The Lincoln R-2 School Board met in regular session to close out many items of business for the 2025-2026 school year and to lay the groundwork for 2026-2027. Minutes from the previous meeting were approved and after perusal, the bills were paid.

Moving on Superintendent Kevin Smith reported on items included on the summer maintenance schedule. Painting, cleaning, and other routine maintenance will be done. This year there are 5 helpers and the Gym floors are scheduled to be refinished on July 9th.

The construction of the new entry vestibules began the week of May 27th but weather has stalled work. Completion date should remain as the end of August.

Mr. Smith shared with the Board the changes to the Elementary handbook for the 2026-2027 school year. The completed handbook will be sent to each board member and given out at back to school to each student/family.

FOLLOWING MULTIPLE INCIDENTS of vandalism and inappropriate behavior at Drake Harbor, the City of Warsaw has installed cameras to monitor the area. Alderwoman Kim Pearcy told the Enterprise groups of teenagers have caused damage to various facilities including the new restrooms.

Concerns Grow Amid Teen Vandalism At Drake Harbor

Kim Pearcy, Alderman for Ward I in Warsaw, issued a statement about Drake Harbor vandalism to the Benton County Enterprise (BCE) on Friday, June 5 as follows.

“We have experienced multiple incidents involving groups of teenagers, along with several reports of inappropriate language and behavior at our playgrounds. We want everyone to be able to enjoy the amenities that Warsaw has to offer, and we ask all residents to be respectful in both their language and their actions.

There are ordinances in place, including curfew regulations for individuals under the age of 18, and parents can be held responsible for the actions of their children. Along with referrals to the juvenile officer. We encourage parents and guardians to have conversations with their teenagers about appropriate language, proper use of playground equipment, and respect for public property. By working together as a community, we can help ensure that these amenities remain safe, welcoming, and enjoyable for everyone without the need for more extensive enforcement measures.”

On June 8, discussions with Mayor Eric Masoner and Community Development Director Adam Howe, Juvenile Officer for Benton County Jesse Wood and Warsaw Chief of Police Jason

VANDALISM

(Continued from Page 1) Wenberg, revealed some specifics about the recent vandalism on Drake harbor. Reports online by www.bing.com and KY3 News also provided information for this article. Confirmed vandalism was reported in April of this year at www.bing.com where it was stated that vandalism targeted the new restrooms at Drake Harbor in Warsaw. It included derogatory or offensive wording on toilet stalls and physical damage such as paper towels shoved into sinks. KY3 reported earlier vandalism last December that was thought to be part of the “devious lick” Tik-Tok trend, which encourages kids to record themselves stealing or vandalizing property and posting it online. Mayor Masoner and Adam Howe said that the City of Warsaw had installed cameras around April 7 when vandalism of the Harbor bathrooms was reported. They also said that several recent incidents of spray paint on the playground and graffiti on the bridge were reported on May 28. “Also, on May 28, I saw that a low-to-the-ground tricycle had driven into a sidewalk with fresh, wet cement near the Harbor and made a ‘doughnut,’” said Mayor Masoner. “Then, I saw a young teenage boy taking off on the sidewalk and I called Chief Wenberg who caught the boy and talked to him.” The two City officials also revealed that earlier it had been reported that a group of kids were loitering on the playground, using vulgar language and one mom in the vicinity felt threatened. They said that a video had been put online (possibly by youth) and later taken down. Chief Wenberg said that as far back as February 4, soap was found on the floor of public bathrooms, paper towels were misused and someone lit a fire on a porta-potty at the playground. Juvenile Officer Wood said that when juveniles are referred to his office, they are addressed and the cost of damage repair may have to be paid by the individual responsible. He said that he didn’t think vandalism was related to something out of Tik-Tok. According to www.bing.com, If a juvenile is referred to the Benton Juvenile Office and accused of vandalism, the process and possible results depend on the severity of the offense, the juvenile’s age, prior record and the discretion of the judge. Vandalism is often a misdemeanor, so diversion (e.g., counseling, community service, restitution) is common if the offense is minor and the juvenile cooperates. Mayor Masoner and Adam Howe emphasized that the City Council wants awareness of vandalism and for those responsible to know that the city is on them and watching them. The city is putting up more cameras; it is trying different options to relieve the problem and wants any who witnesses vandalism or has information related to it to contact the City of Warsaw Police Department at 660-438-5522. The mayor said that public response has been overwhelming, letting the city know things when they do.

What Clinton native pitched in 66 games in the major leagues?

Answer in next weeks edition of the Benton County Enterprise

In 1925, little guard Bill House hit probably the most important shot in Warsaw history in the semi-finals of the final four in Columbia MO. He arched a successful bucket over the heads of his defenders that floated like a butterfly in the final seconds for the victory. The basket became known as the 'Butterfly Shot.'

Warsaw went on to win their only State Championship in the history of the school.

* Determined by who performed best on hardest holes.

This spring, locally, I have already seen more Scissor-tailed Flycatchers (Tyrannus forficatus) than I ever have previously. If you have never seen one before (or even if you have) I feel very confident with just a little effort you will be able see one of these exceptionally spectacular birds. Some fourteen species of flycatchers have been reported in Missouri. The scissor-tail, known for its pale gray plumage, pink-washed underparts and its dramatically long streaming black and white forked tail is one of the most striking summer residents in Missouri. They measure up to 13" from tip of bill to tip of tail with the tail nearly twice as long as their body. While the core breeding range of scissor-tails lies south and west in states like Texas and Oklahoma they commonly nest in large numbers in southwestern Missouri (the Ozarks). As global temperatures continue to rise their range is expanding north and east. Scissor-tails start arriving in our area in April. Look for them in grassland, prairies, pastures and agricultural fields where they perch in isolated trees, fence lines and utility wires. Cup nests of plant stems and other materials, including human trash, are built in tress situated in open areas. A clutch of 3-6 eggs are incubated 13-23 days. The young fledge 14-17 days after hatching. There can be one or two broods a year. Parents are very territorial energetically attacking and chasing away intruders including other fly catchers, doves, jays, grackles, turkey vultures and even crows and hawks. They are highly conspicuous acrobatic foragers frequently hovering and performing dramatic aerial maneuvers catching prey by sailing forth from a perch situated in an open area, returning to the same perch, sometimes whacking the prey against the branch before eating it. Grasshoppers, crickets, and beetles are their main foods though other insects and a small amount of fruits round out their diet. During October, scissor-tailed flycatchers gather in large flocks to fly south to Mexico and Central America for the winter. Uncontrolled hunting in the 1800s of these and other birds for hat feathers and other adornments decimated many bird populations. Fortunately in the early 1900s scientists and leading women of fashion recognized what was happening and quickly took action to protect birds. I have been seeing scissor-tails on the golf course, on prairies and grasslands and perched on fences and high lines along roads and highways in open country. I would almost guarantee if you spend a little time below Truman Dam you will see a scissor-tail flycatcher. I see them on both sides of the river (there is also an osprey nest on the west side). I take binoculars because I like to observe their habits. Drive slowly along the road or just stop and park and scan the area. If you have never seen a scissor-tailed flycatcher before

I'm pretty sure you will be amazed!! I still get excited every time I see one. "Many eyes go through the meadow, but few see the flowers in it." Ralph Waldo Emerson

My childhood was spent on an Ozark dairy farm that nestled up against a tiny crossroads hamlet; it contained a store, gas station and half dozen houses, population twenty. It was a life without many frills and if we discovered some bauble in town that we simply couldn't live without, we had to devise some money making scheme to raise the funds ourselves. Often we harvested black walnuts to be sold in town or hired ourselves out to a local chicken ranch to help load broilers being shipped to market. And according to today's lawmakers, we shouldn't even be alive.

There were no laws covering lead paint, we had no childproof lids on medicine bottles or doors. When we rode our bikes, we had no helmets and usually no shoes. And when we rode in an automobile there were no seat belts or air bags. I recall sitting on Mother's lap in the old farm pickup and had we crashed I would have been pinned between her and the dash. And I might have lost a finger in the blades of the little fan that was mounted on the dashboard because it was the forerunner to air-conditioning. My favorite form of air-conditioning was riding in the back of a pickup truck on a warm day when we journeyed home from the county seat after our bi-monthly trip to town for supplies and to sell our produce.

Our water was from an untested well and not from a bottle. And the bigger horror was when we drank from the spring or the creek. Of course being self-reliant country kids we knew to drink upstream from the milk cows and in the swift flowing riffles.

We ate cupcakes, bread and real butter swathed in deep layers of jelly and if we had a soda pop it had sugar but not a one of us were overweight because we were outside working or playing. "No couch potatoes" that I knew: we wouldn't even have understood the term or anyone that wanted to be one. The lawn mower was a reel type and its power was provided by the one pushing it. We hoed and weeded the garden and brought the cows in at milking time by Shank's mare (walking). There weren't any four-wheelers. We walked to meet the yellow bus or to the one-room school. We had ample warm and water proof clothing for us to endure the elements and had enough sense not to travel from home without a coat, hoping that the car heater would keep us warm.

You shared soda pops with friends and no one died from the germs. It was a sign of a giving heart to share your grape Nehi with a friend or several. We spent hours building playhouses and tree houses. No one lectured us about falling from the tree and we soon learned what plants to pick and which not to touch. Trial and error! We rode our sleds wildly down the hill, sometimes tumbling over steep embankments. At night we built bonfires and tied our sleds together for a long "train", no law enforcement officers blocked off roads as there wasn't any traffic. After a few crashes we learned to solve the problem causing them.

We went to the creek to swim if our chores were done, there was no chlorine treated water and no lifeguards and you better check to make sure there wasn't a water moccasin nest under the tree roots. The rule was to be home in time for milking so we learned to check the level of the sun as there wasn't a cell phone. Unthinkable! We didn't have play stations or video games, no 99 channels on Dish TV. We didn't even have TV, no computers or Internet chat rooms. You chatted with your friends in person. We read the few books available, fished in the creek in the short time allowed between farm and garden chores; and was mighty proud of ourselves for putting a "mess of perch" on the table every now and again.

At school we played dodge ball and sometimes that ball could really hurt. We played baseball and chose up teams. The inadequate players were always chosen last, they accepted their fate and attempted to improve their athletic prowess on the ball field. Some students weren't as smart as others and if they failed a grade they were held back until they got it right. We learned to deal with disappointment and to strive harder. If we screwed up, consequences were expected, Parents didn't bail you out. Rather you got it again when you went home, only double. Can you believe they actually sided with the teacher or the law? We learned in a hurry that our actions were our own!

We rode a horse miles from home and knew the horse had enough sense to get us back to the farm even if we were lost. We made up games and played with sticks and rocks. We ate worms on a dare and we didn't go blind from the experience. We bent hickory saplings over to ride as "make-believe" horses. We laced baling wire through metal oil cans and used them as pseudo stilts, chasing each other, until we fell down from stumbling over a large rock on the playground. There wasn't a school nurse to treat the wounds, only the teacher and a bottle of iodine. We fell out of trees and some of us were snake bit, no parent sued the school. They were accidents and no one was to blame but ourselves. They were quite simply accidents.

The era of the 40's, 50's, 60's and even the 70's produced risk-takers, inventors and real leaders. Think of the ideas and innovations that have come from that generation! As children we were allowed freedom, failures, and responsibility. And we learned to deal with it all. And like the ancient mariner we learned the hard way to keep our eyes upon the rocks, the shifting sand as well as to look up to the North Star!

CCCB Receives Funds From Gravel Grinder

By Dianne Peck
County Reporter

The Cole Camp Community Betterment held their June monthly meeting Tuesday, June 2 at noon in Handel Haus. Frank Rehmer, organizer or the Gravel Grinder fund raiser, was on hand and offered a written report on income, expenses and presented a check for $2005.00 for the Rock Island Trailhead project. He and his wife Jennifer felt it was a success and hope to make it an annual happening.

Charles Hunter reported on an event at Owensville on the R.I. Trail. That location already had 2.5 miles of trail and on Saturday, May 30 dedicated an additional 2.4 miles, which Charles was on hand for the dedication and to ride the new stretch.

Hunter also reported he is working on the historical data for the information boards that will be at the Cole Camp Trailhead kiosk and showed the group photos of what the boards will look like when completed. Following the regular business the group dispersed to meet again at 2 p.m. at the Library for a zoom meeting with Great River Engineering.

The next Betterment meeting is Tuesday, July 7 in the Handel Haus at noon.

Eaton Barn Added To Barn Quilt Trail

By Dianne Peck
County Reporter

The Gary Eaton farm has a rich agricultural history dating back more than a century. In 1908, brothers Louie and Ben Eaton purchased the property from the Kelly Family. Later, in November 1919, additional acreage was acquired from Everet and Mable Salley. At one time the farm included 160 acres on both sides of the road.

Over the years the Eaton family raised cattle, hogs, horses and mules while producing corn, wheat and hay. Hay production continues on the farm today. The family also operated a steam engine sawmill, an important part of rural farm life. During that era a photo of Eaton's grandfather was printed in a 1928 history book. Today, the farm is home to a herd of approximately 30 Black Angus cattle. The barn was built by family members in the 1940s and stands as a testament to their hard work and dedication. During that period of time Gary's father served in the Army Infantry.

The property also carries deep family roots. Veta Salley Kinkead, (Mother of the barn quilt artist) was born in the original farmhouse which was constructed around 1910-1911. Another house was built on the property in 1947, with an addition built by incorporating materials salvaged from an old Salley building that was torn down.

The Eaton family has long relied on John Deere machinery to help maintain and operate the farm continuing a proud tradition of agricultural stewardship that has been passed down through the generations.

Fristoe

NEWS

By Pat Arnett
Contributing Reporter

The Fristoe area was blessed this past week with wonderful rains, which just encouraged more growing for the things in the gardens. The garden produce is just doing fantastic this year.

Got word from Gracie Yoder that she will visiting the Fristoe Pentecostal Lighthouse Church June 10th so all that is free that night please come and visit the church. Gracie is returning home after being in Cambodia. She enjoyed her time in Cambodia and is learning so much and she teaches youngsters things also.

Prayer requests for this week, Marie Lowry, Kathy First, Leland Brown, Deena Johnson, Gladys Harris, Dorothy Thomas, and Cherie Boechler! Those named last week from the church are all doing better.

Saw a notice about the Antwiler Park Board it said that July 11, the annual Pie Auction will be held in the Fristoe Community Building. More information later.

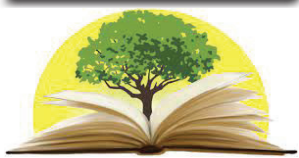

Most schools are through with school and maybe going on to summer school. The Warsaw girls won the state championship softball this year. T

This week Sue, Bryan, and Dobe helped Ken with the song service. Ken and Elizabeth sang a wonderful special as well as Claud and Delores also. The new unit for this quarter Sunday School is Work and Rest! Br. Smith's message was in 1Kings 22.

Thought for the week: Thank you Lord for equipping me for every situation! You have made me a strong joyful overcomer! All who listen to Jesus will live in Peace, untroubled by fear of harm. Proverbs 1:33

Have I Got A Line For You!
By James Mahlon White

Here we go again. Remember when President Obama said, “You didn’t build that” to a group of entrepreneurs? Marxists can’t give individuals credit for their accomplishments. The State is God. Now Bernie Sanders is at it. He’s calling for the government to confiscate half the value of the nation’s artificial intelligence companies. Where will this end? Seizing people’s homes and then having them rent from the government? Let’s face it, that’s basically what we do with property taxes. A government big enough to give you everything, is big enough to take everything away. That’s the part these socialist forget until the bread lines start. Sure don’t see Bernie giving his millions away. Politicians like him are all about redistribution until it knocks on their door.

Let’s stay on the subject of socialism. Why do they bother with elections in California? The mayoral primary took place last Tuesday and they’re still counting the votes in what is called a “state of the art facility.” It’s been fascinating to watch. The person who’s in third place and needs to get to second place is the one getting the “late votes.” Surprise! Surprise! Surprise! It’s UNBELIEVABLE how these miracle ballots arrive out of nowhere and only favor one candidate. Mail in ballots should never be allowed in this country except for extreme circumstances. Election Day should be Election Day. PERIOD. As Stalin once said, “It doesn’t matter who votes, it’s who counts them that really matters.”

When I pulled into the driveway last night I saw a lone lighting bug. It darted and sailed around, then took off across the street. I remember catching them as a child on Lay Avenue.

Mother would place them in a jar and cut a tiny hole in the lid so they could breathe and put it on my night stand. I sat there for a moment and took in the beauty of a summer night, a moment in time that won’t be the same again. Thought of the people who are dear to me and placed them in this bit of glory and hoped they somehow felt it too.

Listen Old Buddy, the sun just poked through the clouds and life is great, sort of. Do Not Pass Go or you may be in the calaboose. Take care of yourself.

Ten financial steps to take before and after your wedding day

Getting married is a major decision that comes with a financial to-do list that’s arguably more important than choosing a venue or a cake. Talking openly about money can help set you and your partner up for a stronger future.

What financial conversations should I have with my fiancé?

Head into your marriage with honest conversations about money, including these four topics:

1. Discuss how your families handled finances when you were young, whether you’re a spender or saver and what debt you’re willing to take on.
2. Share how much you each earn, spend and save. Discuss assets and debts, including mortgages, student or auto loans and credit card balances; your partner’s debt can become joint debt after marriage.
3. Align on a budget as a couple that reflects the life you want to build – where you’ll live; what you’ll spend on housing, travel and hobbies; and how often you’ll review your finances together.

4. Talk through your goals. Make separate lists of short-, medium- and long-term financial dreams and compare them. You’ll likely find some common ground, and where you don’t, look for ways to compromise. A financial advisor can help.

Should I ask for a prenup? Couples with significantly different assets or debts, those expecting large inheritances or those blending families are more likely to want to consider a prenuptial agreement. A prenup outlines how assets, debts, future income, inheritance and even spousal support will be handled during the marriage and if it ends, but it cannot address child custody.

Should my new spouse and I blend our finances?

Regarding couples blending finances, there’s no one right answer. Some couples combine everything, others keep accounts separate and many land somewhere in between. Agree on who pays which bills, how major decisions get made and what spending threshold triggers a check-in.

What financial tasks should we complete after getting married?

Once you’re married, these six tasks deserve attention.

1. Take advantage of the special enrollment period, which typically lasts 30 days after getting married, to update employer benefits such as health insurance. Revisit retirement plan contributions if your combined income has grown.

2. Review insurance coverage. Combining homeowners or renters, auto and umbrella policies can often reduce costs. Make sure you have enough life insurance.

3. Update beneficiaries on insurance policies, retirement plans, investment accounts, bank accounts and real estate.

4. If you change your name, order multiple copies of your marriage certificate. You’ll need them to update your Social Security card, financial accounts, and employer and medical records.

5. Update your W-4 withholding to reflect your new marital status and ask a tax professional whether filing jointly or separately makes more sense.

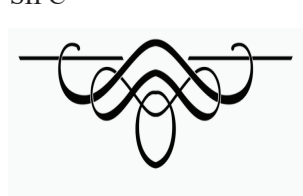

6. Work with an attorney to create or update your will, medical directive, and financial and health care powers of attorney. Your estate plan should reflect your new life together.

Marriage is a fresh start.

With honest conversations, careful planning and the right professional support, you can build a financial foundation as strong as your relationship.

Thank you!

After 15 years serving on the Jubilee Days Board - and the past several years as President and Vice President - we have made the decision to step down from the position.

Being part of Jubilee Days has been a great honor. We are incredibly thankful for the friendships, memories, and experiences this organization has given us over the years. Watching our town come together each year to celebrate our community has always made the hard work worthwhile.

We want to sincerely thank every board member, volunteer, sponsor, and community member who has supported Jubilee Days through the years. Events like this do not happen without people willing to give their time, energy, and heart to something bigger than themselves.

We encourage anyone who loves our community to consider volunteering. Fresh ideas, helping hands, and dedicated people are what keeps traditions like Jubilee Days alive for future generations.

Thank you again for allowing us to be part of something so meaningful. We cherish our time with Jubilee Days and look forward to supporting it in new ways in the future.

Sincerely,
Chuck Olcorn

LINCOLN FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Our younger youth blessed us with another song this morning. It is so great to see them wanting to praise the Lord in song. Many in attendance today. One of our members passed away this week. Bob Lear went to be with the Lord. Pray for his family thru this time. We shared in a fellowship dinner after church today. It is always a joy to see so many enjoying each other in fellowship.

Pastor Jesse's text was taken from Genesis 25:19. The way we appear to others. We worry about how people see us. The only thing that matters is your relationship with Jesus. Be in good standing with God. The message was about Jacob and Esau. Esau went the way to establish a pagan nation. Jacob stood with God. Seir and Israel were neighbors but were enemies. The Edomites lived close to Israel's border but didn't know God.

We set boundaries. Sunday is God's Day. By setting boundaries we fail ourselves. Is it your will or God's will? God doesn't always like what we like. Having boundaries with God you don't get everything He can give. Take down the boundaries. GOD BLESS AND HAVE A BLESSED WEEK.

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK
JOHNNIE J. LOGUE

Jesus I know and Paul I know, but who are ye? Acts 19:15

I never thought I would be using a quote from a demon but here we are. Kirk Cameron, famous actor and author, recently said he didn't believe in the rapture and in Hell. The internet is full of people giving their opinions on scriptures. I want to ask them just who they are and why should their opinions make a difference to me.

The late Charley Kirk said the use of the word Ekelesia was not translated correctly in Matthew 16 and should be translated as a nation. Even although a ton of scholars said it meant church.

So I should change my thoughts on these subjects because these men said something contrary to what I believe.

Again, Jesus I know and trust and Paul I know and trust but who are you???? If you can't support your opinion through scripture then you are wasting your time. Where is your credibility? The Apostle John was there. Luke said he had perfect understanding from the beginning. Peter was there. Mark apparently talked with Peter. Matthew was there.

Holy men of God spoke as they were moved by the Holy Ghost. II Peter 1:21.

Really? Who are you and who am I? I have a Bible college degree and have been licensed to preach and been ordained. Still my words are just my opinions. Somewhat educated opinions but still my opinions. So who are you listening to?

Read it again and again afresh and anew as my pastor used to say. Form your views and don't believe the views of men, We have feet of clay. Pray for guidance.

I will give account for what I have written here and have preached every Sunday. I am Johnie J. Logue, pastor of Grace Baptist church at 31046 Hwy MM in Warsaw. Call 660-281-4775 for more info.

WARSAW FIRST CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Good morning Benton County, where does joy as stated in the reflective question rest in our lives? This joy that I speak of is not nature for it is a gift given to us through the spirit of Christ. You can find joy filled people anywhere no matter what the circumstance because the source is Jesus. Yes, we receive natural joy through music, games, jobs, and success; however, it is not permanent. It is fleeting! Consider the scripture if you are seeking to discover the truth of this joy. John 15:1-11 spells it out for all of us by calling us a branch that is pruned to produce 'good' fruit as long as we remain attached to the vine (Father). Verse 11 brings it home by stating "....These things I have spoken to you so that My joy may be in you, and that your joy may be made full." This heavenly joy comes from listening to what the Father is telling us in scripture and through the spirit. Jesus displayed this joy during His three-year ministry here on earth. Check out His response to being near children, and His remarks after hearing the testimony of the 12 who were sent out two by two to do the work of the Church.

Billy Graham said this about joy, 'I have found in my travels those who keep Heaven in view remain serene and cheerful on the darkest day. In all ages people have found it possible to maintain the spirit of joy in the hour of trial....when I don't have joy, and I get on my knees and say, "Lord, where is the fruit of the Spirit of joy in my life" I find that the joy is there down deep—it is a deep water.' Blessings of joy on you and yours, Pastor Andy

HOPEWELL BAPTIST CHURCH

"Whatever is True"

How does God's truth relate to the truth the world or Satan has to offer?

Satan's Word is False - Mark 4:15 Jesus describes a farmer sowing seed. For some, Satan comes in and takes away the word sowed in them. We believe when you accept Jesus your faith in Him will protect you from Satan. Genesis chapter 3 records Satan, described as crafty, used deceit to get Adam and Eve to sin. The Oxford Dictionary defines crafty as clever at achieving one's aims by indirect or deceitful methods. Synonyms for crafty are cunning, wily, and devious. An antonym for crafty is honest. Satan is a liar.

God's Word is True - Psalm 119:160 Psalm 119 is about the excellency and impact of God's Word. Verse 160 states all of God's Word is true. Do you believe the Bible is true? Do they lead you to action? The second part says, All of God's righteous laws are eternal. Truth and righteousness go hand in hand. God's truth is eternal. The Word of God will stand for eternity. It does not change.

Do You Possess an Inner Truth - 1 Samuel 9:6 Saul, a man of God was looking for lost donkeys. After searching through four different territories, Saul tells his servant they should turn back so his father will stop worrying about them. First, Samuel is identified as a man of God, second, Samuel is highly respected, and third, everything he says comes true. Was the truth found in Samuel his own or from God? Where does your truth come from? Are you a man or woman of God? Are you highly respected? Does everything you say come true?

Are you aware of Satan's lies? Do you believe that truth only comes from God?

Join us for Sunday School at 10 a.m., Worship at 11 a.m., and evening Bible Study at 6 p.m. Monthly Business Meeting Wednesday at 6 p.m. with Budget Committee Meeting following. Monday Pray and Play at Optimist Park at 11 a.m.
