McKenzie's Park Theatre Selected For State's Songwriters' Competition

Carroll, Henry And Weakley Venues Selected

NASHVILLE (December 2) — Calling all songwriters, sign up for "Tennessee Songwriters Week" Qualifying Rounds for a chance to perform at The Bluebird Cafe as part of Tennessee Tourism's annual Tennessee Songwriters' Week. McKenzie's historic Park Theatre is one of the qualifying venues.

The Tennessee Department of Tourist Development is expanding its second annual Tennessee Songwriters Week in 2020 with the addition of qualifying rounds across the state. Starting December 9, songwriters can sign up to perform at qualifying rounds at venues across Tennessee the first two weeks of February.

Monica Heath, interim director of the McKenzie Economic Development Corporation (Industrial Board) and the City of McKenzie made an application to be one of the venues. Jill Kilgore with the Department of Tourism indicated communities showed lots of participation in the application process.

The full confirmed list of official qualifying round venues can be found at tennesseesongwritersweek.com.

In West Tennessee, the venues are:

- Big Buck Resort, Hornsby
- Historic Park Theatre, McKenzie
- West Tennessee Delta Heritage Center, Brownsville
- Southern Legends of Music at the Carnegie, Jackson (Madison, SWTN)

- Casey Jones Village, Tennessee Delta Music Room at the Old Country Store, Jackson
- Memphis Rock 'n' Soul Museum, Memphis
- Stax Museum of American Soul Music, Memphis
- The LATTA Theatre, Selmer
- AB Cheatham's Downtown Tavern, Martin
- Blues Landing, Buchanan

Sign-ups will be handled directly by each individual venue. Songwriters should contact venues directly for specific information regarding sign-ups. Qualifying rounds are scheduled to take place between Feb. 1-15, 2020. Top songwriters from the official qualifying rounds will perform during one of the six "Tennessee Songwriters Week" showcases in the following cities:

Sunday, Feb. 23, 2020 — Puckett's in Franklin

Tuesday, Feb. 25, 2020 — Lafayette's Music Room in Memphis

Wednesday, Feb. 26, 2020 — The Bijou in Knoxville

Thursday, Feb. 27, 2020 — Songbirds Guitar Museum in Chattanooga

Friday, Feb. 28, 2020 — Ole Red in Gatlinburg

Saturday, Feb. 29, 2020 — The Down Home in Johnson City

Finalists from the showcases get a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to share their original songs on the historic stage at The Bluebird Cafe in Nashville. The Bluebird Cafe's long-time open mic night host and songwriter Barbara Cloyd will serve as emcee at the showcases, and a panel of local judges will select the top songwriter from each event. Six total finalists (1 from each showcase event) will receive a prize pack and perform their original material during the finale event at The Bluebird Cafe on Sunday, March 29, 2020.

Songs will be evaluated and scored on a numerical scale considering both the song and the performance.

Judges look at originality, vocal and/or instrumental talent and the ability to create an emotional connection to the audience.

The Tennessee Department of Tourist Development partnered with the Bluebird for the showcase events, which emphasize a state statute honoring songwriters passed in 2018. It annually designates the last full week of February as "Tennessee Songwriters Week."

The week is designed to celebrate the foundation of the craft, recognize past and present songwriters and pave the way for future artists.

Separate from the qualifying rounds, venues and businesses are encouraged to participate in the second annual Tennessee Songwriters Week (Feb. 23-29, 2020) by programming special events such as songwriter showcases, in-the-rounds and educational opportunities to celebrate songwriters and drive visitation.

TN Promise Needs 1,678 Volunteer Mentors by Friday, December 6

With only four days remaining until the application deadline, tnAchieves still needs 1,678 volunteer mentors across the state. Carroll County still needs 28.

Mentors serve as an important resource for students as they transition from high school to college. They provide reminders, serve as a resource and offer encouragement for students as they work to achieve college success. Many who use TN Promise will be the first in their family to go to college and simply need a little extra guidance and encouragement through the process.

tnAchieves mentoring only requires a one hour per month commitment. While the time commitment is small, the impact on a student's life can be significant.

"tnAchieves' success lies in its community-based approach. Mentors offer a local support system for TN Promise students as they make the leap from high school to college," said tnAchieves Executive Director Krissy DeAlejandro. "No experience is required as tnAchieves prepares you to help students navigate the transition. If you have one hour a month and are willing to support students as they reach their full potential, you can be a great mentor!"

Potential mentors must be 21 years of age, are subject to a background check and must complete a one hour training session. tnAchieves will provide weekly updates and support throughout the mentoring process! You can learn more or become a mentor today by completing an application by December 6 at tnAchieves.org/mentors/apply!

tnAchieves is a privately-funded scholarship and mentoring program that seeks to provide an opportunity for every Tennessee student to earn a post-secondary degree.

If you have questions about the tnAchieves mentoring program, please contact Graham Thomas at (615) 604-1306 or graham@tnachieves.org.

McKenzie Garden Club Holds November Meeting

The McKenzie Garden Club met Friday, November 22 at the First Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Judy McCadams opened with the devotional, speaking on the concept of division. We are familiar with the idea of "divide and conquer" because so many things can divide us - political ideas, race, faith. But in Colossians 1:20 we learn all things on earth or in heaven can be reconciled in peace through Jesus' blood.

Nineteen members answered the roll call. Minutes of the previous meeting were tabled but members approved the financial report. Correspondence Secretary Gladys Patterson reported on cards sent to and on behalf of the club members. This year's nominating committee was appointed and the committee will announce the 2020 officers at the December meeting.

Under Old Business, Linda Crawford reported on the recent trip made to the Guy Robbins nursery in Martin. Mr. Robbins was formerly the curator of the Memphis Botanical Gardens. His wife, Sandra was an author - writing about life in Cades Cove. The group also discussed the work done, planting tulips at the Bethel Alumni Garden and the Fall decorations placed at the Triangle Park.

Under New Business, Christmas decorations will be placed at the park immediately before Thanksgiving. The club's upcoming Christmas party was discussed and the group opted to bring charitable donations in lieu of exchanging gifts.

At the conclusion of the club's business, Donna Ward presented a wonderful talk on her visit to Inverness, the cultural capitol of the Scottish Highlands. Donna not only shared photographs and the history of the castles of Ballindalloch and Cawdor and the ruins of Urquhart, but brought photographs of the beautiful flowers and wildlife she encountered. (Unfortunately, while at Loch Ness, the famous "monster" chose not to make an appearance.)

Following her captivating program, the meeting was closed with the reading of the Collect, Happy Birthday was sung to Martha Sue Peters, and the members enjoyed the lovely refreshments provided by hostesses Martha Sue Peters, Gladys Patterson, and Sarah Brown.

Henry County Medical Center Board of Trustees Hear Results of Financial Audit Review, Quality Report

PARIS — It was a long, busy, and productive night at the November HCMC Board of Trustees meeting Tuesday featuring a flag ceremony by a local Daisy Troop, a visit from the Grinch, as well as some great reports related to the FY2019 financial audit and quality reports presented.

The evening began with a flag ceremony by Daisy Troop 40100 presented by Dr. Pam Evans, OB/GYN at Paris Women's Center. This was the first time the 5 and 6 year old girls had done the flag ceremony as family and friends observed.

Following the flag ceremony was a presentation by HCHC Administrator Sandra Ray discussing the great state survey that they had last week where only two minor deficiencies were found that were corrected before the surveyors left. She also discussed the outstanding community outreach the Healthcare Center has done including the Halloween activities where over 300 kids came and trick or treated at the facility as well as a following of the Grinch's patient experience that is being documented on social media.

First on the business agenda for the evening was a review of the financial audit from FY 2019 by Laura McGregor of LBMC. LBMC provided a clean opinion of the audit with no changes.

In Casteel's administrative report, we were reminded that

Dr. Wayne Gibson, Cardiologist, will be joining the St. Thomas Heart Group and our community next week as our first full-time Cardiologist. Also next week, Dr. Boxell, OB/GYN, will be joining Paris Women's Center. Casteel is the new President of the Hospital Alliance of TN, and has just recently been asked to serve on the full board of the TN Hospital Association.

Dale Guffey, CFO, gave the financial report for October. Again, October financial results were not what the organization had hoped for and continue to trend less than budgeted, with a loss of $681,327 for the month. Census for November has improved about half way through the month. The board approved this report along with $655,505 in bad debt and $101,723 in capital equipment requests related to wound care, ER, and other items needed within the facility.

In other business, the Board of Trustees discussed a new committee, Security Development, that administration would like board representation. Greg Kyle and Jamey Tosh have both agreed to serve on this committee. Additionally, Greg Kyle's term was renewed for the board with a vote during the meeting.

Lastly, Neely Ashby provided the quality report for the quarter. She discussed our current Star Rating of 3 as well as our overall improvement in patient satisfaction scores for the organization from the 59.3 to 67.2.

Ashby discussed our reduction in all cause patient readmits at 10.65%. Currently, all measures are better than HCMC and State goals. HCMC now has four service line accreditations and will be applying for four more. Please see our website for these listings.

Ashby also presented on the Emergency Room improvements that have led to a reduction in door to doc wait times, a reduction in patients leaving before being seen as well as left without being triaged. Complaints have reduced and patient satisfaction scores have also seen a significant jump.

"We have been getting calls with compliments instead of complaints about our Emergency Room," said Ashby. "The morale of staff in the ER as well as throughout the hospital is pleasant and happy. Everyone is busy, but they are busy doing what they love and it is translating into improved satisfaction by our staff."

Ashby also distributed a psychiatric quality improvement scorecard showing improved results in all areas.

"All across the hospital there is such a focus on improvement," said Casteel. "The team is focused on what we need to do and you can see it through quality reports like this one."

CELEBRATING 150 1869-2019 MCKENZIE TENNESSEE

Mr. Leon Purvis (Part II)

Country Boy, Grocer and Musician

In love with “gospel music and clean country music”, Leon began attending country signings in Carroll, Gibson, Weakley, Henry and Benton counties. “Usually there were from one to three singings every weekend within driving distance,” he said. “Some were all day singings with dinner on the ground. I know the old timers know what I’m talking about.”

At the singings, Leon and Gay were called on regularly to sing in quartets made up of people pulled from the audience to “change up” the singing and give the regular attractions a little rest. “They seemed to call on the same ones nearly every singing, and I said to the other, “We need to get together and practice a little and maybe sing some good ole Southern Gospel songs.”

Leon and Gay formed the Happy Five Quartet, name by the late J.T. Jones. Soon, the quartet was offered a 45-minute spot on WHDM radio station Sunday mornings from 7:15 until 8 a.m., a tradition that continued from 1960 until 1995, nearly 35 years. The group was made up of Leon, tenor; Gay, alto; Lewis Garner, bass; and Donna Bates, lead or soprano. Some of the group’s pianists over the years were Nancy Hicks, Linda Lawrence, Kay Joyner and Shirley Wade.

“During those 35 years, we also were usually found singing somewhere in West Tennessee, Kentucky and Arkansas,” Leon related fondly. “We would usually travel in two or three cars; we never thought we could afford a bus. I cherish those years as the best years of my life. For years our radio program was shown on McKenzie cable TV simultaneously with the radio. It was pretty early to get up around 6:00 a.m. and dress in a suit and tie for these programs, but it was worth it to know we were doing the Lord’s work.”

Just when his days seemed most dim after losing Gay unexpectedly on January 11, 1994, Leon was jolted into renewed awareness by a customer at E.W. James Grocery Store in McKenzie where he was manager in 1994.

“Carolyn said she was just going to forget about you, if she could,” Montez Pratt, Carolyn’s sister, admonished him.

He remembered having received a sympathy card from his friend of many years ago. He had received an Easter card from her in April as well: a beautiful sentiment likening Christ’s resurrection with his own loss.

He’d placed the sympathy card in a box along with “two or three other hundred” and, still in shock after his wife’s death, had set the Easter card aside as well after noting its inscription: “I live alone also. If you would like to call me sometime, or write, I would like to hear from you.”

“Best I can remember she said call if you want to,” Leon advised Montez in the store. “I reckon I didn’t want to at the time, but if she feels that way about it, I will.”

He and Carolyn had met when she was just about 15, at a “guitar pull” put on by her brother, Hubert Blackburn, who was a friend of Leon’s.

“She got word there was going to be a nice looking young guitar-ist up there,” he grinned.

Despite, the six-year difference in their ages, Leon managed to take Carolyn on their first date to the 1952 Huntingdon fair, along with her sister and husband and children who agreed to accompany them as chaperones.

Another date had the couple, chosen from the dance floor, singing “Goodnight Irene” in front of the band, with Carolyn dressed in green taffeta. The dance was held at the National Guard Armory, then located by the old Wilker Brothers factory, which was brand new at the time.

But when the couple ventured to Medina to go skating, which, he stressed in the 1940s and 50s was a long way from home, their time home was “delayed by an awful storm.”

When he pulled up in front of her house of Church Avenue at 11 p.m., her parents were waiting. Hauling her out of the car arm scolded, “Young lady, you’ve got some explaining to do.”

“This probably terminated our dating,” he mused with wide eyes and raised eyebrows. It was just as well since she and her family moved to Michigan shortly afterwards.

When he arrived home after speaking with Montez at the store earlier in the day, he picked up the phone and called Carolyn.

“This is Leon Purvis,” he blurted, “since you’ve lived down her we’ve come out of the kinks. We’ve got a Walmart, and we’ve got a McDonalds. Now when you come home to visit why don’t we go get a Big Mac?”

Answering softly, she replied, “I’d like that.”

“I would too,” he said firmly.

Although she returned to Tennessee each year to visit members of her family, the two had seen each other on only three occasions over the years: when she lost her dad in 1968 (Leon and Gay sang at the funeral service); then years after that, when they also sang at her mother’s funeral, and in 1989, when her brother Hubert died.

When Carolyn came for a visit in May, Leon-dressed in a tie and with a nick on his face caused from his nervousness while shaving went to the door of her sister’s house with a dozen roses.

“She looked as pretty as she ever did, she was a doll!” he exclaimed.

After dinner that evening at the home of Carolyn’s niece and her husband, Jane and Kenny Carrell, the two saw each other every day, including a trip to see the Grand Ole Opry.

After getting together as often as possible over the next few years, in April 1996 Leon surprised Carolyn with an engagement ring when she came to visit.

He laughed, recalling how he first struggled down the hallway carrying a shirt box as if it were too heavy to handle. Opening it, she found a man’s shirt.

“Oh, I got the wrong box,” he declared coming back a second time with a box about the size of a shoe box. She opened the box to find another box inside. After the third or fourth box, she finally got down to the ring.

Leon got down on his knees at the sofa to propose. Crying, she said, “I thought I was going to have to ask you.”

“We squalled and hugged so you’d think we lost one of our children,” Leon laughed.

At the end of September, Carolyn quit her job at the American Rubber Company in LaPorte and moved in with her sister until the couple married on October 12, 1996 in the Gleason First Cumberland Presbyterian Church, where Leon was choir leader for 31 years as we as being an elder, Sunday School teacher and Sunday School supervisor.

Carolyn had been along for 25 years after he first marriage ended in divorce. Her daughters Kim and Shari along with son Rick and grandson Brandon, accepted Leon as their own.

Choked up with love and gratitude, Leon managed to express his feeling: “I Just can’t explain how good it makes me feel. They love their mother to death, they call every week...When we all get together it’s a ball; they keep something going all the time. They come in here with their laughter and it’s the best medicine.”

Carolyn went to work in the dietary department of McKenzie’s hospital for three years before retiring three days before Leon in 2001. He retired from E.W. James Grocery after 23 years for a total of 53 years in the grocery business.

“The Lord has blessed us; he’s still blessing us,” said Leon.

In September 2003, Leon underwent bypass surgery.

They still attended signings regularly, “there’s not as many as there used to be,” Leon lamented, “the young people are not interested and the old people are dying out.”

Leon was the assistant choice director for the Carroll County RSVP Choice while Carolyn was one of its members.

“We sing at eight different nursing homes,” he boasted happily, “We go to one every Monday. We go to those nursing homes expecting to be blessings to somebody and do you know who gets a blessing?”

“We do!” he exclaimed.

“We leave with the biggest blessing.”

On April 14, 2017 Leon died at the age of 86.

HUNKER DOWN WITH KES

Don’t Misunderstand What You See

I should be writing some silly story about Christmas shopping this morning. Or maybe sharing a memory of buying a special gift for a special person at this special time of the year...hoping it might awake a similar long ago Yuletide memory of yours...

But Christmas shopping is not on my mind today. And Heaven knows, I’m not a real writer. I don’t have the ability to write one thing while I’m thinking about something else.

What has got my attention is an article this week by a reporter strongly criticizing The University of Tennessee’s head football coach, Jeremy Pruitt. The author was apparently dismayed that Coach Pruitt “grabs his players when he is mad at them”, citing only two incidents—both when the players involved had used less than stellar judgment.

And listen, I’m not a Tennessee fan. Nor do I have any ties with Coach Pruitt. And no one here is defending real abuse in any shape, form or fashion. And I’m not saying any football coach is above it.

But I am absolutely saying let’s have a clue about life, about teaching, about caring, about genuine growth, courage, faith, teamwork, friendship, love and being part of a thing that is bigger than any one individual...

And I am also absolutely saying let’s be a little less caught up with mindless political correctness (by those who have never been in the arena) or unintelligent finger pointing or desperate attempts to uplift a personal writing career by climbing over the backs of easy targets.

The thrust of this reporter’s witch-hunt was that a high profile football coach shouldn’t use his authoritative position to abuse his players. The writer was judging, and condemning, the coach on these two very public moments.

I take high exception to every word he wrote down! It is the classic example of what New Orleans Saints Head Coach, Jim Mora was talking about years ago when he repeatedly said to a group of reporters, “You think you know, but you don’t know!”

If you count junior high, high school, college and the several decades I helped with football at Port St. Joe High School, I’ve got over fifty years of locker room experience either as a player or coach. Listen closely here, I never saw one time in all those games, practices, bus rides, film viewings, chalk talks and bull sessions one coach abuse one player! Never! Ever!

Oh, I’ve seen coaches chew players out. I’ve seen them grab players by the jersey, the facemask, sometimes by the shoulder pads...and explain a situation to them in the plainest, simplest, most straight forward English at their command. I have been the recipient of such action, as well as the bestower on many occasions.

But let me tell you something, for every one time a coached yelled at a player, he’d wrapped his arms around that young man and encouraged him to be a better football player, a better son, a better student, a better person a thousand times! For every time he’d grabbed his jersey, he’d driven him home after practice a hundred late afternoons or slapped him encouragingly on his back a zillion times.

And it never makes the news when a coach sits beside that player after a tough loss without comment or judgment, both sharing the emptiness of the moment...

Tough, demanding, dedicated, even a narrow minded one track football mind is a far cry from abusive. I am definitely a benefactor of those coaches that pushed me in my playing days...and I’ve had the good fortune from a coaching perspective to see the positive results of football manifest itself in hundreds of young men...

I never coached one kid that I didn’t love. You have no idea the price they pay. The work they put in. The hardships so many of them overcome. Or the appreciation they so readily give back.

It is difficult for outsiders to understand. I worked with a coach once who was as tough as they come. He was the real deal! I’ve seen him get behind a would-be linebacker during a scrimmage and literally push him into the C-gap to meet an oncoming fullback. We’d go into the office after practice and the kids had left and this “tough, mean, all business” coach’s eyes would fill up with tears as he discussed the dysfunctional life the young linebacker had to endure at home.

If we’re judging Coach Pruitt, or any coach for that matter, for a couple of moments on the sidelines in a hotly contested game...I pray we give them lots of room...

Respectfully,
Kes

Loving Kindness

"Dear friends, let us love one another, for love comes from God. Everyone who loves has been born of God and knows God. Whoever does not love does not know God, because God is love." 1 John 4:7-8 NIV

12-3-19

Loving Kindness is a concept and a practice that is shared by most if not all the world's religions. In Buddhism, for instance, the concept of "metta" denotes loving kindness, compassion, or even friendliness and good will. A typical metta meditation might start with the words "may I be happy, may I be well, may I be comfortable, and may I be at peace." This prayer for well-being begins with oneself, and then extends to loved ones, acquaintances, enemies, and finally, to all sentient beings. When Jesus tells his followers in the fifth chapter of Matthew "You have heard that it was said, 'Love your neighbor and hate your enemy.' But I tell you, love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you," he is distilling loving kindness down to its essence. That is, we are to love and care for all sentient beings, not just the small circle of those who love us. Jesus's command to love your neighbor as yourself has its roots in the Hebrew Bible, where we are instructed "Do not seek revenge or bear a grudge against anyone among your people, but love your neighbor as yourself." (Leviticus 19:18 NIV) The most frequently used word in the Koran is "compassionate," with every chapter (except the ninth) beginning with the words "In the name of God (Allah), the Compassionate (al-Rahman), the Merciful (al-Rahim)." The Koran is virtually an extended commentary on the loving kindness and mercy of God, which is a core tenet of Islam. Perhaps the best summary of this is in the first epistle of John, where we are told to love one another, for love is of God, and God is love.

Carroll County Sheriff’s Reports

Domestic Assault — Fred-eric Crawley, 39, of 228 Peggy Lane, Atwood, was charged with domestic assault following a November 22 incident at his mother’s residence in Atwood.

According to the report by Deputy Tony King, he went to 322 Peggy Lane and spoke with Crawley’s mother, Mary Cunningham, who was outside her residence in her vehicle. Cunningham told King that Crawley had shoved her out of her home, spit in her face, and then locked her out of her own residence. Crawley was arrested without incident.

Evading — Jeffery Allen Bar-rett, 46, of Tyronza, Arkansas was arrested for felony evading; Diann Marie Hicks, 28, of 109 Laurel Street, Bruce-ton, was charged with possession of drug paraphernalia; and another man escaped during a Novem-ber 25 police pursuit near Bue-na Vista.

According to the report by Deputy Michael Smith, he was patrolling on Maytown Road when he observed a silver Nis-san pickup truck with Arkansas tags cross the center line. Smith turned on his blue lights and attempted to initiate a traffic stop, but the vehicle turned onto Moore Creek Road and kept go-ing for about two miles before coming to a near stop. A male passenger identified as Jarritt Batey bailed out of the vehicle and ran away on foot. Smith detained Barrett, the driver, and Hicks, a passenger. A syringe and some burnt aluminum foil were found in Hicks’ possession.

Theft — Deputies are inves-tigating the recent theft of a four-wheeler from private prop-erty near Huntingdon.

Christy Gooch told deputies on November 25 that her blue 2016 Polaris 80 four-wheeler val-ued at $2,000 was stolen from 200 Beaver Creek Road. Gooch said she had seen the four-wheeler earlier that day.

Burglary — Over $8,700 in items were recently reported as being stolen from a residence near Hollow Rock.

Lee Cook told deputies on November 26 that his residence at 23200 Highway 114 South had been burglarized sometime during the previous night. Cook said he had been at the house on November 25 and nothing had been missing at that time. Dep-uty Michael Smith reported that it appeared that someone had pried open a door and entered through the carport, causing damage to the door jam. Alto-gether, 21 items were reported as stolen, including numerous tools, clothes, and other items. Damage to the door was esti-mated at $300.

Multiple Charges — Mi-chael Anthony Williams, 46, of 304 Elwood Drive, McKenzie, was arrested for felony evading arrest, resisting arrest, and driving on a revoked license following a November 27 police pursuit in McKenzie.

According to the report by Deputy Scotty Davis, he and other deputies had been assist-ing McKenzie police officers in serving a search warrant at a McKenzie residence, but the subject was not at home. MPD advised Davis that the subject they were looking for drove a white Mercury. Davis later observed a vehicle fitting that description traveling on Paris Street. Davis attempted to con-duct a traffic stop, but the vehi-cle sped away, eventually com-ing to a stop on Elwood Drive. The driver, later identified as Williams, exited the vehicle and ran away on foot. Davis and Deputy Michael Sevarns pursued Williams on foot into Williams’ backyard, where Se-varns managed to subdue Wil-liams by deploying a taser gun. A computer check showed that Williams’ license was revoked for a previous DUI conviction. Deputies detected the odor of alcohol, but Williams passed field sobriety tests.

•Robert Jefferson Spring, 41, of McKenzie to Morgan Brittany Wolfe Middleton, 30, of Wildersville.

McKenzie Police Reports

Multiple Charges — A Martin man was arrested and faces mul-tiple charges on December 1 after Officer Justin Brister observed him sleeping in his vehicle at a local store. John Kerr of Martin was seen sleeping in his vehicle and was woken by Brister.

According to Brister’s report, Kerr advised he had a gun in his waistband when questioned. A search revealed a fully loaded Taurus 9mm handgun in his front waistband and a pair of brass knuckles were found in Kerr’s jacket along with five fake $100 bills. A search of Kerr’s vehicle turned up a jar containing a large amount of suspected marijuana along with a black digital scale with marijuana residue. The sub-stance did field test positive to be marijuana.

Kerr was charged with Posses-sion of a Schedule VI with Intent to Sale, Possession of a Firearm During Commission of a Felony and Possession of a Prohibited Weapon. He was transported and booked into the Carroll County Jail.

ATWOOD (November 23) — West Carroll High School basketball hosted a Hall of Fame Play-Day Saturday featuring five games among six participating schools. Both West Carroll teams faced Dyer County and Trinity Christian Academy, and Huntingdon's boys played against Sacred Heart.

West Carroll lost both games against Dyer County, and the Mustangs fell to Sacred Heart. The Lady War Eagles were defeated by TCA. The final contest was fittingly the most exciting, as the War Eagles went back-and-forth with TCA before coming out on top in overtime.

Dyer County Lady Choc-taws 76, West Carroll Lady War Eagles 62

The Lady War Eagles jumped out to a 19-13 lead after the opening frame, led by Gracie Cunningham with seven points, including a three-pointer. Macey Cunningham and Amaya Thompson each scored six, Cunningham on a pair of threes. Lady Choc-taw Zoie Springer scored nine with a pair of threes, and Halleigh Caviness and Meme Smith each had a pair.

HUNTINGDON (November 29) — The Huntingdon Mustangs saw their season come to an end Friday with a 30-20 loss to Lake County in the TSSAA Class 1A State Football Semifinals. The Mustangs were seeking their first finals appearance since 2012.

The atmosphere was electric at Paul Ward Stadium as an estimated 4,000-plus fans packed the home and visitor stands, overflow bleachers, grass and against the fence.

The Falcons took the momentum early, but Huntingdon scored a much-needed touchdown just before the half to keep the game in reach at 24-12. After a scoreless third, Lake County sealed the contest with a touchdown early in the final frame. The Mustangs never gave up, battling for a late score, but the Falcons drained the clock for the victory.

Lake County won the coin toss and elected to defer possession to the second half.

The Mustangs received the opening kickoff and started at their own 30. The Falcon defense forced a three-and-out, and Huntingdon punted.

The Falcons began their first drive at their own 37. Larry Tubbs ran 12 yards, then repeated for a 51-yard touchdown. Quarterback Tanner Snyder kept for two points, and Lake County led 8-0 with just under ten minutes to play in the first frame.

Huntingdon started the ensuing drive at the 26. Mustang Brandon Lawton ran twice for a first down, then quarterback Hunter Ensley was stopped for no gain on a keeper. Lawton took it for a first down, and a Lake County penalty added to the end of the run. On first down at the Falcon 30, Lawton gained ten on two tries to move the chains again. Ensley kept for a short loss, then Lawton made a short gain. Ensley gained a few to bring up fourth down at the 20, and Cole Edwards missed the field goal attempt.

The Falcons took over, but the Mustang defense forced a three-and-out. A short punt by Tubbs went out of bounds at the Huntingdon 48.

Ensley started with a 35-yard completion to Ethan Reliford, then Lawton ran for ten. On first-and-goal at the 7, Lawton gained three. Ensley kept for two, then punched it in from the 2. Edwards missed the PAT, and the Mustangs still trailed 8-6 with a minute and a half remaining in the first.

Lake County went three-and-out again as the game moved into the second quarter. The punt was downed at the Huntingdon 44.

A false start on first down set the Mustangs back, and they went three-and-out. Edwards punted into the end zone for a touchback.

Tubbs took the first snap 69 yards, then Snyder kept for an eleven-yard touchdown. He repeated for two points, and the Falcons led 16-6 with nine minutes to play before intermission.

Ensley returned the ensuing kickoff to the end zone, but a penalty for a block in the back negated the score. Backed up to start the drive at the far 37, it was quickly third-and-14. Ensley found Reliford for 29 yards to extend the possession. Ensley threw incomplete, then kept for eight yards. Lawton ran for seven and a first down, then made a short gain. A penalty on the next play backed the Mustangs up to the 27. Ensley threw incomplete three times, and Lake County took over on downs.

Snyder kept the first snap for a 73-yard touchdown, then added two points for a 24-6 Falcon lead with 4:28 left in the first half.

Ensley returned the kick from near the 25 to the 34. A false start cost five yards, but Devin McClerkin gained just enough for a first down. After another false start, Ensley's pass was picked off by Falcon Cayden Puckett at the 30.

The Mustang defense minimized the miscue by forcing a three-and-out. The punt was downed at the Mustang 32.

Ensley went to the air again, throwing incomplete, then finding Bo McLemore for a 68-yard touchdown. Ensley was stopped short on the two-point attempt, but Huntingdon cut the deficit to 24-12 with under a minute until halftime.

The Falcons received the kick and ran three plays before time expired.

Lake County got the ball to start the second half, but turned it over on downs on a fourth-and-three at the Falcon 28.

The Mustangs had the advantage of a short field, but a second-down fumble was recovered by the Falcons at the 27.

Defense dominated the remainder of the third quarter as neither team managed a first down in five combined possessions.

Huntingdon took over on the final play of the frame with Ensley scrambling for no gain. The first play of the fourth quarter resulted in a fumble recovered by Lake County at the Mustang 37.

Snyder kept for four, the Tubbs gained eleven for a first down. He repeated for six, then scored from the 17. Tubbs was stopped short on the two-point conversion, but the lead was up to 30-12 with under ten minutes to play.

Lawton picked up the kickoff inside the 25 and tossed it back to Ensley, who made a good return to the Huntingdon 45. Reliford gained a yard, then Lawton went 12 for a first down across midfield. Reliford gained three, then Ensley kept three times for 20 total yards. Ensley threw to Reliford for 12 and a first-and-goal at the 9, then kept twice. On third-and-goal near the 8, he threw to Quinton Williams for a short gain. On fourth down, Ensley scrambled and dove into the pylon for a five-yard touchdown. He punched it in for two points, and the deficit was cut to 20-30 with just over three minutes remaining in the contest.

The Falcons recovered the outside kick attempt and kept the ball on the ground. One first down was enough to wind down the clock and claim the win.

Huntingdon ends the season with a record of 13-1.

Lake County improves to 14-0 and advances to Friday's Class 1A title game against Greenback (12-2) at 11 a.m. at Tennessee Tech University in Cookeville.

COURTESY WEST CARROLL SCHOOLS

West Carroll Special School District celebrated its second annual EPSO Week October 21-25 with a variety of activities that included all three of its schools.

The week is a statewide Tennessee Department of Education event meant to increase awareness in Early Postsecondary Opportunities (EPSOs). EPSOs allow students to earn college credit and industry certifications while in high school and show the link between education and career readiness.

West Carroll's Elementary and Primary Schools participated during the week by dressing in their favorite college shirts and career wear and listening to high school student speakers from occupation-related clubs.

West Carroll Jr./Sr. High School's Manufacturing Day on October 25 featured booths set up by more than 20 local manufacturers and businesses along with school's career-related clubs.

Manufacturing Day opened with keynote speaker Chad Pinson, project director at the Huntingdon and Franklin plants of Granges Americas Inc., (formerly Norand), which produces aluminum. Pinson, born and raised in Carroll County, has been with the plant for 24 years in several different positions and is currently overseeing the $100 million dollar plant expansion in Huntingdon. He talked with juniors and seniors about his own work experience and skills they can acquire for the job market through educational and personal development.

All of the school's students toured exhibit booths set up in the gym and spoke with business and industry representatives about what they do and what they consider when hiring employees.

These businesses included: Centennial Bank; Stribling Equipment; the UT Martin Department of Agriculture, Geosciences and Natural Resources; S.M. Lawrence; Ace Electric; Bethel University; Carroll County Health Department; UT Martin Department of Family and Consumer Sciences; the National Guard; Tennessee Department of Transportation; Milan Fire Department; Granges Americas, Inc.; the University of Tennessee Extension program; Allegion; the U.S. Marines; Carroll County Technical School; Baptist Healthcare; Tennessee College of Technology-McKenzie; NHC of Milan; Leaders Credit Union; and Tennessee Tractor.

School clubs that participated included: Future Farmers of America (FFA); Future Health Professionals (HOSA); Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA); and Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA).

Gleason's Poole Releases Bernie 2

Friday, December 6 the Cine Theatre in Martin is showing "Bernie the Dolphin 2", the much anticipated sequel to "Bernie the Dolphin". Marty Poole and Kirk Harris' Fairway Films Alliance reunited with Ambi Media Group to produce the sequel.

The film was shot on location at Marineland Dolphin Adventure in St. Augustine, Fla., as well as in St. Petersburg-Clearwater.

Poole's background includes twenty years in independent movies having written and produced a number of successful films. He serves as founder and president of Fairway Film Alliance, a full service independent film sales and production company.

"Bernie the Dolphin 2" is a family adventure about a brother and sister who befriend a badly sunburned dolphin. Kevin and Holly are thrilled that their dolphin friend Bernie has come back to the harbor. But so has their old enemy Winston (Kevin Sorbo, Hercules: The Legendary Journeys), who's just gotten out of prison.

As the kids have fun with playful dolphin Rascal and sassy parrot Mango, Winston is forced by his old partner to help kidnap the talented Bernie. This charming family comedy also stars Patrick Muldoon.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

See solution in next week's edition.
