Young Henry County Handlers Take Grown Up Sport In Stride

BY JENNIFER JACKSON
Staff Reporter

In December a year ago, Brandi Lewis' Irish Setter, Vivian, had just a litter of puppies when Brandi got a call from a person who needed Irish Setter puppies for a commercial.

The problem: the person needed puppies that were eight weeks old, not newborn, and needed them right away.

But that didn't mean the Vivian and her pups missed out on their shot in show business.

On Dec. 16, Eleanor Lewis, 11, will be showing Vivian in the 2023 American Kennel Club National Championship in Orlando, Florida. Eleanor's brother, Elijah, 13, also qualified for the Juniors division of the AKC show, where he will be showing his pug, Edison.

Elijah and Eleanor, who live west of Clinton and go to Holy Rosary Catholic School, are two of five students chosen from Missouri to compete in the championship, which will draw 158 junior handlers, ages 9 to 18, from across the United States.

Unlike AKC shows, the Juniors in the competition are judged by the showmanship of the handler, not confirmation to breed standards of the dog. The Junior handlers will be competing for scholarships ranging from $5,000 to $2,000 for first through fourth place, and $500 scholarships for all finalists. Sponsored by Royal Canin, a French company that makes dog and cat food, the show will be Dec. 16 and 17 at the Orange County Convention Center.

"It will be televised on the AKC tv channel," Brandi said.

Brandi Lewis, Elijah and Eleanor's mother, started breeding Irish Setters at the family's property, north of Hwy. 18 west of town, in order to have proven championship breeding stock. She has been competing in shows for the past three years, she said, and is treasurer of the Sedalia Kennel Club, the closest AKC club to Clinton. Brandi, who grew up in Appleton City, is an account manager at Mike Keith Insurance in Clinton in addition to running Sunshine Setters.

"Sunshine was the nickname my grandmother called me," Brandi said, referring to Bessie Woolery, who lives in Appleton City.

Brandi's parents, Jim and Lee Neal of Appleton City, are flying to Orlando to join the family and watch them compete in the AKC shows, she said.

'Curtain Up' For Heartland's Final Performances For 2023

Heartland Community Theatre is inviting the community to its final event of the 2023 season, with two (2) back-to-back stage productions on each performance date. A youth production of "Angels With Paper Wings", a comedy written by W. Gordon Mauermann, kicks off each date, to be followed by "Scrooged Up!", a comedy written by Dan Roberts, after an intermission. Nightly shows will be held on Friday, December 8th and Saturday, December 9th, both beginning at 7:00 p.m., with Sunday, December 10th, afternoon matinee performances at 2:00 p.m. The final "encore" performances will be on Saturday, December 16th, at 7:00 p.m.

Tickets are $12.50 for adults, $6.00 for children 5-12 years of age and children 4 and under are FREE, and can be purchased in advance by calling our Ticket Information line at (660) 351-5288, as well as purchased at the door prior to each performance date.

Ticket purchases will be for BOTH performances, essentially two shows for the price of one!!

In "Angels With Paper Wings", things are not going well during the dress rehearsal for a Christmas pageant. One member of the cast is lonely and has no friends, another is unhappy because she did not get the role she wanted. And both are angry at the stage manager. But the Golden Angel and the Silver Angel (the Spirits of Christmas Pageants) help them to realize that personal problems can disappear in the joy of sharing. And, as the pageant goes forth, the Golden Angel and the Silver Angel look down proudly on their earthly counterparts, their "angels with the paper

Results Are In: Annual Countywide Thanksgiving A Gobbling Success Story!

A FORCE FOR GOOD, Dietz Family Buffet Proprietor Mark Dietz and his wife Becky donated 1,200 rolls for the annual countywide Thanksgiving.

Health to reach homeless this year and 50 meals were delivered to homeless in the area.

"We panicked and worried we wouldn't have enough turkey this year but, we had plenty of food and volunteers stepped up to provide pies and turkeys. Volunteers also showed up to cut pies, wash pots and pans, deliver meals, cook, and help serve food into the take-out containers. Because of donations of pies, turkeys, money, and time, we were able to provide a traditional Thanksgiving dinner to those who might have gone without," exclaimed Eileen Parks who was the "head" cook for the event again this year.

Duck Hunting 101: Giving Young Hunters A Head Start

For young hunters who want to experience something different—or for those who want to see if hunting is a hobby they might enjoy—the Missouri Hunting Heritage Foundation is offering a free, two-day clinic and hunt in Urich on December 16th and 17th.

The event is open to all, no matter their level of hunting and firearms skills; beginners especially are invited to apply. "It's ideal for those who want to learn how to hunt," says MHHF executive director Colton Zirkle. "We want to create the next generation of Missouri hunters, and this clinic is a great way to start."

The clinic is intended to give youth who think they might like hunting a chance to experience it in a safe environment. The first day is oriented toward the skills needed for waterfowl hunting, including firearm safety. A supervised live-fire session will be held afterwards.

The second day will be a mentored waterfowl hunt. The clinic will be held at Duckhorn Outdoors in Urich. It is sponsored by the MHHF and the Department of Conservation.

"What we are trying to do," says Colton Zirkle, executive director of MHHF, "is ensure that first-time hunters have a good experience. Our goal is to create the next generation of Missouri hunters."

The Missouri Hunting Heritage Foundation is a group of volunteers who are dedicated to introducing youth and their families to the outdoors in a responsible and safe fashion. It holds several clinics during the year covering many of the hunting opportunities in Missouri.

Each participant must have completed either the Missouri Department of Conservation hunter education course or the completed book. There is an online course: www.hunter-ed.com/missouri. The MDC will mail hunter's education books for free, or one can be picked up at the Clinton office at 2010 S. Second Street.

The clinic is open to youth from 11 to 19. Each participant must be accompanied by a parent or guardian

Have I Got A Line For You!
By James Mahlon White

We've been told repeatedly by the President, "There is no inflation." Two weeks ago we were supposed to believe that Bidenomics was keeping everything even keeled for us. Now he understands inflation is killing the middle class. Uncle Joe says don't blame him for inflation, it's because businesses haven't reduced their prices. Sounds simple enough, especially coming from someone who's been on the public payroll for over 50 years. Having been alive during the Carter Presidency, I see almost the same parallels to the Biden Presidency, right down to Biden's fear of Iran. The only difference is that President Carter is remembered as a descent guy who lacked what it took to be president. Biden will be remembered as a corrupt guy who lacked what it took to be president.

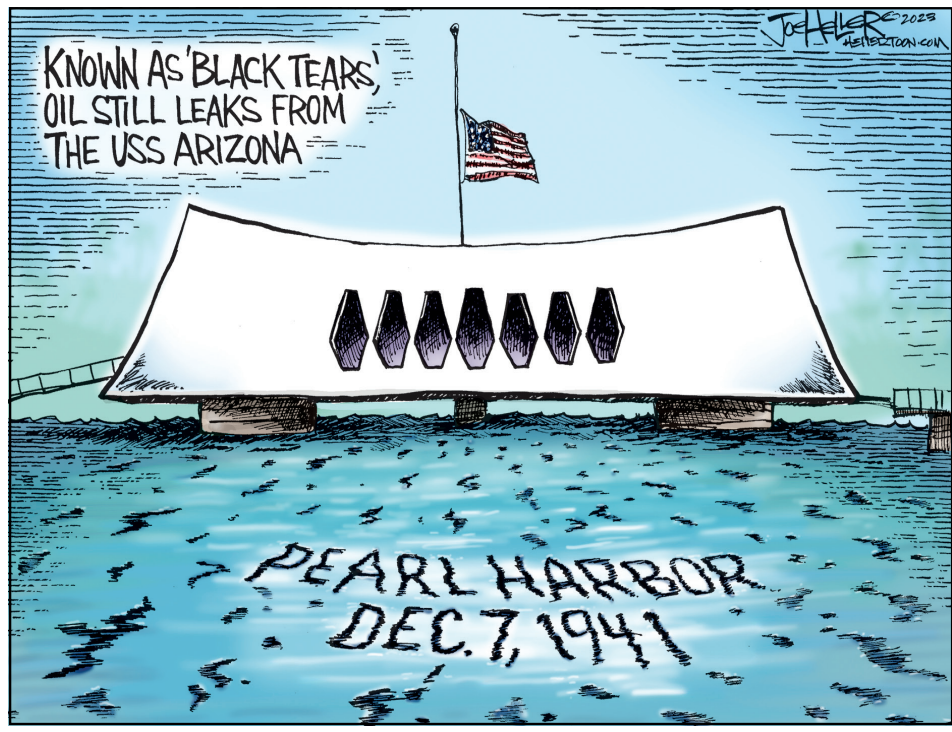

my dog. It belonged to my grandparents and was a big Irish setter named Dugan. Lord only knows where he came from or where he'd been. My Grandfather Murphy found him in a trash box in the garage, hungry and shaking. He was unstable to say the least. One night I was walking up their driveway and Dugan gave a low growl, then sprang and got at me leg. Grandmother heard the commotion and ordered him to "back off" and he did. It was an evening I wouldn't care to repeat and involved stitches. I still have the scar. Dugan was disposed of and that was the end of that. Hope to see all of our dogs again, in the hereafter, but I wouldn't want to meet up with Dugan, unless Grandma Murphy is along.

Speaking of the hereafter, there's a theory about a duplicate universe along with ours, but with an energy frequency so high we cannot see or enter it. Occasionally a breakthrough comes as a brief gift. Perhaps this is so. Most of us who have lost loved family members have flashes of insight where we know they are near. Who knows? This universe of ours is vast and intricate. It's up to us to make our way through life's labyrinth of days and nights and be thankful for the special people and animals we meet on the way.

That's enough of that. Take care of yourself right here in this dimension Old Buddy. It's pretty good and Christmas is just around the corner.

Speaking of Presidents, a New York Judge reinstated a gag order against The Donald. Isn't it amazing how a court of law can prohibit the United States Constitution, the highest law in the land? It would be the same as banning a defendant from practicing their religion. It's in the very same First Amendment. If freedom of speech is taken away, then we'll be led away like sheep to the slaughter house. Get in the cattle cars! Oligarchs do this. They decide. Just ask Merrick Garland, he works for one.

During dinner at Sister Julie's on Saturday the discussion drifted to Max (Schnauzer). The little devil is fresh out of another round of obedience school and I was told, "He might behave better if he wasn't treated like a human." We had lots of dogs growing up. Bozo the Saint Bernard, Resa a German Shepherd and Gus that was a mix of something. I was only bitten once and it wasn't

AKC

Continued from page 1 where Brandi's spouse, Danny Lewis, grew up. Danny is the water treatment plant supervisor in Clinton. On Dec. 9, he and Brandi will be driving Elijah and Eleanor to Orlando, along with Vivian, Edison and Vivian's pup Fletcher, who will be in travel crates. The Lewises are packing the dogs' favorite treats, string cheese and cubes of boiled chicken. When they get to Orlando, they are renting a Bed and Breakfast with a fenced backyard, Brandi said.

Fletcher is going because Brandi is showing him in the AKC Puppy Stakes and breeders' competition during the week of AKC events. With travel days, they'll be gone a total of ten days, so Elijah and Eleanor will miss the Christmas program and the last week of second semester classes at Holy Rosary. Their older brother, who graduated from Clinton High School last spring, will hold the fort at home, including looking after Estelle, Georgia and Scarlet, the family's other Irish setters, plus Elijah's pug Penny and Hazel, a Bernese Mountain Dog.

"Penny and Hazel are pets," Brandi said. Penny used to be Elijah's show dog, he said, competing in 4-H shows in obedience, rally and agility. Both Elijah and Eleanor participate in 4-H Cool Cats club in Pettis County. Competing in the AKC National Championship, however, takes their showmanship skills to a whole other level.

"It's very competitive," Brandi said. Like handlers in the Westminster Kennel Club Dog Show, junior handlers dress up for the AKC Championship—Eleanor wears a skirt suit or dress, she said, and Elijah will wear a suit and tie. They enter the ring with the dog running alongside them on a lead. Then each handler does what is called "stacking," which is arranging the dog in a standing position that displays its form to the best advantage to the judge.

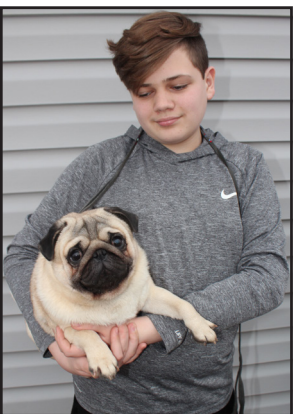

"Eleanor has to hold Vivian's tail out," Brandi said. "Elijah has to hold the pug so that its tail is curled correctly over its back." Eleanor, who has been showing dogs since she was 9 years old, says she doesn't get nervous, depending on the size of the show, but probably will be for the AKC National Championship.

Vivian, however, loves being in shows, Eleanor said—the hardest part for the dog is standing still. Keeping Edison's attention focused is the most challenging part of showing the pug, said Elijah, who has been competing in shows since he was 11.

Raising and showing dogs in a way of life for the family, Brandi said. They travel to shows about once a month, she said, usually on weekends within a half-day drive. But occasionally, they venture farther afield. Last spring, Brandi and Eleanor took Vivian to Lexington, Kentucky, to compete in the Irish Setters Club of America's 50th anniversary show.

In October, Brandi and Elijah flew with Edison to a show in Virginia Beach, Virginia, she said.

Besides being show dogs, the puppies' star qualities are reflected in their names. Vivian, who is 4 years old, was named for the main character in the Julia Roberts movie, "Pretty Woman." So Brandi gave Vivian's litter a Julia Roberts theme, naming the pups for other characters in her movies. Fletcher, for example, is named for Mel Gibson's character in "Conspiracy Theory."

ELIJAH will show Edison, the second pug he has worked with at dog shows.

Another of Vivian's litter, Georgia, took Best of Opposite Sex (of the Best in Show winner)/Beginner Puppy at an Irish Setter Club of America show. If Fletcher takes first place in the All-Breed Puppy Stakes in Orlando, he'll bring home a check for $1,000.

Estelle, whose name means star, is the fourth female Irish Setter at Sunshine Setters. Born two years ago on Christmas Ever in New Bethlehem, Penn., Estelle is an AKC Grand Champion.

Vivian is an international star in dog circles, being an IABCA (International All Breed Canine Association) Champion, an AKC Grand Champion, and a UKC (United Kennel Club) Champion. Edison is also an AKC Grand Champion and a UKC Champion.

Irish Setters were bred as hunting dogs before the use of firearms to work the open fields of Ireland. They used their sense of smell to locate game birds for hunters working with falcons and nets, then "set" to indicate the find. The popularity of Irish Setters peaked in the United States in the 1960s and '70s after the 1962 Disney movie, "Big Red," came out, Brandi said, but they are not common in this area.

"A lot of people say they had an Irish Setter when they were kids," Elijah said. The Setter's reddish-brown coat requires regular brushing. Eleanor must rinse Vivian's coat daily and apply conditioner and oil to her feathers or furnishings, as the long fringe on the Setter's ears, chest, skirt (stomach), legs and tail are called.

Eleanor also plays basketball with the Clinton Parks and Recreation department, and keeps up her grades at school. To qualify for the AKC Junior National Championships, handlers must have a GPA of 3.0 or better, and five first-place wins in an open class of an AKC show. Both Elijah and Eleanor said that when they grow up, they would like to be professional dog handlers.

Eleanor said she would also like to own her own business and be an Irish Setter breeder. She has already chosen a "Taylor Swift" theme for Vivian's next litter, tentatively scheduled for next summer. "They'll be named for her songs, and for some of her albums," Eleanor said of the puppies.

Junior competitors in the AKC Championship are divided into three age groups and three classes, novice, open and master. Elijah and Eleanor are in the open class, but aspire to the master class, Elijah said.

For more information about Sunshine Setters, go the Sunshine Setters Facebook page or sunshinesetters.com. Email address is sunshinesetters@gmail.com.

and must attend all of the two-day course. There is a refundable $20 registration fee. Participation is limited to the first six applicants.

For youth who are new to hunting, and aren't equipped, the clinic will supply a shotgun and ammunition and can provide waders for those who have none. However, all participants should bring weather-appropriate clothing—think camouflage here—and since the hunting portion will be a blind over water, the chances are it will be cold in the morning if not all day.

Hunters will also learn how to process the waterfowl that are taken during the hunt.

For those who can't attend the clinic, there is a hunting and goose-hunt clinic scheduled for January 20th and 21st in Harrisonville.

Registration forms for both clinics can be found online at www.mhhf.us/clinics.

wings." In "Scrooged Up!", the Hillsdale Community Theater wants to produce "A Christmas Carol," but they don't have enough actors to play the extraordinarily large number of roles. So their undaunted director, being resourceful (if not totally realistic), has double and triple cast the roles. And since everyone in sight has been recruited, the cast also fills in as costumers, stage hands and technicians. The impossibility of this situation brings tensions to a comical head as the final rehearsal invites one calamity after another. "Scrooged Up!" provides a "Dickens" of a time for everyone!!

The productions are both being directed by Rob Hills and features many new, as well as several familiar faces on the Heartland stage. You won't want to miss this final event of the 2023 season. Heartland Community Theatre Pavilion is located 108 North Washington, Clinton. Please feel free to stop by and share in the spirit of Christmas!!

to the Knights of Columbus from Holy Rosary who carved the turkeys the day before Thanksgiving. They are masters at carving turkeys and we couldn't do the dinner without them," continued Parks. In addition, Mark Dietz, owner of Dietz Family Buffet donated 1200 rolls and, John French, Manager of Price Cutter donated the grocery bags.

"We couldn't do this Thanksgiving event without Scott Brooks and his co-workers. They take the reservations and calls from volunteers. Then Scott develops the delivery routes for the drivers," shared Lisa Wallace.

The Community Turkey Talker committee is pleased to have the continued support of the Clinton Senior Center to provide their facility to cook and stage the meal deliveries. Kathy Wilson, Clinton Senior Center Director and Rosa Engeldorf, head cook at the Senior Center, and Lindyle Cox were instrumental to the success of this event. A special thanks to Elaine Paxton, Chairman of the Care Connection Board, who helped coordinate the logistics of the event. We couldn't prepare the food and meals for more than 1,200 without the continued help of Care Connection and the Clinton Senior Center. Thanks to Clinton's Eagles Lodge and the work of David Albertson, the eat-in Thanksgiving dinner was a success, serving approximately 175 this year.

When everyone does their part, it makes the event run smoothly. The Daily Democrat, Kayo, and KDKD along with area churches, the Senior Center, and the Samaritan Center help get the word out to find volunteers and to let residents know about the Thanksgiving event.

The Community Turkey Talker Committee includes Eileen Parks, Scott Brooks, Tonya Dody, Boann Parks, David Albertson, and Lisa Wallace.

Want to help plan our event next year? Help us with publicity, writing thank you notes, or recruiting key volunteers. We welcome newcomers to the committee. Call Scott Brooks at 660-885-6921 or Lisa Wallace at 660-492-2575 to get involved.

TRAVELING from his Springfield home, Neil Wiskur helped the Knights of Columbus carve turkeys. A special thanks to the Knights of Columbus members from Holy Rosary for carving the turkeys to feed 1,249 this year.

PIES, PIES, PIES! More than 228 apple and pumpkin pies were cut to serve with the traditional Thanksgiving Dinner.

Ordinary Women, Extraordinary Lives: Stonecroft Christian Women's Club Looking for New Leaders

MEMBERS OF THE CLINTON STONECROFT CHRISTIAN WOMEN'S CLUB wore Easter bonnets to a luncheon meeting last spring.

BY JENNIFER JACKSON
Staff Reporter

In 1938, a young woman in California who had lost her mother sought spiritual support from Elwood and Helen Duff Baugh. The Baughs invited the young woman to dinner, where they and a group of their coworkers shared their understanding of heaven and the promise of eternal life.

Several people at the dinner wanted to meet again, with the result that the original group grew to 24 prayer groups in San Jose. Ten years later, Helen Duff Baugh and Mary E. Clark, a former missionary, established Christian Women's clubs, and in 1952, moved the headquarters to a tract of land called Stonecroft in South Kansas City, where the outreach effort became known by the name Stonecroft Ministries.

The goal: to equip women for leadership and encourage them to impact their communities with the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Stonecroft's four pillars are study, service, support and social. The logo is a cross made of ribbons, forming an infinite loop, symbolizing the message the Baughs shared with the woman who had lost her mother: that God and life through Jesus is eternal.

By 1973, Stonecroft had clubs and councils in 50 states. In the early 1980s, a Stonecroft Christian Women's Club was started in Clinton, according to Trish Meyers, who joined a year later. Doris Hunter also wasn't in the group from the start, she said, as she was still teaching school. Doris couldn't recall the name of the woman who started the group, but said she was probably a Stonecroft member in another town who had moved to Clinton. Laura Sisney may have been the founder. Mary Jo Cable, Susie Wetzel and Martha Welch were also active in the club.

Some of the volunteer officers have served for decades, and are looking for other women to take over. Others have seen the committee shrink to a few active officers, who have had to take on multiple duties. Debra Dolly started as the treasurer eight years ago, she said, then took on making the invitations for the next luncheon, fielding the names for lunch reservations and bringing the iced tea.

Organizing the monthly luncheons also involves women to book speakers and to publicize meetings by sending an article to the newspaper and posting announcements on Facebook about the date of the luncheon and the speaker.

Without some new women willing to take some of these responsibilities, Clinton's Stonecroft luncheons may be history.

"I hope it will keep going," Debra said. "We need new people to come onboard."

By the time she joined in twenty years ago, there were 60 to 70 women at the meetings, Debra said. The Clinton Stonecroft club also had Bible study groups, Doris Hunter recalled, and she was in charge of the books that the group ordered through the ministry.

Doris said she learned about Stonecroft after seeing an article in the newspaper. Her children were grown and gone by the time she joined, she said, but she remembers that the Clinton club had a large membership that included young mothers, so had a nursery for the children while their mothers attended the luncheon and program.

Doris said she still has a Bible study group, but there are only three women in it, and it's been hard to keep it going. Two other Stonecroft Bible study groups are still going, Debra said.

To keep the luncheons going, women are needed to attend the Christmas lunch on Dec. 19, and stay afterward for a planning meeting.

The December program will be by Sharon Hicks, speaking on "Angels or Shepherds." The short feature, "Left Right at the Corner," will be by Trish Meyers, owner of Gallery 3. Reservations for the December luncheon are due by Dec. 15 to Debra Dolly, debdolly30@gmail.com. Cost is $12 and includes an entree, side dish, salad, drink and dessert, catered by Melinda Dehn.

The feature at the November meeting was presented by Clinton Flower Shop owner Scott Brooks, who demonstrated how to make three floral arrangements, one for a Thanksgiving table, an autumn-themed arrangement and a Christmas arrangement. Scott also showed how to revive an old wreath by combining different color ribbons to create a bow. The arrangements and wreath were raffled off to four lucky winners.

"We used to hate Martha Stewart," Scott said. "Now we hate Pinterest. People show us pictures of the arrangement they want us to make, one that resembles something they went out and picked fresh in their garden that morning."

The main speaker in November was Michelle Woods, co-owner of a construction business, who talked about the importance of sharing Jesus in your daily life. In September, Clinton Christian Academy lead administrator Robin Ritchie gave a program of how working at CCA has capped her career in education by allowing her to live out her faith fully in her daily work.

Stonecroft used to provide many of the speakers for the lunches, Debra said, but lately, the club has had to recruit speakers from the local community. The members have also taken over decorating the tables and serving lunch to keep the cost of the meal down.

The Clinton Stonecroft Christian Women's Club meets at the First Assembly of God, on the southeast corner of Hwy. 13 and Ohio. The group was originally encouraged not to meet in churches, Doris said, to avoid association with one denomination. In the past, they met at the Holiday Inn, at Meadowlake and at the Rotary Building, but they had to pay a fee to meet at those places. So the group started meeting at the First Presbyterian Church fellowship hall on the recommendation of the caterer, who attended church there. They also met for a time at the Baptist church, Doris said.

She doesn't remember why the group moved to First Assembly of God, which provides the fellowship hall for the meetings.

Doris does remember that the group used to have prayer meetings every month ahead of the luncheon, but combined with the luncheon and planning meetings, it got to be too much. Some of the women who started the group are gone or gotten older, she said, and now it's harder to get women involved in leadership roles.

"I never get tired of telling the different stories that they tell," Doris said of the luncheon speakers. "I wish we had more people involved."

There is no lunch meeting planned for January, to avoid bad weather, although the planning committee will meet to continue the discussion on regrouping that will start at the December luncheon.

The Clinton Stonecroft Christian Women's Club normally meets on the third Tuesday of the month at 11:45 a.m., although the luncheon is moved to the second Tuesday if it conflicts with a holiday week, as it did in November. The luncheons and program usually end by 1 p.m.

"It's been a great group and it's been fun," Debra said.

November comes, And November goes,
With the last red berries, And the first white snows.
With night coming early, And dawn coming late,

And ice in the bucket, And frost by the gate.
The fires burn, And the kettles sing,
And the earth sinks to rest, Until next spring...

Clinton Healthcare Spotlight Resident of the Month Ralph Perez Sr.

Ralph Perez was born in Kansas City, Mo on April 20, 1927, to Alberto and Mary Perez. He is the second eldest of his eleven other siblings. They were a musical family, and everyone played an instrument. Ralph played the violin, the guitar and piano. Growing up his dad Alberto would make homemade tortillas and the whole family would play music on the Plaza as Alberto sold his tortillas. This is how the family made a living.
The family was very poor and the kids at school were ruthlessly cruel and poked fun at his tattered clothing. After his 8th grade graduation, he never went back to school. Ralph was very musically inclined and could play music by ear. Ralph also loved to sing. Music was such a huge part of his life for many years. During many of his concerts on the Plaza he noticed this beautiful lady kept coming to see him play. Aurora was her name.
Ralph and Aurora were married on August 4, 1945. He was a welder for some time but then was drafted into the Army towards the end of WWII. He was sent over to Korea to help get the Japanese out of Korea. Ralph served eighteen months in the Army. They had three children together. Ralph Jr., John, and Rosemary. Ralph continued with his love for music and play in a stringed quartet. He also enjoyed golfing and fishing with Aurora.
Together they owned A and R Western Wear and Ryder Truck rental. They also owned a restaurant for several years and owned and operated a farm in Ballard, Mo. Tragically, Ralph and Aurora lost their son John in 1965 to a car accident and Ralph Jr. in 2006. On December 29, 2022, Ralph and Aurora came to CHCR as they knew they required more assistance. Ralph suffered the greatest loss of his life on June 12, 2023, when his best friend and the love of his life for 78 years, Aurora passed away.

He is learning to live life without her, but it hasn't been easy. Ralph's advice to the younger generation is "Get along with people and have respect for others. Especially your parents." Ralph still enjoys music and golf. However, his favorite pass time is spending time with his beloved daughter Rosemary. What a pleasure it is to have Ralph at Clinton Healthcare and Rehabilitation.

Lady Cards Take Second At Warsaw Invitational Tourney

THE LADY CARDS Skyte Wilson lined up a shot from deep in Saturday night's 62-31 championship loss to Skyline at the 36th Annual Warsaw Invitational Girls Basketball Tournament.

After demoralizing Lincoln in the first round of the 36th Annual Warsaw Invitational Girls Basketball Tournament in the opening round, 58-8, the Clinton Lady Cardinals rolled into the championship game but came up short after a loss to perennial powerhouse Skyline in the title game.

In the second round last Wednesday night, Clinton tipped off with the Knob Noster Lady Panthers. The Lady Cards jumped on top early and led 39-8 at the half and cruised down the stretch for a 66-34 win, putting themselves in position to battle it out for the first place trophy.

Skyte Wilson led the way with 23 points and Ava Potter was also in double digits with 14.

Round 4 - Jacob Denman (Nevada) over Gage Westendorff (Clinton) (Fall 0:33)

Goodrich, 17; T. Francis, 0; J. Buzzanga, 3; S. Scarborough, 2.

In the championship game, the defense of the returning champion Skyline Lady Tigers was suffocating and hindered the offense of Clinton all night.

Several uncustomary turnovers by the Lady Cards led to points on the other end as Clinton found themselves trailing 36-15 at halftime.

A 26-16 margin in the second half led to the 62-31 final, netting a second place finish for the Henry County girls.

Briley Wishard paced the Lady Cardinals with 14 points.

CLINTON (31): A. Little, 3; V. Brown, 7; L. Kenney, 0; K. Schaffer, 1; A. Dutcher, 0; C. Berry, 0; S. Wilson, 2; A. Goucher, 0; A. Potter, 4; B. Wishard, 14; L. Brauer, 0.

THE CARDS Kaiden Townsend goes strong to the basket in Clinton's 77-68 season opening home loss to Knob Noster on November 21. The Cardinals went 0-2 in last week's tournament in Warsaw. Their next opportunity for their first win came on Tuesday night when they hosted Archie.
