Pediatric Place POPS With Color For Autism & Neurodevelopment Opening

BY JENNIFER JACKSON
Staff Reporter

Confetti fireworks and a pink, teal and white balloon arch marked the opening of the new Autism and Neurodevelopment Center on June 21. More than 70 people gathered under a large canopy in the parking lot for the opening last Friday. Pediatric Place staff in teal polo shirts and yellow T-shirts with the teal and pink logo added more color to the event.

The Pediatric Place offers speech, physical and occupational (small motor skills) plus a variety of multidisciplinary developmental therapies to children. The new center, constructed next to the existing one at 210 S. 2nd., expands the Pediatric Place facilities for Applied Behavioral Analysis (ABA) for children with autism, who have difficulties with social interaction, communications and sensory processing.

"It's not grandma's Safeway store any more," said Mayor Carla Moberly, referring to the original use of the adjoining building on the site.

Moberly, one of the guest speakers at the opening ceremony, commended Jeff Klassen and Klassen Construction of Clinton for the amazing job they did on the building. She also commended Pediatric Place founders Carmen Rathert and Jessi Frencken for their dedication and vision in growing the Pediatric Place from a small office on Ohio Street with three therapists to three buildings, one in Knob Noster, and 65 employees in nine years.

of space, the Pediatric Place is one of the largest facilities in the state dedicated to therapy services for children.

With the Pediatric Place, Golden Valley Memorial Healthcare, Compass Health and the new Bourland Radiation Oncology Center, Clinton is becoming a real leader in healthcare in Missouri, the Mayor said.

Brittany Pickens, Pediatric Place marketing manager, also introduced Melanie Stinnett, state representative for District 33, a speech pathologist in Springfield who is a friend of Carmen's. Jim Kalberloh, state representative for District 126, and Mike Ussery, representing U.S. Senator Eric Schmitt, both noted what an asset the Pediatric Place

Fifty years is about the life expectancy for many bridges in the Missouri Department of Transportation highway network.

That is exactly the age for two southbound State Route 7 bridges over dual streambeds of Big Creek west of Clinton.

According to MODOT, drivers can expect one-lane traffic and travel delays on State Route 7, un-

Heritage Tractor Heeds Call With A Helping Hand To Animal Shelter

BY KEITH JACKSON
Staff Reporter

The Clinton Animal Shelter's Facebook page often says it. There is a need for food or other items that help this charitable institution keep its dogs and cats healthy.

Heritage Tractor heard the call when the folks at its local dealership chose the shelter as the recipient of a $1,000 donation. The Clinton dealership is not only one giving donations. Heritage Tractor has 21 dealers scattered from northern Arkansas through Missouri and Kansas, and each one is giving $1,000 to community organizations.

Each dealership is choosing who in its community needs and deserves the award. The Clinton Heritage Tractor dealer's choice was the Clinton Animal Shelter. Other dealerships have chosen food pantries, fire departments, Future Farmers of America chapters, sheriff departments, and animal shelters similar to Clinton's.

farm equipment as well as lawnmowers, construction and landscaping equipment, utility vehicles and equipment by other manufacturers as well as the iconic John Deere brand.

There has been a John Deere dealership in Clinton for decades. In 2002, it was owned by the Shoemaker Equipment, and then it was purchased by a company in Harrisonville. In 2007, Heritage Tractor bought the Clinton dealership. Currently, there are 20 employees.

"We were very surprised to receive the donation," said Heidi Crabtree, director of the Clinton Animal Shelter, "and we're very grateful. Funds are tight right now, and this donation is greatly appreciated."

Abbie Cardwell, parts lead at Clinton's Heritage

Tractor, said that making the donation to the animal shelter was, "something we all felt was worthwhile."

The donation will be given to the shelter in a ceremony on July 2nd at 10 am. It's part of a 'giving back' that is part of Heritage Tractor's outreach program. "Our goal is threefold," says Heritage Tractor's brand manager Jessi Ganoung.

Have I Got A Line For You!

By James Mahlon White

Not sure if this week's temperatures will hit a record high, but Monday was a scorcher. One thing is certain, we're better off than folks during the big droughts of 1934 and 1935. Farm families were hit hard. Their gardens dried up and there was little water for the stock. On the Courthouse Lawn in Warsaw big trenches were dug and filled with water to help people out. This jarred a memory loose. When I was a kid Selma McDonald lived just up the street from us on Lay Avenue and always had a garden. Her house had a big screened in porch and occasionally I'd sit on the porch with her and "snap" green beans. Selma would put them in a big pot with ham hocks and onion. DELICIOUS! She knew most everyone and I learned a lot of unwritten Benton County history that way.

The big show is this Thursday night with President Biden and President Trump. Never thought I'd see a current President running against a former President. Remember the last time they debated and The Donald said a Biden Presidency would lead to new wars, wide open borders and economic crisis? Wonder if CNN will give Uncle Joe the questions in advance like they did for Hillary in 2016? Meanwhile, President Biden is holed up at Camp David doing debate prep while President Trump has been out on the campaign trail. Bet most of the questions will be about perceived threats to democracy, accepting the 2020 results, January 6, Stormy Daniels and rounding people up for detention camps. In other words, the same old she-bang. Sit back and watch the show my friends.

Quote of the Week: "What's the use in practicing something that has to go right every single time?" Will Rogers BREAKING NEWS! The search for an ancient "Portal to the underworld" has ended. The artifact called Olmec Cave Mask was stolen from Chalcatzingo, Mexico in 1964. Smugglers broke it into several pieces and they ended up in museums and private collections. The 3,000 year old "Door to Hell" was dedicated to an Aztec god. It's six feet tall and five feet wide with large oval eyes, flaring nostrils and a gaping mouth. When something is purposely broken, it's pieces scattered across the world, it might not be such a good idea to put it back together.

Ach du lieber and la caracha! Hang in there and hold on tight Old Buddy.

is to Clinton and the communities around it. "It's so important to families in rural communities, to give them options locally," Ussery said. Jessi Frencken also thanked Klassen Construction for helping the Pediatric Place reach this significant milestone. Carmen Rathert said the Pediatric Place has impacted thousands of children in realizing its motto, "Collaborative Care for Successful Lives." Carmen and Jessi cut the ribbon to officially open the new facility as confetti fireworks shot colorful bits of paper into the air. Guests then went under the balloon arch through the door, which will be the main entrance to the Pediatric Place, to tour the new building. Inside is a reception area and a hallway of individual therapy rooms, which will connect with a hallway to the existing building to the south. Across the back of the building is a 3,000 square-foot gymnasium. An outdoor playground is planned for behind the gym, staff said. On the north side of the building are two preschool classroom settings, offices, a conference room and a large kitchen and dining area for eating and swallowing therapies. The tour ended in the staff room, where pink punch and iced cookies were served. Brooke Allen of Springfield has been hired to be the ABA director. Brooke said that the new building will welcome 14 kids on July 15. All will receive one-on-one therapy, she said, ranging from one hour a week to 34 hours a week. "First and foremost is to give back something to those who are doing good in our communities. Second is to have something that employees can get excited and feel good about. The donations were based on their choices, and they will get to help present the checks. Lastly, our goal is to show customers that it is more than just selling a tractor to us, (we want) to be part of the communities we serve and stick around for generations to come,"

DON'T BE SURPRISED if on the morning of July 2nd, you see the Heritage Tractor heading east on Highway 7 for the Clinton Animal Shelter to deliver a check for $1,000.

The presentation will be more than just presenting a check. It will start with the flag-wrapped Heritage Tractor leaving the dealership on Highway 7 and driving to the Clinton Animal Shelter for the presentation.

"We'll try to have members of the board here," said Crabtree, "to receive the check." She added that the money will be used to pay medical bills and not to fill the constant need for food.

Currently, the animal shelter is running very low on Pedigree Adult dog food and Purina Cat Chow as well as bleach, paper towels and bath towels in good shape. Donations of these items can be dropped off at the shelter at 1307 N. Washington Street in Clinton. The shelter also accepts checks, money or

A polygon is a geometric shape with straight sides used by weather services to outline the area on a map under a tornado watch or warning. "Respect the Polygon" means to go immediately to your safe place when a tornado warning is issued if you live in the area inside the polygon.

HERCULES, a boxer-pit cross is one of many animals to benefit from the donation.

Angie, a pastor at Victory Church in Adrian, Mo., wanted to help support Subby's WCMO Advisory Facebook page, which now has more than 8,000 followers in West Central Missouri. People from all over the region log onto the page when storms are expected to listen to Jim explain exactly what is happening in their community. Jim, who studied meteorology at the University of Missouri, provides forecasts to fire departments and other first responders as deputy director of the Henry County Emergency Management. From his home, Jim reads computer screens showing radar images of storm cells and how a notched area in the front line of a cell indicates the wind is starting to spin, which can result in a funnel cloud.

If a funnel cloud touches the ground, it becomes a tornado. He also explains computer graphics showing the elements necessary to the formation of an anvil-shaped cloud that rises and hits a cap through instability in the atmosphere, and the wind shear that sets it spinning, which when combined with high humidity levels, results in funnel clouds and tornados.

The difference between a tornado watch and tornado warning, Jim explained, is the difference between having all the fixin's for tacos on hand — in the case of a tornado, storm cells, instability, wind shear and humidity — and the moment when the elements have come together and you need to stop what you are doing because dinner, so to speak, is on the table.

Jim's son Remington helps him monitor activity on the screens, and sometimes one of the Nader Boys, who chase tornados in the Midwest, also sits in. The family dog provides background vocals.

"Subby does this as a service to the community," Angie said. "I thought this would be a great way to say thanks and raise some funds for the expenses he has to pay."

Jim responds personally to people logging onto his page, greeting members of his immediate and extended family, acknowledging friends logging on, and exchanging jokes. A friend once texted "We're eating tacos," in response to his tornado watch/warning analogy.

"I've really enjoyed learning about the weather," Angie said. "It makes it fun."

Jim keeps a cool eye on hot storm tracks, depicted in yellow, red or a dark crimson, reflecting how much moisture is present. His calm explanations of exactly what is happening and when to take cover reduces the panic and fear that could complicate a scary situation.

The information is also specific to the counties in West Central Missouri, which fall between weather-station radar in Pleasant Hill, serving the Kansas City area and Springfield in the south.

He is not paid for live-streaming storm coverage from his home.

Jim also works four days a week in Urich, but will stay up all night to show people exactly where the storm cells are, which way they are heading, and how fast. In addition to telling people if and when a severe storm will hit their community, he also lets people know when the tornados have moved out of the storm-warned area and they can go back to bed.

The next day, Jim will be out surveying damage in the county to report to the National Weather Service. His weathercasts have been particularly relevant this spring, which saw multiple storm fronts sweep across the Kansas border and into west-central Missouri, spawning several small tornados.

Angie said she received 42 orders for the shirts, which come in three sizes and three colors. Some orders were for multiple shirts, so she is making around 60. She also presented a T-shirt to Jim.

Angie likes the fact that Jim monitors the weather in communities other than Clinton, and responds to questions from people who have relatives in the area or students away at college. Others who have been visiting relatives want to know when it is safe to be on the road home. Her daughter, Jordan Rischer, lives in a house in southern Missouri that doesn't have a basement, she said. In that situation, "Respecting the Polygon" means going to an interior room in the house, usually a bathroom, that doesn't have any windows, or small windows that are taped.

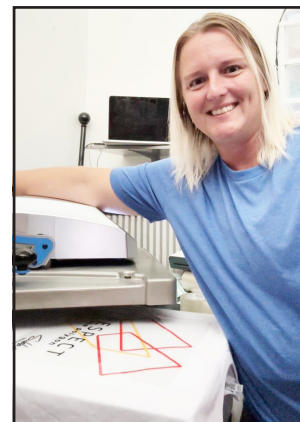

Having your safe place ready ahead of time with a flashlight, water, emergency food and a way to receive weather updates is the best way to "Respect the Polygon" and is crucial to avoid being injured. Most fatalities during a tornado are caused by windows exploding inwards due to the pressure differential, and well as injuries from flying debris.

A cautionary saying of people who grew on Midwest farms: a tornado can drive a piece of straw through a board.

Angie said she originally heard about Subby's WCMO Advisory Page from a friend, but before that, didn't keep a close eye on the weather. Her house has a basement, so sometimes the first she heard of a severe storm heading towards Adrian was a phone call from the fire chief, asking if people could use her basement as a storm shelter. People who live in mobile homes are particularly vulnerable, as is anyone outside or in a vehicle when a tornado hits.

People who log onto Subby's WCMO Advisory Page live streams also report what is happening in their area — when the high winds, thunderstorms or hail hit, or that the power went out but has come back on, reassuring other followers of the weather advisory page.

Angie is also thinking of making some "Respect the Polygon" baseball caps. For more information, contact her at pastorangie15@gmail.com.

til the work completes on or before December 15 of this year.

Work crews from MO-DOT closed north and southbound passing lanes of Route 7 on June 24, to begin refurbishing an existing crossover lane set.

On July 1 the southbound traffic will shift to a head-to-head design onto the northbound lanes. They will remain in this configuration for the duration of the project.

Motorists are asked to expect delays during high traffic volume. Lake traffic on Friday afternoons and Sunday afternoons will be impacted.

The speed limits in these one lane areas, will reduce to 60 miles-per-hour.

Signs and message boards will be posted in both directions, alerting motorists to the coming short detour.

Weather and or construction delays, could impact the work schedule and planned December completion date.

The bridges being replaced, were built in 1974.

The contractor will be KCI Construction Company of Springfield, Mo.

The estimated total cost of the project, is estimated at $3.2 million dollars.

Multiple bridge replacement projects, are scheduled throughout Missouri for the 2024 summer work season.

Motorists can check the MODOT Traveler Information Map for road-closings and traffic impact.

For more information, motorists are encouraged to visit the website at www.modot.org/southwest.

Calhoun Community Church

Welcome to the Good News from Calhoun Community Church. Our church family gathers at 9:30 a.m. for pre-church food and fellowship. We use this special time for visiting one with another, welcoming guests as they arrive for Worship, and signing cards of encouragement for our card ministry. Mason McNeely and Kynslee Conner rang the church bell at 9:45 to call our church families to worship at 10:00.

Our prayer list includes: Debby and Clint Land, Sondra Short, Millie Redding, Amber and Patrick Dittmer and Brecklynn, and Dave Burson; the war in Israel and Ukraine, our military men and women and their families, as well as others in service jobs that we depend upon daily. We pray for guidance as we continue to grow, here on the southeast corner of the Calhoun square.

Joys to celebrate: All things bright and beautiful could have described this morning as we came together to praise the Lord. We all enjoyed the homemade peanut butter cookies shared by Carol Lane and Diane Mills brought spiced almonds for pre-church fellowship this morning. Jackie Wilson and Mason Keller lit the altar candles at the beginning of our service today. Special Music: "In the Land Where We Never Grow Old," shared by: Ms. Verna; Shelby Bicknell played the keyboard and sang "My Savior Walks with Me," accompanied by Jeremy Reed on the drums; thanks to all for sharing. Jackie and Mason served as ushers collecting the offering. We are a diverse group here at Calhoun Community Church. First Baptist

On Sunday, Pastor Pat Findley delivered the third message of the series "Pray Like This" titled "Kingdom Come". After reflecting on an incredible week at Mission Fuge, a mission and camp combination for teens, Pastor Pat explained why we pray for His Kingdom to come. Jesus teaches us to pray for His Kingdom because the sin of this world causes us to live in a spiritual battlefield. God is King, who established His Kingdom, beginning with creation, and His people are His plan to advance His Kingdom. The Holy Spirit is a gift within us that enables us to advance His Kingdom now as we wait for His Kingdom to come when Jesus returns. While we do not know when, we should seek first His Kingdom by surrendering to His will and remember His mission. He is always available and His mission is the calling. Be bold! Be available! Be on mission!

Welcome to the Good News from Calhoun Community Church. Our church family gathers at 9:30 a.m. for pre-church food and fellowship. We use this special time for visiting one with another, welcoming guests as they arrive for Worship, and signing cards of encouragement for our card ministry. Mason McNeely and Kynslee Conner rang the church bell at 9:45 to call our church families to worship at 10:00.

Our prayer list includes: Debby and Clint Land, Sondra Short, Millie Redding, Amber and Patrick Dittmer and Brecklynn, and Dave Burson; the war in Israel and Ukraine, our military men and women and their families, as well as others in service jobs that we depend upon daily. We pray for guidance as we continue to grow, here on the southeast corner of the Calhoun square.

Joys to celebrate: All things bright and beautiful could have described this morning as we came together to praise the Lord. We all enjoyed the homemade peanut butter cookies shared by Carol Lane and Diane Mills brought spiced almonds for pre-church fellowship this morning. Jackie Wilson and Mason Keller lit the altar candles at the beginning of our service today. Special Music: "In the Land Where We Never Grow Old," shared by: Ms. Verna; Shelby Bicknell played the keyboard and sang "My Savior Walks with Me," accompanied by Jeremy Reed on the drums; thanks to all for sharing. Mt. Calvary Apostolic Pentecostal

"God's Anointed"

Anointed: To authorize or set apart a person for a particular work or service.

For priests, kings, and prophets.

To pour oil on a person's head.

God is the same, yesterday, today and forever more. Those things from the Old Testament come into the New Testament, and we learn more of God when we read both the Old and New Testament

We are consecrated to be set apart (Exodus 29:5) Psa 133:2.

Aaron was anointed to where it ran down his beard. It had to have dropped on down to his feet. He was anointed all over.

Samuel spoke to Saul regarding his anointing. He was anointed to do a particular work for God. Samuel communicated to Saul that he would do well as long as he was obedient to God.

However, Saul was disobedient.

We have to remind ourselves that we have the Holy Ghost, and we need to be aware as the devil tries to pull us away from God.

He knows who you are in God and will try to get you to lose your anointing.

God sent Samuel to Jesse's house to find a king. (1Samuel 16:12) his son, David was God's anointed. We should conduct ourselves as anointed. (1Samuel 26:7-11).

Saul was God's anointed, but lost it.

David recognized Saul's anointing though he was David's enemy.

1Sa 26:7.

Abishal told David that God had delivered his enemy in his hands. Abishal wanted to kill Saul, but David told him not to harm him because he was God's anointed, and who can do harm to God's anointed?

He told him as the Lord lives, God would strike him, his day would come to die, or be killed in battle. The Lord would fight your battle. You won't have to.

They came upon Saul sleeping again in a cave, and David cut off a piece of his robe.

He felt guilty for doing that. It is a good lesson to do nothing to God's anointed.

We must handle the situation in a loving way

Isa 61:1-2.

God will anoint us to do all that Isaiah 61:1-2 says.

Mrk 6:13.

The anointing was used differently, it was frequently used in healing. It was done by the hand of God. Jesus chose these disciples to go out and help others who were in need of healing. Jesus used the anointing to heal and cast out devils.

James instructed the church to anoint with oil to people's head. Act 2:38.

This is the anointing of the Holy Ghost in the New Testament. When we receive the anointing of Holy Spirit, it is in our whole body, inside and out, top to bottom.

1Jn 2:27.

Satan is full of tricks. Don't let anyone tell you that you don't have the Holy Ghost when you know you do, or teach from another source than the Holy scriptures.

Trinity Lutheran

Summer is here, and so is Vacation Bible School! Trinity Lutheran VBS this year will be held July 14-16, beginning at 5:30 pm. Please make a note of these dates and times and start to spread the word. For more information, contact Paula Easterwood, 660-441.0493.

Some 64 years ago, Ray Cosens, his wife, Alma, and their two young children, moved to Clinton so Ray could begin work at Kansas City Power and Light's Montrose Station.

The young family was new in town, unchurched, and didn't know anyone. Jim Wilhoit, a fellow KCPL employee and member of Trinity Lutheran Church-Clinton, invited the Cosens family to attend church with him and his wife, Evelyn, and their daughter, Kendra. Before long, this simple invitation led to Ray and Alma's adult confirmation and becoming new members of Trinity Lutheran Church. In addition, Ray and the two children, Ronnie and Kim, were all baptized and the entire family began attending church regularly at Trinity.

Over the ensuing half century, the new family in town grew in their faith through the ministry of the Trinity Lutheran Church congregation, and developed many close, personal, and lifelong friendships within their new church family. As the years went by, a total of five children from this family were confirmed at Trinity Lutheran Church, as were their children. All of this and much more was the result of Jim and Evelyn Wilhoit's openness to the Holy Spirit's prompting more than five decades ago to invite the new family in town to attend church with them.

What does this mean for us? Perhaps we all should be more open to the Holy Spirit's leading and consider who we might want to invite to attend church with us this Sunday. This simple act can have a profound influence on the lives of many, many people for generations to come.

All thanks to a simple invitation to a young family from Jim and Evelyn Wilhoit to attend church with them. Praise God!

Urich Baptist

The heat didn't keep the faithful away from worship service. Joshua Sowell rang the church bell. Mrs. Julia Klinefelter led in the congregational singing with Mrs. Dixie Collins playing piano and Mrs. Becca Sowell playing violin. We rejoiced with Bill Kelsay on his birthday. Randy Vogt and Jim Kelsay collected the offering.

The scripture passage from interim Pastor Steve Sowell's sermon was from Romans 5: 1-21.

It seems the world today is in a state of confusion, loss of hope, fear, and insecurity that is ruling our lives. In Romans 5 it tells us we can have hope, security, and peace through faith in Christ Jesus. We have so many benefits through faith in Him. We have access to God who listens and cares for us. We have the gift of forgiveness and eternal life. We have freedom from the rule of sin, and the free gift of righteousness. When we live in a right relationship with Christ we will have a right relationship with others, which is a description for living a wonderful life. Have a blessed week.

Valley Center United

We are an open and affirming church and welcome all to come and worship with us next Sunday morning at 9 am.

The Gospel's are words which are important to read, but they also include action. To go where we need to go and do what we need to do. To make a difference.

This past week, 23 members of the Valley Center Church went to a very rural area in south MO to help that community with their many needs. One large crew worked on building a shower house and another group installed a new shower and floor for an individual. There was food put in their "Blessing Box" for all those in need. There were days of using weed eaters, chainsaws and a lot of painting being done. What a gift it was to have the opportunity to work hard and help others! It was a week of love and fellowship. Thank you Lord for providing this opportunity and all of the willing folks who worked so hard to make it all possible! We went out in joy and returned with peace! Bring on the next opportunity!

Early in our lives we learned about the story of David and Goliath. This story is about our mighty God who gave confidence to a young boy named David, who after his leader Saul declined to go into battle with Goliath. He offered to go without hesitation. Even with the huge difference in experience and physical strength between them, David chose to use his own skills against Goliath instead of Saul's. He slayed Goliath with his simple method. This act of heroism sent out a message of God's amazing power which had worked through David.

We have moments when we are called upon to fight against a Goliath. Life calls us to battle even when it seems like there is no chance of winning. David was doing it in the name of the Lord. God gave him the power to be faithful and righteous. God also gives us the resources to prevail. Each of us have different concerns or battles to fight. We all live differently, but the common thread is when we see something fearful or more powerful than we are, we can keep the faith and finish the battle because we have truth, love and God on our side. We are not afraid of the Goliath's we meet. We can go forward to do what we need to do and the strength we have is in our faith in God.

The Shepherd Calls by Dr. H. Wade Paris

MY COUNTRY IS HIS COUNTRY

Beautiful, spacious, waving grain, purple mountains, fruit-ed--Katherine Lee Bates chose those words to describe our country, the United States of America. The words present a true picture. I enjoy being a part of this beautiful land. I say "my Country" with pride.

While I enjoy it, I feel a deep-seated anxiety about my joy. Didn't we "take" this land from someone else? Isn't that stealing? We refer politely to those Indigenous people as native Americans. I often wonder how our sinful past might be undone. That would be like unscrambling an egg. Then I wonder, to whom did the land belong before the native Americans? And who before them? By digging into this world, we find clues about our ancestors and make educated guesses; but they are guesses.

Do you ever wonder how far back i.e., how many people groups or generations would we need to pass through before God made humankind from the dust of the earth? At what point of creation would people have the right to say, "My land." Truthfully, none of us have the right to say, "my land." All the land belongs to God; He allows us to use it for a little while.

There is rampant heresy visiting our world today called Christian Nationalism. It elevates the world and especially one's country to the level of worship. No doubt our country can, if it will, do much for its people; but our country is not our God. God gave us a little of His likeness which included dominion over the earth; and it has gone to our head. One might picture Adam and Eve standing before the forbidden tree saying, "This is my garden. What right does God have to tell me what to do with it?"

In a few days, our country will celebrate its 248th anniversary. It is good to celebrate; but when you say, "my country," remember, it really is not. It is God's country. I love my country, but I love God more. God first; country second.

Attorney General Andrew Bailey
Missouri v. New York: Combatting Unconstitutional Lawfare

I will be filing a legal action in the United States Supreme Court in order to defend the constitutional rights of the citizens of the State of Missouri to fully and freely participate in the election of the President of the United States. There are two competing visions for the future of America. Some states value freedom and an individual's ability to choose the candidate for President that they prefer, while other states choose a path of lawfare to weaponize government, intimidate candidates, and remove them from the campaign trail during one of the most consequential elections in our nation's history.

In 1787, when "We the people of the United States" joined together to form a "more perfect union" to "establish justice... and promote the general welfare" of all of our citizens, we did so with the promise that our shared Constitution gave each state an equal seat at the table. Under this promise, we agreed that each of the states would jointly participate in determining the course of our nation and one of the most important decisions we would make, as equals, was the selection of our President.

Recent events in New York, Colorado, Georgia, and elsewhere have fundamentally undermined the system that has served us so well for more than 200 years. We are a nation of laws, with checks and balances to protect individuals from persecution. These laws are supposed to be equally enforced and equally applied. State officials, including prosecutors, have a legal and moral duty to seek justice, act fairly, and avoid even the appearance of impropriety. These ethical obligations forbid politically motivated prosecutions and other attempts to interfere in the nation's choice to freely elect the next President.

Unfortunately, over the past several months, we have seen states use baseless criminal prosecutions and judicial fiat in a willful attempt to prevent other states, like Missouri, from fully participating in a national election for the nation's highest office. Political opponents targeting fellow candidates and prioritizing hatred over the rule of law is fundamentally un-American, antithetical to freedom, and blatantly unconstitutional.

All Americans, including the citizens of Missouri, have a right to hear from and have access to a presidential candidate. Led by radical activists in other states, this malicious lawfare is a direct attack on the democratic process and the values we hold dear as a nation.

President Trump was prosecuted by officials who previously made a name for themselves by narrating and campaigning on promises to go after him and his business practices. These prosecutors coordinated with the Biden administration to further an illicit conviction to take President Trump off the campaign trail.

And that was only in the State of New York. These facts display a level of collusion never seen before between a corrupt Department of Justice and politically motivated state prosecutors. In 2016 and 2020 combined, more than 3 million Missourians voted for President Trump in the presidential election. Now in 2024, Missourians have selected Trump and Biden to face off once again. Missourians have a right to participate in the presidential election, which means they have a right to hear from both candidates and see each candidate on the ballot.

If we are to protect the rule of law, we must end this unconstitutional lawfare. If we are to remain a nation of laws, we must root out this existential threat to the republic and ensure our elections remain free from political interference. Missouri's lawsuit against the State of New York's unconscionable actions will do just that.

Missouri State Treasurer Malek
Missouri May Be Holding Unclaimed Property For YOU: Come Get YOUR Money!

During June and July, newspapers across Missouri are publishing tens of thousands of names of people for whom the State Treasurer's Office is holding unclaimed property totaling more than $1 billion. This is not the state's money—it is Missourians' money, and I am committed to returning it to its rightful owner.

Please scan these lists to see if they include your name, or the names of relatives or friends, including those who may be deceased or who no longer live in Missouri. One in 10 Missourians have unclaimed money, and there are nearly 330,000 unclaimed property accounts, so it is likely you or someone you know is on the list. Even if you don't find yourself on the list, please still check our database—the listings in this newspaper are for those with over $50 in unclaimed property. You may have some under that value!

It is fast, free and easy to go online at www.ShowMeMoney.com to find out more information and apply to get your money returned. Just enter your name exactly as it appears in the newspaper list, starting with the last name first.

Since I became State Treasurer in January 2023, my office has returned more than $80 million to its rightful owners. The average amount returned is nearly $300, so it is worth your while to check the database.

Why does the State of Missouri hold unclaimed property? State law requires financial institutions, insurance companies, governmental agencies and many businesses to turn over unclaimed assets to the State Treasurer's Office after several years of no activity on accounts. This includes cash from bank accounts, stocks and bonds, utility refunds and the contents of abandoned safe deposit boxes.

The vast majority of unclaimed property is cash or the equivalent, but there are also many items from safety deposit boxes, and these have ranged from valuable jewelry, historical books and documents, even false teeth. There are always surprises.

If these items of actual property go unclaimed from the State Treasurer's Office for several years, they are subject to public auction. This year's Unclaimed Property Auction will be held July 29-30, starting at 9 a.m. each day, with previews starting July 28. The auction location is the Oasis Hotel & Convention Center, 2546 North Glenstone Avenue, in Springfield.

I want to give Missourians back their unclaimed property, and it takes less than 30 seconds to follow up on the lists in community newspapers and check online at www.ShowMeMoney.com — so please, come get your money!

Toy Drive July 24th

BIRTHDAY BLESSINGS DIRECTOR, Jake Rigdon, is preparing a birthday party for delivery to a child in foster care. Gifts are selected based on the individual tastes of each child. This party is headed to a little girl who likes dolls and trucks. After she wraps the gifts, she will carefully pack them in a bag or duffel to be delivered by local child advocates.

Wondering how you can make a difference in the life of an at-risk child? Birthday Blessings is holding their 2nd Annual July Toy Drive to meet needs and spread cheer in Missouri foster community. Locally, they provide services to about 145 kids in state custody through the 27th Circuit Children's Division in Bates, Benton, Henry and St. Clair Counties.

The event is spearheaded by Jake Rigdon, a member of the nonprofit's board of directors and staff member at the 18th Circuit Children's Division in Sedalia. After spending more than 12 years working in the foster system, she has witnessed the impact of Birthday Blessing's programs on this community.

"So many things have to happen at once when a child enters care that birthdays or other special events are often not thought of," Rigdon said. "Some kids enter care and they have never had a birthday party or a gift before. When they come into the office and see the birthday bags, they get very excited!" "We had one teen who cried when he got a graduation celebration bag from Birthday Blessings. He was overwhelmed that someone would think of him and his graduation," she said. "We had another teen transitioning to independent living who had no way to cook. The nonprofit gave her a toaster oven, pans and basic utensils so she could prepare meals at home." Watching the nonprofit's impact on kids in foster care gave her the idea to hold an annual toy drive. She approached the board of directors with the idea, and they unanimously approved it. "July is a great time for this event. People aren't focused on other holidays like Christmas. I thought this would be a great way for each community to support kids locally," Rigdon explained. "Last year was our inaugural year. We got a team together and publicized it through local media and online. We were really pleased with the amount support we received."

Shannon VonAllmen, the executive director of the organization, was excited to try the idea. It was different than any fundraiser they had held in the past. "We serve kids in 30 counties spread throughout the state, so typical fundraising events like a gala aren't effective for us. This was a way that people in all areas could participate," said VonAllmen. "This toy drive is an opportunity for people, regardless of their geographic location, to add kindness and cheer to lives of kids."

Currently, Birthday Blessings is most in need of gifts for teens. Suggested items are advanced Legos sets, sports balls, fishing equipment, KC Chiefs or Cardinals merchandise, ear buds, gaming headsets, lotion or bath sets, make-up or nail polish sets, craft kits, board games, and snacks that do not expire before 2025.

They also need gifts rated safe for toddlers. Most requested items include developmental toys, toys that light up or make noise, vehicles, dolls, and toys to push across the floor or help a child learn to walk. Mickey and Minnie Mouse, Bluey and Cocomelon are popular with this age group.

The drive will commence on July 1st and run through the 31st. A collection box is located at the 27th Circuit Children's Division office at 1661 North 2nd Street in Clinton. Monetary donations can be made at www.birthday-blessings.org/donate. An Amazon wish list is posted on their website and Facebook page. Purchased items will be shipped directly to their building.

Items must be new and unopened, with no writing or organization advertisements on them. For more information call 417-372-5306 or email office@birthdayblessings.onmicrosoft.com.

Locally, the organization receives funding through a grant from Truman Lake Community Foundation.

Cardinals Football Pads Up, Goes Toe-To-Toe With Live Opponent's

ON FRIDAY the Clinton football team traveled to Windsor for their annual June pad camp where they took on Sherwood, Windsor and Willow Springs. These scrimmages focus on schemes and are a great opportunity to line up the Cardinals across from live opponents and give coaches their first real glimpse into the upcoming season.

Proposition Cardinal Projects Have Begun

This past week, the turf at Cardinal Stadium began being removed and will be replaced with new turf to ensure a safe experience for the Cardinals and community members who utilize the facilities.

Did you know . . .
*In a single season, approximately 900 youth football players from Clinton and surrounding communities utilize the field for games?

*Approximately 40 youth soccer players benefit from the use of the field?

*High school and middle school baseball teams use the field for practice?

*High school girls and boys soccer teams use the field for practice and games?

*Physical education classes from CMS, CIS and Henry are often at the field/track on days when weather permits?

*Multiple summer events are hosted on the field?

*Community members also utilize the turf and track for physical activity?

*And so much more!

Thank you again to our community for supporting Proposition Cardinals in April!

As a reminder, the track and football field are closed and will remain closed until the completion of the turf replacement and track resurfacing. It is anticipated that the facility will be able to reopen around the beginning of August.
