

With this I'll take my leave for the day. Take care of yourself old buddy.

to the chicken dinner are $20 ($25 at the door). It will include live music and a silent and live auction. The Delozier Building was built in 1874 as the First National Bank of Clinton, which Judge Dorman helped organize.

The Homestead, across from the museum annex, will be the site of the Sept. 23 burger and brats cookout, which will be held in conjunction with Old Settlers Days. A free family event, Old Settlers Days will include demonstrations of pioneer crafts.

"Murder at the Masquerade Ball," a murder-mystery dinner, is on Oct. 2, is a lead-up to Halloween, with participants in masks and costumes, and actors from the Levity Players Group in St. Louis.

Suzanne estimates that it will take another $50,000 to complete the third phase of the project, preserving the exterior of the Dorman House by sand-blasting and applying a treatment that allows the bricks to breathe but keeps moisture out.

Most of the bricks of the Dorman House are sound, she said, but parts of the walls had to be tuck-pointed because the mortar between them had dissolved.

"People don't realize how much maintenance is needed for a brick building," she said.

Cracks and gaps in the interior walls, slumping exterior walls and soft floor joists prompted the museum to have an engineer come and evaluate the house for safety.

After examining the house, the engineer asked if it was still open for tours. When Suzanne said yes, he replied "It shouldn't be." The city inspector seconded the judgment. So the Dorman House was closed and the furnishings removed — the antique settee and Victorian occasional tables in the parlor, the desk and law books from Judge Dorman's office, the carved wood furniture from the upstairs' bedroom where Jerubial and Udolphia slept, connected to the bedroom where they raised six children.

After the last Dorman to live in the house moved to a nursing home, caretakers lived in the house, according to Thom Knott, a Dorman descendant. But by that time, the house was in such a state of disrepair that he invited engineers from the state to give him options of what to do with it. Their conclusion:

"They said it would have to be rebuilt brick by brick," Thom said.

In 1996, he sold the house to Clinton Main Street for the price of the lot, he said. Main Street has used the Dorman House for its offices. Volunteers who spent the next six years restoring it included Dr. Glaspay, Barry Glasscock, Jerry Mosley and Dwight Whitten.

In 2008, the Henry County Historical Society acquired the Dorman House, and the house, in the second block of Franklin, became part of the complex of historic buildings on Franklin Street, just off the Square. The stone horse trough from the yard of the Dorman House, which was a stage-coach stop, is on the museum grounds.

In 1983, the Dorman House was placed in the National Register of Historic Places, the fourth of eight landmarks in Henry County to have that honor.

In the fall of 2021, the Henry County Historical Society applied to Missouri Alliance for Historic Preservation to have the Dorman House named to its "Place in Peril" list of historic sites in need of rescue. It made the list, but the honor didn't attract any funding, so the Henry County Historical Society was thrown back on its own resources.

In addition to the fundraisers, the museum started a Go Fund Me Page, "Help Save the Dorman House," and donations have been coming in, Suzanne said. The HCHS has also received donations from members.

Every contribution helps, Suzanne said.

"It's okay if it's just a little bit at a time," she said. "It adds up over time."

CLINTON BUSINESSMAN Thom Knott is the great-nephew of Udolphia Phillips, the last member of the family to live in the historic home.

From Ziegfeld Follies to the DAR: Dorman Family Holds Decades of History

BY JENNIFER JACKSON
Staff Reporter

The oldest two-story house in Clinton, the Dorman House sheltered three generations of the Dorman family, whose saga brings a century and a half of American history to life, from the 1849 Gold Rush to the 1990s.

The house, on Franklin Street, was built in 1852, the year Jerubial Dorman returned to Illinois from California. Jerubial had sailed to Central America, traveled across Honduras to the Pacific Ocean, then sailed back up the coast to join the Gold Rush. But when digging for gold proved harder than advertised, he returned by ship around the Horn.

Born in Kentucky in 1818, Jerubial found farming dull, so sought work on flatboats on the Ohio River, traveling to St. Louis, then down the Mississippi to New Orleans. He also took a government job blazing a military road from Booneville, Mo., to Fort Scott, Kansas.

According to research by county historian Tom Colwell, Jerubial remembered passing through Clinton, where he stayed in a log tavern on the northeast corner of the Square with Col. Joe Davis, who had a corn patch where the courthouse is now.

In 1850, according to Colwell, Dorman returned to the Mississippi, purchased part interest in a steamboat and worked as a riverboat captain, running between Quincy, Ill., and New Orleans.

Two years later, he embarked on the sea of matrimony with a widow, Udolphia Miller, in Quincy. In 1856, the Dormans moved to Clinton with their oldest son, Charles Douglas, and opened a general store on the north side of the Square. A second son, William H., was born soon after.

By the time their third son, George Harris, was born in 1857, the Dormans were living in the house at 301 W. Franklin. It originally had four rooms down, bedrooms upstairs and a summer kitchen connected to the back of the house by a porch. As the family grew, a two-story addition was built on to a back corner of the house, and later, a kitchen and a large music room were added.

In 1860, Jerubial was elected county judge, which as the chief judicial officer made him captain of the Home Guard when the Civil War broke out. But in a town where many residents were pro-Confederacy, Judge Dorman's role as the local representative of the Union was something of a balancing act.

Udolphia Miller Dorman was born in 1830 in Frederick County, Maryland, which like Kentucky and Missouri, was a border state. Udolphia was descended from colonists who grabbed their guns when they heard the Redcoats were coming, and the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution is named in her honor.

Udolphia Dorman, who survived eight pregnancies, died at 76 years of age in 1906 while visiting her daughter, Victoria, in Kansas. According to Udolphia's obituary, the M.K. & T. Flyer brought her body back to Clinton, where she was buried in Englewood Cemetery.

Jerubial, 12 years older than his spouse, outlived her by four years, dying at 91 years old. His younger brother, Mathew Dorman, fought in the Mexican War, and died in 1892, and is buried at Englewood Cemetery.

The eldest Dorman son, Charles, and the Dorman's third son, George, both died in 1938. The youngest son, Oscar, died the next year, at age 77.

That left the second son, William H., 84, as the last surviving brother. Also surviving Oscar were the Dormans' daughters, Miss Emma Dorman, born in 1864, and Victoria Dorman Phillips, born in 1867. Attending Oscar's funeral with Victoria were her daughters, Miss Udolphia Phillips, and Katharine, who was Mrs. J. Mullaly.

Her grandmother's namesake, Udolphia Phillips was born in 1903 in Kansas, but moved to Clinton with her family when she was a freshman in high school, living in a house across from the Dorman House. She graduated from CHS, and the family moved to St. Louis, where Victoria and her daughters are listed as being from at the time of Oscar's funeral.

In 1914, Emma organized the Udolphia Miller Dorman Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She lived through two world wars, dying in 1947 at age 83.

Victoria gets the longevity award in the family — she died at the age 97 in 1964 in Clinton, where she returned to live in her childhood home. Udolphia Phillips also returned to Clinton to take care of her mother.

Udolphia Phillips continued to live in the house for 20 years after her mother's death. Suzanne Bush, among other Clinton residents, remembers when Udolphia would drive her big Cadillac around town, and pick up a take-out meal from the restaurant on the Square where Suzanne worked.

Thom Knott, owner of the Thom Knott insurance agency in Clinton, is the grandson of Victoria's other daughter, Katherine Mullaly. Thom remembers spending time in the summers at the Dorman House when he was growing up, and said he knew his Great-Aunt Udolphia well when he was a child and a young man.

When Udolphia Phillips needed care, her sister, Thom's grandmother, moved her to a nursing home. After Katharine died, Thom became Udolphia's unofficial guardian, he said, visiting her in the nursing home, although she thought he was one of her uncles.

Udolphia Phillips died in 1992, at age 88, in the Westwood Nursing Home in Clinton, and is buried at Englewood Cemetery. Her obituary states that she attended Stephens College in Columbia, and was an interpretive dancer who "received offers from the Ziegfeld Follies."

In Clinton, she was a regent in the DAR, a member of Colonial Dames, served as chairman of the Clinton Centennial, led the Humane and the Historical societies, and was a member of the Episcopal church.

Thom remembers attending her funeral. He also remembers how active his grandmother and his great-aunt were in the DAR, and how hard his grandmother worked to keep the house from falling apart.

Thom, who toured the Dorman House last week to view the work being done, said he is delighted the Henry County Historical Society is committed to saving the historic home.

He said, however, once he became a coach himself, he had to worry about things he never had to worry about before: where to park the bus, will the bus fit there? How do I get all the students to McDonald's? In other words, the logistics of taking groups of students anywhere comes with worry and extra planning. But little did Barnes know he had an ace-in-the-hole: a seasoned driver who had taken generations of students to track meets, State or otherwise, and had through long years of experience the solution to all those problems. It was a worry-reducer for a new coach.

Not only had this particular awardee drove a bus for many years, but she has also served on the School Board for the past ten years and used her experience to help guide decisions made for current and future students in other capacities. She is, as Barnes said, one of the rare examples of a selfless person.

So - congratulations to Distinguished Alumni Award winner Marilyn Parratt - CHS Class of 1965! And, by the way, she was shocked once she realized who the awardee was - another example of not thinking of herself first. A well deserved award!

LINDA MAE BAILEY

Linda M. Bailey, age 78 of Clinton, Missouri, passed away Friday, April 28th, 2023 at the Golden Valley Memorial Healthcare, Clinton, Missouri.

Linda Mae Bailey, daughter of Richard Eugene and Jewell Edna Dalton was born on April 5th, 1945, on their family farm, in Clinton MO. Linda was a member of Drakes Chapel United Methodist Church. She attended Clinton schools where she graduated in 1963. Her first job was an after-school job at Clearfield Cheese. She was then employed by United Telephone Company as a telephone operator. She became a stay-at-home mom and then worked as a childcare provider for 23 years. When Lesa and Lonnie had both graduated, she took a job for the Clinton School District in the Media Centers, spending her days between all three schools for her 21 years of employment there. She retired in 2008 to spend more time with Lester and her family. She loved being retired the best! She always said her best job ever was being Grandma and Great Memaw to her wonderful grandchildren and all their fur babies.

On June 14th, 1964, Linda was united in marriage to Lester. He was the absolute love of her life! They shared a never-ending love and would have celebrated 59 years together this year. She said, "our rings form a small circle, but the circle was overflowing with love for each other and our family." To this union they shared a daughter and a son. They lived and breathed for their children! They enjoyed camping and anything that involved their family.

She was preceded in death by her parents, her brother Richard, an infant brother Larry Dale and a granddaughter Natalie Nicole. Also, her mother and father-in-law Shandy and Marian Bailey.

She leaves to mourn her passing her husband, Lester, of the home. A daughter Lesa (Doug) Burke of Clinton. Her son Lonnie (Gayle) Bailey of Ashland Missouri, her brother James (Velma) Dalton and sister Carolyn (Larry) Mendenhall, grandchildren Emily (Aaron) Burke, Tyler Burke, Amiee (Jeremy) Neace, Megan (Rob) Countz, Joshua (Brandi) Bailey, great grandchildren Damian and Hunter Bailey, Eloise Neace as well as several nieces and nephews and many friends and neighbors.

Linda loved her family and friends! She was a very dedicated and loving wife, mother, grandmother and great memaw. She worked very hard to see that her children and grandchildren always had what they needed in life. She always put others' needs before her own. She was a wonderful cook and took great pleasure in preparing family meals whenever possible.

She enjoyed sewing and very proudly made all the bridesmaid's and flower girl's dresses for Doug and Lesa's wedding. She enjoyed crocheting and made each of her children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren a personal afghan in their choice of colors; Even the family pets were blessed enough to have a blanket made by her. She enjoyed long drives with Lester. They loved going to Branson and watching the shows. As well as organizing the family garage sales and making a day with Lester to go out looking for treasures during garage sale season. She enjoyed working on family history and kept very meticulous records and enjoyed organizing! We gave her a hard time about how organized she was; However, we always knew who we needed to call if we needed any information because she undoubtedly had it on record on one of her many calendars. We as a family are quite certain that if heaven wasn't organized when she got there, it is now!

We as her family are truly proud and honored to call her Wife, Mother, Grandma and Great Memaw. she will be missed beyond words!

Calhoun UMC

Welcome to the Good News from Calhoun United Methodist. We are pleased to gather in fellowship and love, to praise the Lord with church family and guests. We ring the church bell at 9:45 to call the "flock" to 10:00 Worship. Our service is live-streamed for face book.

We extend our Sympathy and Christian love to the family and friends of Helen Reynolds, Jim Bilbruck, and Gary Jones who passed into the arms of Jesus this week. Others on the prayer list are Macayla and Jaden Hawkins and baby Kehlan, John and Marty Lloyd, Sharon Miller, and the Burson family. We are asking for prayers for our church and congregation as we take a hard look at what God has in mind for us next. Just a reminder Lord, the wind continues to blow and we could use a nice gentle soaking rain.

Joys to celebrate: We were blessed with a good crowd for church this morning. Special music was "Turn Your Eyes upon Jesus on C.D. We were pleased to have Shelby Bicknell and Steve Siercks with us today. Pastor Margie announced the marriage of Macayla Lowe and Jaden Hawkins this week at the Children's Mercy Hospital Chapel where their baby girl is waiting for a heart transplant. A reminder to those who come to Calhoun for the Harvesters food drop, it will be this Friday May 12th at 12 noon.

We welcome visitors any Sunday morning for worship, come dressed as you are comfortable, bring the youngsters and be prepared to receive a blessing for your effort. We are a Concerned and Praying church if you find yourself in need of prayer we encourage you to join us any Sunday morning. We will be blessed by your presents.

First Baptist

On Sunday, Pastor Pat Findley delivered his 11 th message from the Experiencing God series titled "Escaping the lure of the La-Z-Boy". Pastor Pat used Phillipians 3 to describe how to continue our growth in our relationship with God. He began by describing the SAID (Specific Adaptation to Imposed Demand) Principle as the effort or practice we put forth that grows us and makes us better. He went on to illustrate the 'lure of the La-Z-Boy', with a recliner on stage, as 1) stopping short of experiencing everything God desires to do in you, 2) settling for less than God wants to do through you, 3) reaching a certain level and then stop growing, and 4) drifting from intimacy with God. In order to escape this lure, we must refuse the lie that we've already arrived and press onward by focusing forward. When have you experienced God the most? While it is good to reflect, let us not look backwards too much, but look forward to the next time we experience Him. When is the last time you faced a crisis of faith? In what areas of your life have you not fully surrendered? We are asked to consider these questions to help us determine where we are in our walk with God. It all starts with knowing Jesus!

Celebrate Recovery is on Tuesday evening, beginning at 5:30 p.m. at FBC Vansant, for anyone with hurts, habits and hangups. On Sunday we celebrated the continuing good news that we serve a risen savior. Break down any barriers of ignorance, stubbornness and fear from your heart. Look at Jesus as the savior he is, coming to give us all a new and abundant life. We are blessed so praise His name. Rev. Nancy continues on her sermon series "Asking for Directions" with the message this week titled 21st Century Pilgrimage. Scripture was Acts 10: 1 – 16 and 27 – 33. Rick Lingenfelter blessed us on the piano with the anthem "O Worship the King".

The Presbyterian Women met on Friday, May 5 for their monthly meeting. Their book study for this year is titled "Celebrating Sabbath, Accepting God's Gift of Rest and Delight". This month's lesson was "Sabbath and Community". These dedicated women are the driving force behind the mission opportunities of the church. All ladies are welcome to attend.

A total of 82 deodorant sticks were delivered to the Samaritan Center. Thank you to all for the generosity. Keep watching to find out what the next collection for the Center will be.

The "Children in Africa" project is up and running. Sewers fashion adorable dresses and shorts for the children. We are blessed that so many use their skills for this worthwhile project. Everything you need to sew these clothing articles is available in the foyer. Examples are on display. Ask a Naomi Ruth Circle lady for answers to any questions.

Tai Chi classes continue here each Monday at 10:00 and 11:00 am and Wednesday at 10:00 am in our fellowship hall. Tai Chi helps strengthen your core and improve balance. Feel welcome to be a part of this group.

Come worship with us. You will find a friendly group of people greeting you. If in person worship is not an option watch the broadcasts available online at our website: fpccalintonmo.net or Facebook First Presbyterian Clinton MO. Stay updated on the happenings at First Presbyterian by visiting our website. There you will find our monthly newsletter, pictures and other interesting items about the church.

Mt. Calvary Apostolic Pentecostal

"Are You Straight With God?"

Amos 7:1. (KJV)

A Plumb Line:

Is a string with a metal weight at one end that, when suspended, points directly towards the earth's centre of gravity and so is used to determine verticality, perpendicularity, the depth of water.

Like the plumb line points to the earth in a straight line, we should ask ourselves if we are straight with God.

Amo 7:7-8. (KJV)

God has set rules for his people. He put a plumb line on his people because of their wickedness. He could see the amount of wickedness they had. They were far from the foundation of where God wanted them to be.

Amos told the people he was not a prophet, but was called by God to tell them his prophecy.

Galatians 1:6-9. (KJV)

The Galatians did not build on the foundation of the apostles. To pervert something is to divert what was intended to be.

It tells us in Galatians 2:4 And that because of false brethren unawares brought in, who came in privily to spy out our liberty which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might bring us into bondage.(KJV)

Galatians 3:1 O foolish Galatians, who hath bewitched you, that ye should not obey the truth, before whose eyes Jesus Christ hath been evidently set forth, crucified among you? (KJV)

Gal 5:1. (KJV)

Somebody bewitched the people for they did not build on God's foundation. Don't get off course and veer from God. Don't allow people to entangle you in other things.

Gal 5:4 Christ is become of no effect unto you, whoseoever of you are justified by the law; ye are fallen from grace. (KJV)

Gal 5:7 Ye did run well; who did hinder you that ye should not obey the truth? (KJV)

It says in Isaiah 28:16 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation: he that believeth shall not make haste. (KJV)

Eph 2:19-22. (KJV)

God told us about the foundation in Isaiah and that there would be a chief cornerstone. We see in Ephesians that the chief cornerstone he spoke of is Jesus. The foundation the Galatians veer away from.

There are times when we veer from the plumb line in our lives and wander back to the "world" and bad habits.

Do not lose your connection to God. Don't allow others to persuade you to use a different foundation than the one given to you by God. God Bless.

Mt. Zion UMC

Pastor David's message. "Persistence" was prefaced with a New Testament reading from 1 Peter 2:2-10, and a Gospel reading from John 14:1-14. Winston Churchill once said: "Continuous effort—not strength or intelligence—is the key to unlocking our potential."

Life is not a journey that will come easy so we must persevere to have success. Peter and Jesus are teaching us to persevere in our faith, for faith is the essence of our life as Christians. Peter used the language of building a stone structure, so our faith is to build a spiritual house. When we are building our spiritual houses, these building bricks or stones must be pleasing to the Lord. Let your temple—your body, mind, and soul—be purified and then we may offer spiritual sacrifices to God through Jesus Christ.

Jesus called us out of the darkness into His marvelous light that we may proclaim His mighty acts. God sends us the help we need through the power of the indwelling Holy Spirit. So, allow the Spirit to embolden your mind and body. And through persisting in this holiness, we may proclaim the Good News to others and be fit to stand in the presence of God. Amen!

Sunshine warmed our hearts as we gathered to worship the Lord.

Today, Clint Keeney rang the church bell. Mrs. Julia Klinefelter led in the congregational singing with Mrs. Dixie Collins playing piano. We rejoiced with Mrs. Carolyn Kelsay on her birthday. Randy Vogt and Clint Keeney collected the offering.

The scripture passage from Pastor Chad Pollett's sermon was from John 8: 31-38. Jesus was speaking to those who believed he was the Messiah. Jesus said ("If you hold to my teachings, you are really my disciples. Then you will know the truth and the truth will set you free." John 8:31-32) What was true then is still true today. Be a disciple and spread the truth of Jesus. Have a blessed week.

Valley Center United

I was glad when they said, "Let us go to the house of the Lord".

Peg Neuenschwander and Karen Lasswell warmly welcomed all who came to worship in our church at the brow of the hill. Emily Neuenschwander lit the altar candles to begin our services.

We send our love and prayers to Mary Louise Chapman and her family for the passing of their daughter, mother, grandmother and sister, Karen Arnote. They mourn her loss, but celebrate the time that she blessed this world and all of whom she met along her life's journey.

We continue our prayers for several church members as they heal from surgery or are facing some serious health issues. We pray for the families of the Ukraine in their fight for democracy.

All power and love that we experience and the joy and hope that fills our hearts, is the life that we get from Jesus. Jesus said to his followers, "I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me. Do not let your hearts be troubled, if you believe in God, believe also in me. My Father's house has many mansions, I am going to prepare a place for you".

Today these powerful words bring us much encouragement.

As believers, the path that we choose has demands that are given to us. They tell us what is expected and how to live our lives in faithful service.

There are times that some may be Christians in name only. Saying we are Christians and living as Christians are different.

Are we faithful to God's word or do we just love the thought of being Christian?

How can we know the way? When we truly understand the meaning and trust the words that Jesus said, "I am the way, the truth and the life" our path becomes clear. His promise that he will never leave us, gives us comfort and hope. It gives us the peace that passes all understanding and empowers us to serve others.

In Jesus' name we pray, Amen.

Discussed New Businesses And Anniversary Celebrations

DRESSED FOR THE PART: David Lee, who gave the Chamber report at city council, May 2, was dressed in red, white, and blue to promote (and celebrate) the 30th anniversary of Olde Glory Days here in town.

BY LUKE EDWARDS
Staff Reporter

The Clinton City Council met in open session May 2 at City Hall; absent were Councilmen Gene Henry and Cameron Jackson.

Preceding the council session the dangerous buildings commission met. Community Development Director Chuck Bailey reported to the commission that the owner of the property at 118 – 120 South Main (on the downtown square) was “aggressively seeking to complete” the remaining work there. Although there is hope the commission will be able to dissolve soon, a motion to reconvene at the June 6 council meeting was approved.

Mayor Carla Moberly called the regular council session to order. Following roll call and the saying of the Pledge of Allegiance, the previous meeting’s minutes were approved. There were no personal appearances.

Chamber Director David Lee reported to the council. Among the multiple new business and anniversary celebrations the Clinton Chamber helped celebrate, he reported that a Katy Trail Tour Bus shuttle business will be opening soon. Also, he reported the Chamber has started a “tag us” campaign which includes businesses tagging the Chamber on their Facebook page, which will result in them posting the business and the business also being included in David Lee’s Friday Newsletter.

Of even more interest was the manner of David Lee’s appearance at the council: he was dressed in red, white, and blue – promoting Olde Glory Days. This is the 30th anniversary of the Olde Glory Days celebration here in Clinton, and he handed out some pamphlets which have a brief overview of the events (not the complete schedule) which includes the four Main Stage Acts. The first night is “country night” and the second “rock.” The final Main Stage act is Disco Dick and the Mirror Balls (should be fun, folks). A copy of the pamphlet can be obtained through the Chamber’s May Flyer (at the Chamber).

The Second Readings for Bills No 2023-11, 2023-12, and 2023-13 were held – all were approved. The first is for a conditional use permit for a travel/camping park at 1601 North Water. The remaining two Bills pertained to the annexation of land at 1206 and 1208 North Vansant Road. It should be noted that the roads at Chelsea Drive will not become the city’s responsibility to maintain once the city annexes the land.

Councilman Roger House gave the Public Works report. He reported that Cameron Jackson will remain the Public Works Chair. The council approved a request for a street closure from Clinton Main street. For information only: Golden Valley Memorial Hospital contracted with CJW to get cost and repair estimates for OakStar Drive.

The council approved the declaration of a 2022 Dodge factory-ready bed truck as surplus property so it could be sold. Councilman House said work on the Artesian Park Pool House is going well. Some of the work being completed is coming with some cost savings for the project. He reported that the therapy pool at the Aquatic Center is now running. It was determined that the pumps causing part of the problem can be repaired and those repairs have been authorized by the insurance company. The council approved the striping of pick-leball lines at two of the tennis courts. The tennis lines will not change and the lines for pickleball will be of a different color.

The council accepted the resignation of long-time pool and Aquatic Center manager Ann Drury. Ann has been the manager there since 2006. A final report from the adjuster for the wind damage claims has been prepared and the new concrete pad for the new building to house the boilers at the Aquatic Center has been poured. The work to seal the exterior walls at the Benson Center continues and the city will effect repairs for a gutter at the Benson Center using city staff. The repairs are temporary but should give the city time to prepare for the repair item in the next budget.

The Waste Water Treatment Plan Improvement Project documents have been sent to the city attorney for review. Two of the three pumps at the Calverd Pump station have been replaced and the third will be replaced soon. The upper-level pump should have shipped May 8.

The posting period for the Waste Water Treatment Plant permit renewal process will end May 13th. Also, Alliance will continue to search for a manager at the WWTP as the candidate who was previously offered the position did not accept it.

The Public Safety Committee report was given by Councilwoman Debbie Smith. The council accepted the resignation of Patrolman Mariah Miller from the police department. Also, the city is still comparing companies for the procedural manual software needed at Clinton PD. It was reported to the council that the new fire truck should be delivered in mid-June.

On a side note: Councilman Wilson asked for clarification about the opening date for the Artesian Park Pool of which it was determined there was no clear opening date established as yet.

The Finance Committee report was given by Councilman Daniel Wilson. The first and second readings (the rules were suspended because of time constraints on these Bills) were held and approved by the council of Bill No. 2023-16 and 17. Both pertain to the airport project. Because the airport terminal and road improvement project were over $100,000, an independent fee estimate has to be obtained as well.

Because of a judgment in a case involving the Collector of Winchester, Missouri vs. Charter Communications, the city will receive a check for $160,004. However, the old tax remittance is not completely over and it is expected Charter may appeal the judgment. If it is overturned, the money will have to be returned. The city will not be spending the money, but holding it until such time as it is finally determined what will happen. The final portion of Councilman Wilson’s report included information about the new sign at Gerhart Industrial Park. The base cost for the sign is $44,000, however, it is hoped to add “The City of Clinton” at the bottom of the sign with little cost difference of which (if it is not too costly) the amount could be authorized by the Mayor without council intervention (items under $10,000 can be authorized by the Mayor). The council approved the action.

The Mayor reported on the metal roof being installed at City Hall: “It is a huge improvement.” Also, she lamented the fact that Ann Drury stepped down from her long time position of manager for the Aquatic Center and Artesian Pool. Ann has been with the city in the capacity since the Aquatic Center opened and was an invaluable asset to Parks and Rec in that capacity.

City Administrator Christy Maggi reported that Joe Rickman, with CJW, died suddenly last week. CJW has had a long standing relationship with the City of Clinton on multiple projects. Although she mentioned that CJW has many competent people and will be fine, Rickman himself (and his knowledge and expertise) is a great loss. “It is shocking and sad, and we are going to miss him,” said Maggi. The council adjourned to executive session at 6:47 p.m.

“When You Thought I Wasn’t Looking”
When you thought I wasn’t looking, I saw you hang my 1st painting on the fridge, and I immediately wanted to paint another.
When you thought I wasn’t looking, I saw you make my favorite cake for me, and I learned that the little things can be the special things in life.
When you thought I wasn’t looking, I saw you make a meal and take it to a friend who was sick, and I learned what it means to serve one another in brotherly love.
When you thought I wasn’t looking, I heard you pray over me and kiss me goodnight, and I felt loved and safe.
When you thought I wasn’t looking, I saw how you handled your responsibilities even when you didn’t feel good, and I learned what it means to glorify God in all things.
When you thought I wasn’t looking, I saw you give of your time and money to the church and people in need, and I learned that God loves a cheerful giver.
When you thought I wasn’t looking, I saw tears come to your eyes, and I learned that sometimes things hurt, but it’s alright to cry.
When you thought I wasn’t looking, I looked at you and wanted to say, “Thanks for all the things I saw... when you thought I wasn’t looking.”

TIM TEBOW

Tim Tebow: Where Is He Now?

You do not have to be much of a sports fan to have heard of Tim Richard Tebow. He has obviously transcended beyond the football field. For example, he has written several, best-selling books.

I recently read "Through My Eyes", and of course, I have to tell you my thoughts on this young man. If you don't know anything about him, let me quickly sum it up. He is a very determined, very competitive young man, brought up in a home-schooled missionary family. He fell in love with football. He became a great high school and college football player and got a 'cup of coffee' or two in the NFL. While doing all this, he kept his Christian faith and values out front. This openness made him special, and somewhat controversial at the same time. The book "Through My Eyes", with Nathan Whitaker, was Tebow's attempt to explain how it all happened.

As is often the case with very top athletes, Tebow has older brothers (Peter and Rob) and an older sister (Katie). This often makes 'little bro' quite competitive. He was home-schooled, but in Florida he was allowed to participate in high school sports. His first choice of high schools did not want him to be a QB, so he transferred to Nease HS where he led the team to a state championship. He was highly sought after coming out of high school. Tebow spent a lot of time in his book detailing how he picked the University of Florida.

At Florida, he won the Heisman as a sophomore and led the team to two national championships. He got a lot of attention by putting bible verses on his eye black before his football games. He also became known for kneeling, as in prayer, after great plays. It became known as "Tebowing".

Tebow started his own charity work in college, and his Tim Tebow Foundation started in 2010. The foundation has a high ranking. The foundation's most popular event is "A Night to Shine." This is a prom-like night for young people with special needs. Clinton has had them.

In the book, Tebow talks a lot about his family and their Christian faith, and their missionary efforts in the Philippines. The Tebow's started an orphanage in the Philippines in 1997. Tebow talked about the advantages of being home-schooled and how he appreciates how hard his mom worked to do it. He said, "Homeschooling helped keep our schedules flexible for sports and other activities."

I was surprised to find that Florida allowed home-schooled students to take part in the public school's extracurricular activities. The Tebow's lived on a farm and the kids worked hard as farm kids, but they loved it. Tebow got 'farm strong' as he called it, but he became a serious weight lifter as soon as his parents let him.

Tebow loved his college coach, Urban Meyer. They had a father-son relationship that seemed to be very special.

Tebow talked a lot about his belief that God had a plan for him and his passion for football and being a QB seemed to be that plan. Tebow also explained his frustration with overcoming many people's idea that certain football positions required certain 'body types'. (A lineman vs a DB vs a QB, etc). Tebow looks more like a fullback or a linebacker than he does a QB. He was frustrated by this stereotyping.

Denver picked Tebow in the first round of the NFL draft. He got some playing time with the Broncos getting several come-from-behind wins. The Broncos, with Tebow, got into the 2012 playoffs. After Denver

CMS Completes First Baseball Season With Undefeated Record

A FAMILIAR SIGHT was the Clinton Middle School Cardinals baseball team crossing the plate, like Eli Carter did in a game earlier this season against Lincoln. CMS 8th graders finished their inaugural season with a perfect 8-0 record. The 7th grade team was 7-0.

The new Clinton Middle School baseball program played the final game of in Buffalo last Tuesday night, bringing a successful close to a perfect first season.

Coach Vincent Crispi had several comments in conclusion to his season.

"I was lucky to have my assistant Matt Petry help," Crispi said. "I have coached with Matt for about 4 years now so I would have to say we did not have to get used to each other and get right to work."

"We were very anxious to play our first game just to see what we had," he added.

"I cannot say enough good stuff about our players. They came in early in the season and put in a lot of hours to learn and get ready for high school baseball with us," Crispi went on to say.

"Personally I can brag on our pitchers since I specialize in pitching and throughout the entire season we had a combined team ERA of 1.125 which is a pretty amazing feat for almost 40 innings of pitching," he added.

Crispi had special praise for his youngsters.

"I also want to brag about our 7th graders. I was pretty spoiled with the 8th grade class having a number of them playing travel ball together for years prior to this team," he said. "But our 7th graders came in and put in work and also went undefeated on the season. They had a team batting average of .365, which is outstanding!"

"As far as getting our 8th graders ready for high school ball we worked very hard to mimic and be transparent with Coach Ross. Early in the season I asked him what he felt as though he needed most from the incoming freshman class. He said having young arms would help quite a bit. So we worked diligently to not only get confident on the mound but also to throw strikes and develop secondary pitches and command them well," he said.

Crispi also commented, "Our practices had a good routine that we did not stray far away from. I felt as though this kept the boys in a groove and consistent. That consistent accountability we had with them transitioned very well to game time. (If there is one thing I want to make public in this article it is that "slogan" Consistent Accountability)"

To sum things up, Crispi added, "I think that is huge for the development of not only baseball but all of our sports in this district. I plan on coaching behind that philosophy and being consistent in my teachings and developing of OUR kids."

acquired Peyton Manning, however, Tebow moved on to the Jets. He had a small cup of coffee with the Jets, then on to the Patriots and Eagles without any real playing time. Tebow started 16 NFL games and played in 35.

In 2016, Tebow decided to give pro baseball a try, and the Mets gave him the opportunity. He fought the fight for five years and had modest success, but never made the big club.

In 2021, the Jacksonville Jaguars, coached by Urban Meyer, gave Tebow a look as a tight end. They soon released him.

Tebow remains a football analyst and a motivational speaker. He is great at motivating himself, and others to live not just a successful life, but significant life. He likes to say, "Don't let your fear be stronger than your faith." And "God has a path for you, so accept it both when it is clear sailing and bad."

Tebow is married to Demi-Leigh Nel-Peters, (Miss Universe 2017). They have no children yet, so football coaches, you have to be patient.

If you want Tebow to speak at your event, it will cost you a minimum of $35,000. Checks only please (humor). Tebow was inducted into the college HOF in 2023. It will be great fun to see what this outstanding young man does with the rest of his life.

Driver Examination Stations To Close Statewide For Upcoming Holidays

The Missouri State Highway Patrol would like to remind the public that driver examination stations throughout the state will be closed on the following dates:

Monday, May 29, 2023, in observance of Memorial Day. Normal operations will resume on Tuesday, May 30, 2023.

Too many people die in traffic crashes each year in Missouri. The choices you make when you're behind the wheel matter. Make good choices, so you'll never have to say, "If I could just go back..."

May 20-26 Is National Safe Boating Week!

Colonel Eric T. Olson, superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol, would like to stress the importance of safe boating and make the public aware of National Safe Boating Week, which takes place May 20-26, 2023. National Safe Boating Week is purposefully scheduled just prior to Memorial Day weekend, which many people consider the kickoff to the boating season.

Boaters are encouraged to make time for a thorough inspection of their boat prior to taking it out on the water this boating season. Weather, time, and other elements may affect the readiness of your boat. The Patrol's marine operations troopers are available to inspect the required equipment on your boat, at your request, to make sure you're in compliance with state law. To help facilitate these inspections, marine operations troopers will be at the following locations on Saturday, May 20, 2023 (unless otherwise noted):

TROOP A

Missouri River — 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

Noren River Access Jefferson City, MO

TROOP I
Additional information on equipment inspection stations may be obtained from your local troop headquarters.

In addition to an inspection, boaters should familiarize themselves with Missouri laws regarding boat operation and traditional navigational rules. Missouri law requires everyone born after January 1, 1984, who operates a vessel on Missouri lakes to possess an approved boating safety identification card. This includes those operating a personal watercraft. When boaters understand and obey the law, and vessels are in good operating order, everyone's experience becomes safer.

A life jacket for everyone on board is a must! Children under seven years old are required to wear a personal flotation device while in a boat, but you are never too old to wear a life jacket! Although not required by law, children playing along the shoreline or on a dock should wear a life jacket. A drowning can occur quickly, with little or no sign the victim is struggling. Life jackets save lives, please wear yours!

It is important for each boat operator to know the capabilities of their boat. Reducing your speed in unfamiliar areas and being aware of unusual water conditions respective to the size and type of boat you operate are just a couple of environmental considerations.

Extended time in the sun and the constant motion of the water effects every vessel operator. It's important to recognize the dangers of boater fatigue. Stay alert while enjoying Missouri's lakes and rivers. Additionally, if you combine alcohol with boater fatigue your reaction time and thought process will be much slower. Designate a sober captain if you choose to consume alcohol.

Additional safe boating tips:

- 1) Be a defensive boat operator ... creating distance from other boats gives you more reaction time.
- 2) Adjust your speed for the conditions ... if visibility is poor, or the water is rough, slow down!
- 3) Turn off the boat while passengers are entering/exiting the water.
- 4) If you will be out on the water after dark, check your navigation lights before you leave the dock or ramp.
- 5) Each boat operator is responsible for doing whatever they can to avoid a crash. Don't expect other boats to move out of your way.
- 6) Be courteous with your wake.

Boaters are reminded to contact the Missouri State Highway Patrol by dialing *55 on a cellular phone if they need assistance or observe another boater operating a vessel in an unsafe manner.

Watercraft operators must consider the effect their actions have on others: Share the waterway and use common sense, good judgment, and courtesy to ensure the safety of all. Life jackets save lives. Wear It!!

SECOND CHANCES

For Mother's Day, she asked for a bicycle to ride with her young daughter. However, on the Wednesday before Mother's Day, he arrived with a barbecue grill.

"That's not a bicycle," she said in disbelief. "I know," he answered, "but it is nearly summer, and we need a grill."

"Oh, goody," she answered sarcastically. "We need a chandelier in the dining room, and that's what I will get you for Father's Day."

On Saturday, he came home with a bicycle. Thank God for second chances.

Peter promised Jesus, he would never forsake Him. Indeed, if it meant fighting with spears and swords, Peter was ready. He brandished a sword when the soldiers came to arrest Jesus. Still, when it came to accepting Jesus' way of doing things, Peter was not ready. Three times he denied even knowing Him.

Days later, Jesus met with Peter beside the Sea of Galilee. After a brief commitment check, Jesus sent Peter out to finish the assignment he had accepted when Jesus called him. In the call to Peter, Jesus said, "I will make you a fisher of men." Now Jesus said, "Feed my sheep." Thank God for second chances.

David, the respected King of Judah, messed up big time. The young man who once trusted God enough to face the giant Goliath; the boy, who with God's help faced lions and other animals to protect his sheep, became an adulterer, a murderer, and a liar. Yet, he could later pray, "Wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow." And God did it. Thank God for second chances.

I promised God I would spend thirty minutes a day in prayer with Him first thing every morning. For a time, I did it. Then, something came up, and I forgot. This happened not just once but multiple times. When at last I got back to my promise, God was still there. Thank you, God, for second chances.

The Charles's of England
England is now on its third Charles...

When Charles I took the throne, England had been undergoing a religious power struggle. The year was 1625. Some 75 years after Henry VIII declared himself head of his own church and broke away from the Catholic Church, the struggle between religious freedom, control and dominance played out in the rulers of England. Charles I, who was decidedly pro-Catholic and was what we refer to as an "absolute monarch," got into it with Parliament multiple times and was heavy handed. While he was at the reins, the English Civil War broke out. In the meantime, Englishmen had been fleeing the countryside and heading to places that were more tolerant of the then illegal brands of worship and religious beliefs: the Pilgrims were part of this group and would, of course, end up in the New World starting a fledgling colony. But, to be sure, when England entered its period of the Commonwealth, and Charles I was executed, the resulting decade until there was again a monarchy accomplished something else: it left the New World English Colonies to their own devices. During that time, they grew autonomous.

When Charles II restored the monarchy (after Oliver Cromwell died), he re-established the Church of England and tried to impart a little religious freedom, but he fought Parliament over all sorts of issues and eventually dissolved it. By the time England got back on track about 1688, things in the colonies were already in motion and their basic character set: by the turn of the 18th century most of the colonies had been functioning on their own and would not take kindly to being told what to do. England had been largely distracted by their internal strife and in many ways ignored their brethren overseas. When King George III needed the colonies' revenue to pay for the French and Indian War 60 years later, the colonies decided they were better off on their own. Hence, the American Revolution.

So, what of Charles III? Well, I watched the coronation and found the process interesting. Coronations of the Crown have their own unique histories, but I don't think this one will result in anything so abrupt as the dissolution of Parliament, an edict about religious freedom, or anything drastic. The monarchy these days is not the same as those of the 17th and 18th Centuries. Indeed, the British Crown is largely a diplomatic and representational role these days as they have a constitutional monarchy. The King or Queen does get to appoint the Prime Minister, though, and has some input on laws which are to be passed.

Charles III now has the distinction of being the oldest monarch in England to begin his rule.

But, more importantly, Americans have enjoyed a long-standing alliance with our cousins across the pond. And, I don't see Charles III doing anything to change that.

Have a good week folks!

CHS JAZZ
school jazz band was going through the set they will play for Thursday's concert. They started off with "Funky Stuff," then swung into "Good Times," followed by "Afternoon," a mellower tune which features solos by Gabe Simmons and Lillianne Simmons.

"Afternoon" is one of the students' favorites, they said. The other is "Birdland," featuring a solo by Alex Crawford. But only the trombone players like Birdland better, clarinetist Melanie Wood said. Melanie said she's perfectly fine getting up early to come and play with the band, which starts with the symphonic band rehearsal an hour earlier, because the music lifts her spirits.

"I'm happier when I come," she said.
All the horns are featured in the set's next piece, the theme from Peter Gunn, with its familiar cadence. Then it's "Slim Chickens", a jazzy tune with solos by Molly Hauk and Makenna Beasley.

Rounding out the set is "Emergency Stopping Only," a quirky tune with a swirling melody that prompts Pat to direct the band with rolling hand motions, then beat the time with his hand on his chest, mimicking the heart-beat of the rhythm. The piece features a trombone solo by Cory Garrison.

Graduates of the CHS band program include Quincy Crawford, who played the trombone in the regular band and the Jazz Band last year. Quincy is now in the Marching Mizzou at the University of Missouri, Pat said. Shannon Simonson, from the Class of 2021, is in a trumpet performance program at McKindrey College in Illinois, he said.

Several seniors in this year's band program, including Gabe Simmons, plan to go into the band program at State Fair Community College, Pat said.

Donations will be taken at Thursday's concert to buy new Sousaphones for the band. Sousaphones are a big version of a tuba that are easier to play when standing, because it wraps around the player's shoulder, with the bell projecting forward, producing a bigger sound. The Sousaphones will replace two smaller conventional tubas, which have, as Pat put it, "lived their life."

This school year, the Clinton musicians played for the Chamber of Commerce banquet and the Clinton Senior Center dinner and auction.

He describes the community support for the CHS band program as "insane," and said that he feels lucky to be teaching at a high school where the community is "in it to win it with us."

Pat also said some of the high school bands and their teachers they see at competitions are serious. But wherever they go, he said, the CHS band members "bring the party."

"They are the fun group," Pat said.

It was his older brothers who advised him to audition for the choir, Pat said. They took band – Eric played the saxophone, he recalled, and Jason "lasted for about one semester."

competition and Liam was the winner of the 1st-4th final spell off. All Spelling Bee participants received a certificate of participation. First and second place winners in each grade level received medals, and both final spell off winners received trophies for their overall first place finish.

Points are given for 1st and 2nd place overall by school. The school with the most points receives the traveling plaque. Clinton Christian Academy was the school that totaled the most points and therefore was the overall winner. The overall school winner determines who will host the Spelling Bee next year; therefore, Clinton Christian Academy will host in 2024.

Congratulations to all of our students!
