Bethel Graduates 340 In Fall Commencement

McKENZIE (December 7) — Bethel University awarded 340 persons with an associate, bachelor's, or master's degrees during the Saturday, December 7 ceremonies inside the Crisp Arena on the home campus in McKenzie. John Everett Williams, a judge on the Tennessee Court of Criminal Appeals, was the commencement speaker. Williams and Bethel President Walter Butler are life-long friends and classmates at Huntingdon High School. Both reside in Huntingdon. Williams said he was giving the shortest commencement speech, to which he drew great applause. He said family and friends were gathered to honor those graduating. None drove even two blocks to hear him speak, he joked. He said he could not love the graduates more than the people who came to see them, and he could not educate them anymore. He said he would be remembered as an old judge who looks like Colonel Sanders. He directed the graduates to look to their left, their right and their front, touch the person there, and say three things: "We made it, congratulations, and good luck. President Butler said graduations are "What it is all about." The ceremony was part of a great week in which

Tuesday with several items on the agenda. Most notable was a recommendation for tenure for five teachers.

Vice-chairman Jan Latimer presided over the meeting in the absence of Chairman John Austin. Board member Greg Barker was also absent.

Following a strong endorsement by Director of Schools Lynn Watkins, board members unanimously approved tenure for elementary teachers Josie Brown, Alex Hayes and Hannah Haywood, middle school teacher Ty Riggins and middle school guidance counselor Lori Robertson. Each has completed his or her fifth year of teaching and has received scores of four or five on summative evaluations the past two years.

The boards also approved budget amendments. The Title 3 budget was adjusted for increased staff development costs; $343.37 was moved from Instructional Supplies and Materials. The General Fund was also amended to have the elementary gymnasium roof replaced; $124,118 was moved from the Fund Balance. Additionally, bids will be taken for three awnings: two at the high school and one at the elementary.

Approved on second reading was an amendment to the board policy manual's Code of Behavior and Discipline. The codes for students in Pre-K and Kindergarten will be developed to utilize exclusionary discipline only as a last resort, instead leaning on alternative disciplinary practices such as consulting with parents, counseling, special assignments and alternative seating. The district as a whole will be moving toward trauma-informed discipline practices such as counseling, social services or developing intervention plans.

The board approved local textbook selection committees for the adoption of English Language Arts: Lauren Banuelos, Megan Taylor, Sydney Lane and Amy Wilkes at the elementary school;

Savannah Merchant and Cassie Ellis at the middle school; and Traci Lunn and Gina Pate at the high school.

The board policy on the Role of the Board of Education was updated to be more specific, laying out the board's functions in the areas of general matters, fiscal matters, instruction, students and personnel.

A five-year strategic plan was adopted, including the district's mission, vision, belief statements, core values, instructional goals and operational goals.

High school Principal Kelly Spivey and teacher Jennifer Ognibene spoke to the board about some recent and upcoming activities. A soft skills expo in August helped students learn skills such as changing a tire, using jumper cables and setting a formal dinner table. A community service day was held in October. Freshmen and sophomore students stayed on campus and participated in activities such as baking cookies for first responders, making signs supporting the football team, assisting First Baptist Church with Operation Christmas Child and cleaning. Juniors and seniors traveled to nursing homes for visits, helped clean for local churches and the city and mentored at the elementary school. In February, high schoolers will be rewarded with a visit from Stephen Bargatze, a magician, comedian and motivational speaker.

Finally, Director Watkins gave his monthly report. He stated that a comparison of utility costs over the last three years raises no red flags. He did express concern about enrollment numbers. The enrollment-based funding number set at the beginning of the year was 1,231, but current enrollment is already down to 1,207.

The board does not meet in January, but the February 4 meeting has been moved to January 28 due to a scheduling conflict.

The meeting adjourned after 25 minutes.

ORLANDO (November 28) — Three McKenzie Middle School cheerleaders earned the opportunity to spend the Thanksgiving break at Walt Disney World and cheer in the Thanksgiving Day Parade at Magic Kingdom among more than 800 elementary, middle and high school cheerleaders and dancers from across the country.

Ava Warman, 14, daughter of Kerry and Stacie Warman; Brett Toombs, 13, daughter of Casey and Johnna Toombs; and Abbie Young, 13, daughter of Nathan Young and Kyle and Brandi Parham were selected as All-Americans by Universal Cheerleaders Association (UCA) representatives at tryouts during a June camp at MMS. Only the top ten percent of cheerleaders and dancers from Varsity Spirit camps and tryouts are selected. The three are all eighth graders and three-year members of MMS cheer.

The 800-plus cheerleaders and dancers were divided into two groups. Team Mickey participated in a pre-parade performance on Wednesday, while Team Minnie was in Thursday's Thanksgiving Day Parade. Warman, Toombs and Young were part of Team Minnie.

They arrived in Orlando Tuesday and practiced that evening and the next day. Following the parade, they were invited to a Thanksgiving banquet. They were able to spend their free time enjoying the Disney parks before returning home Saturday.

The three young ladies spoke about the trip in an interview with The Banner.

Young said, "It was an amazing experience I'll never forget, and being able to share it with my best friends made it even more sentimental."

Toombs said, "It was one of the best experiences of my life

The Gwin Family

From an American Patriot to a Civil War Surgeon

It never ceases to amaze me the information I come across when working on an article for this section. This week I was short on time and low on ideas, so I picked a family name at random from some of my precompiled research and thought, "this will do for the story." So I began doing a little extra digging and verifying on the Gwin family.

I recognized the name from the large headstone in Mount Olivet Cemetery. After a few clicks of the mouse, I learned it belonged to Dr. Robert Donnell (R.D.) Gwin. This led me down the genealogy rabbit hole, where I find myself quite regularly.

Working from website to website, I found a reference to the Gwin Home in Hico. Using some mapping software, I was able to locate the current location and found the house to be still standing.

It took a few minutes to realize I had been in the house many times and even slept there a few nights; back in a time that seemed like a lifetime ago for me.

I had heard stories about the house being built before "The War," meaning the Civil War. Naturally, I thought it was just a line from people who didn't know any better...Well I was wrong. Without further ado, here is this week's article about the Gwin family.

Three brothers, Robert, Samuel and Edward Gwin along with their father John, moved left Sumner County, Tenn. in the early part of the 1800s. Robert settled in Mississippi, Samuel ended up in California where he served as a Senator for the state, and Edward and John came to Carroll County in 1820. Edward was the son of John Gwin and Sarah "Sally" Donnell Gwin. John, at the age of 16, served as a private in the American Revolution. During the battle of Brown's Marsh, he was wounded when a musket ball passed threw his hip.

A year after the family's arrival in Carroll County, John was appointed a Justice of the Peace and in 1822, chosen as chairman. Upon his death he (ca. 1840), he was buried at the family cemetery located on Edward's property.

In 1824, Edward married Margaret Bowden. They were married in the schoolhouse where Margaret taught. They ran the first hotel in Carroll County from 1824 to 1827. The hotel was located in the county seat of Huntingdon. Edward became the first Carroll County Clerk and served as a member of the board for Bethel College when it was organized in McMoresville. In 1832, he was given a tract of a farm located five miles south of McKenzie in the Hico community. The land grant was for his "government services." The services were for his actions in the removal of Native Americans from Alabama to the Indian Territory (probably Oklahoma).

Edward's home is standing and located on the east side of McKenzie on what was Big Buck Road, now Highway 436.

The Gwin Family Cemetery was located about 500 feet north of the homestead. In a letter written in 1979 by Gladys Kelly, granddaughter of Edward, she stated, "Edward (1874) and Margaret (1873) requested to be buried in Margaret's flower garden."

No gravestones remain in the Gwin Family Cemetery. The headstones were removed sometime before the 1970s by a former owner of the property, not related to the Gwin family. According to family records, there are six unmarked graves in the cemetery.

In a The McKenzie Banner archived article from 1939: Ed Gwin House has Historical Significance

Near Gwin Switch, on the old stagecoach road about five miles from McKenzie, is the old Ed Gwin home at which Andrew Jackson stopped as he passed along this road when he was campaigning for president. He came to be famously known as "Old Hickory" and for his influence in bringing about the demise of the U.S. Bank, reduction of tariff, the "Spoils System," and the growth in the authority of the Federal Government. On his trip, he made an election speech at McMoresville on his way to Paris. Another president, Andrew Johnson, also has been a guest at this house.

Robert Donnell (R.D.) Gwin was born in 1829 to Edward and Margaret Gwin. He began training for the ministry at Princeton, Ky. and at Bethel College. In the middle of his collegiate years, R.D. changed his course of study to the field of medicine. This lead him to Jefferson College in Philadelphia.

After completing medical school in 1856, Dr. Gwin returned home and used his father's house to open his medical practice. He kept the practice going until the outbreak of the Civil War in 1861. The doctor enlisted in the Confederate Army as an assistant surgeon serving in the 22nd Tennessee Infantry. R.D. was at the Battle of Shiloh; after the battle, he was detailed to hospital service for six months. He was reassigned to the 13th Tennessee Infantry and Johnson's Brigade, serving as a battlefield surgeon until the conclusion of the war.

When Dr. Gwin returned home, he reopened his practice in McKenzie on Lee Street. In 1877, he married Sarah Bomar, and they had four children Gladys Gwin Kelley (1878-1984), Edward Gwin (1880-1937), Charles Bomar Gwin (1882-1906) and Robert Donnell Gwin (1886-1974).

An article from The McKenzie Banner archives provides a portrait of Dr. Gwin's character:

It is said that the life of the so-called dead, who have nobly lived, is the greatest lesson for the living. He (Dr. Gwin) was a man of high thought.

He had a fixed standard of morality, a broad conception of the infinite so great that he could reach down and lend a helping hand to those in need of help. Seeing the common man in his poverty, a struggling brother who needed his hand. This is what I loved in the man. He was known as the windows' physician as he never failed to respond to their call and no bill of service was presented.

He was never too tired, the night too dark for him to answer a sick call from some lowly cabin; many times, he would provide food and clothing to them comfortable. The dominant card in his soul was charity.

Though a young man, he did his full duty in perilous times and on many a field of battle.

Just before the war clouds appeared on the horizon, smallpox made its appearance in this town (McKenzie) and neighborhood. With his characteristic devotion to duty he vaccinated (himself with the) virus from a smallpox patient into his own arm, then went to an isolation cabin, unattended and alone he had the disease.

An old family Negro placed food and water nearby and Dr. Gwin would crawl on his hands and knees to the place and get it. His face so badly swollen that he could not see out of his eyes. After his recovery, he went forth and administered to his neighbors in the capacity of doctor and nurse.

When yellow fever cast its flight throughout the Southland and every town and hamlet quarantine against fleeing refugees from the cities, McKenzie opened wide her doors and through the press invited the people to come in. No one in the city had the dreaded fever. The fact was largely due to the strong Christ-like noble doctor, who was in charge of the sick.

For two long summers, he was a stranger to a bed his only sleep was taken by the bedside of some patient or his saddle. No field of war ever witnessed greater a sacrifice to duty.

No mausoleum could be erected to him or slab engraved in his memory did not ascribe to him, kindness, truth, justice, loyalty, love and bravery.

HUNKER DOWN WITH KES

Roger Makes A Big Car Small

We got to talking about people we'd like to meet, or would have liked to have met. Abraham Lincoln came up quickly. Someone mentioned Babe Ruth. A golfer in the group wanted to play a round with Tiger Woods. The aviation nut among us chose Charles Lindbergh. Several agreed on John F. Kennedy.

It is an interesting proposition and I imagine we have all rolled it around in our heads at one time or another. Everyone is touched or influenced by someone famous. The notion of getting to "know them up close and personal" is a pleasurable and thought provoking idea.

The group finally turned to me, "Kes, you haven't picked anyone." I pondered a brief second and replied emphatically, "Wanda Jackson!"

She was a rockabilly/country singer who blasted onto the music scene in the 1950's. I believe she was from Oklahoma, maybe North Texas. She'd come on ABC-TV's Ozark Jubilee and say, "Hi, I'm Wander (country for Wanda) Jackson" and she'd cut down on "Hard Headed Woman".

She could rock the place..... before anyone knew women were supposed to do things like that! As a child she saw Spade Cooley perform. I know you all remember Spade; he was a great singer and western movie star whose career ended abruptly when he was sent off to prison for killing his second wife.

"Wander" was discovered by county music legend Hank Thompson and sang with his Brazos Valley Boys. She dated Elvis. Buck Owens, Big Al Downing and Roy Clark were a few of the (then) unknown musicians who played behind her.

She wrote and performed two of my all time favorite songs, "Right or Wrong" and "In the Middle of a Heartache". She had that little edge in her voice....like she was on the cusp of no good and she was enjoying it. Wanda was elected to the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame in 2009. I can't for the life of me understand why it took so long!

She wore those fringed outfits like she was the queen of Sheba. She played a pretty mean guitar. She traveled the world over. Recorded songs in German for goodness sakes! Had a number one hit in Japan. She knew every entertainer of note during a career that spanned seven decades.

It's easy to see why she's someone worth meeting. I'd love to sit down with her and ask about Spade and Elvis. And the Ozark Jubilee and touring with Hank Thompson. What did she think of a young Buck Owens? Was she Right or Wrong? And how exactly do you get into the Middle of a Heartache.....

I would love to thank her for aiding and abetting my childhood.

And while we're on country music, it would have also been a real hoot to have met Roger Miller. Backstage at the Opry one night Roger had his ear stuck to the wall. He motioned a friend over and asked him to do likewise. This friend did as requested and after several minutes of acute listening, turned to Roger and said, "I don't hear a thing."

Roger Miller grimaced and replied, "I know, it's been like that all day."

No wonder he wrote songs like, "You Can't Roller Skate in a Buffalo Herd", "(I wish I had your happiness and you had a) Do-Wacka-Do" and "Kansas City Star (that's what I are)."

Times were hard for Miller in his early Nashville days trying to "make it" in the country music world. He ended up, broke and hungry, on the doorsteps of Darrell McCall, a friend who had toured with him in Faron Young's band.

Roger stayed with McCall for a while, recorded an album on the Smash label and split for California, leaving his 1956 Thunderbird in McCall's driveway. That last desperate album contained two songs, "Dang Me" and "Chug-A-Lug", which ended up number 1 and 3 respectively on the country music charts. Roger Miller's hungry days were over forever. Within a year he became, "King of the Road".

But his old car was still parked in McCall's front yard. Darrell called up his buddy, "Roger, your Thunderbird is in my way. What do you want me to do with it?"

Roger thought for a split second and said, "Let the air out of the tires. That way it won't take up so much space."

NOW, you tell me, had you rather embarrass yourself on an overpriced golf course in front of Tiger Woods.....or spend an afternoon laughing your head off with Roger Miller!

Respectfully,
Kes

Preparing for Christmas

"Therefore keep watch, because you do not know on what day your Lord will come."

Matthew 24:42 NIV

The season of Advent is upon us. Advent is a season of hopeful watching and eager expectation, when Christians await the coming of their savior, Jesus Christ. Granted, most children are probably more excited about the coming of Santa Claus. And this is also the season when many of us go out shopping, spend too much money and go into such deep debt that it takes us most of the next year to pay it off. Perhaps we should return to the original and most profound meaning of Advent, which is preparing for the coming of God as man, who came to show us how to live more decently with our fellow humans. The mantra of advent is "Come, Lord Jesus." Invite Jesus into your hearts and your homes this year as you prepare for Christmas. You can do this by taking some quiet time to pray and reflect on God's love for us in sending his son. Even if you plan to go out amid the hustle and bustle, or to shop until you drop, this quiet time of prayer and reflection will help you stay balanced and grounded.

Carroll County Sheriff's Reports

Assault, False Imprisonment — Robert Kevin Huntoon, 37, who is listed as homeless, was arrested on charges of domestic assault and false imprisonment following a December 1 incident.

According to the report by Deputy Michael Krause, Huntoon was driving a vehicle with Rachel Cole of Huntingdon as a passenger when the two got into an argument and Huntoon broke Cole's cellphone.

Cole told authorities that Huntoon stopped the car on a bridge on Old Stage Road and then told her he was going to kill her, but when another vehicle appeared on the road, Huntoon said he couldn't do it there and then drove them down a gravel road. Cole said Huntoon told her to get out and run and that he would give her a head start. Cole said she tried to hide from him in a creek, but Huntoon found her, took her back to the car and physically assaulted her inside the car.

Cole said Huntoon then drove them to her father's house and told her that if she would get $400 and bring it to him, he would take her back home. Cole agreed to this but used the opportunity to escape on foot.

License Violation — Melvin Glen Sanford, 65, of 17 Jessie Lane, Huntingdon, was cited for driving on a suspended license during a December 5 traffic stop in Huntingdon.

According to the report by Deputy Christopher Adams, he and Deputy Kenny Tucker pulled over a Chrysler van driven by Sanford because the trailer being pulled behind the van did not have working lights. A computer check showed that Sanford's license was suspended.

Evading, Resisting Arrest — Charlie Anthony Davis, Jr., 24, of 50 Newthel Lane, Trezevant, was charged with evading and resisting arrest December 5 in Trezevant.

According to the report by Deputy Ethan Parham, deputies went to 3600 Highway 79 in an attempt to serve a warrant. Davis fled on foot but was apprehended by deputies. Davis allegedly resisted physically when deputies tried to search him.

License Violation — Timo-

they Ryan Goode, 26, of 350 Bryant Street Extended, Trezevant, was cited for driving on a suspended license (fourth offense) during a December 4 traffic stop in McMoresville.

According to the report, a deputy pulled over a blue Honda Accord driven by Goode because the deputy had prior knowledge that Goode's license was suspended. A computer check confirmed this.

Phone Scam — Gail Jackson of Huntingdon recently reported a possible telephone scam.

Jackson told deputies on December 4 that she received a call from a male caller earlier that day claiming to be with the Social Security Office Investigative Division.

Jackson said the caller told her that her social security card had been found inside a stolen vehicle in Texas and that her social security number had been fraudulently used several times.

The caller then asked Jackson to confirm her social security number, date of birth, and address, and she gave the caller that information. Deputy Michael Mulligan called the number back and spoke with a male subject who would not identify himself.

The subject asserted that he does work for the Social Security Investigative Division but would not give the deputy any further information to substantiate this claim.

Assault — Trevor Scott Richardson, 18, of Cedar Grove was charged with simple assault following a November 11 incident at McDonald's in Huntingdon.

The report by Officer Carlton Cupples stated that Richardson is a McDonald's employee but did not give any further information about the incident.

We feel truly Blessed with all the support we have gotten from

Sincerely, Bobby and Cindy Gaylord

Wishing you all a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

McKenzie and the surrounding areas — even from afar. When fire damaged our kitchen and dining area on March 20, 2018, the outpouring of kindness we received was overwhelming. When we reopened, so many familiar and kind faces filled our dining room. We have met so many wonderful people who we now consider to be family. So, Thank you — each and every one of you. We love and appreciate all of you. We are looking forward to many more years of serving you.

FCA Students Pack Operation Christmas Child Boxes

MCKENZIE (November 20) — Students in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes organized an event to provide gifts for children in third world nations through Operation Christmas Child. On Wednesday morning, before the school bell sounded, the students brought their donations of toys, pencils, and other essential items to pack in shoebox-sized containers to be sent to the children who otherwise would have no Christmas gifts.

Dan Ridley, a teacher at McKenzie High School, was pleased as the high school students shuffled in to assist with the project.

"This is the type of students we have at McKenzie High School," said Ridley. He thanked them for waking early and giving of their time and money to help with the project.

Johnsonville Coal-Fire Generation to be Razed

TVA's Johnsonville Fossil Plant will be demolished by contractor Brandenburg as part of the decommissioning of the former coal-burning electric generation plant in nearby Humphreys County. It, along with the Colbert plant are scheduled to be razed and the sites available for industrial development. Completion of the work is projected for the year 2023. The combustion turbine plants that are currently located at the site will remain.

Johnsonville was TVA's oldest fossil plant. It was taken offline Sunday, December 31, 2017, at 7:14 p.m.

The event marked the ending of Johnsonville Fossil Plant's 66-year run—a run that included several records of continuous days of operations, megawatts produced and other historic milestones.

The 10-unit fossil plant first went into service when Unit 1 began commercial operation on Oct. 27, 1951. The final Unit 10 began commercial operation on Aug. 20, 1959. Units 5 through 10 were idled in 2012 and units 1 through 4 ceased generation in December 2017.

TVA is using more natural gas and renewable energy in its generation of electricity.

The nearby Gleason, Tennessee natural gas plant consists of three simple-cycle Siemens-Westinghouse combustion turbines. The three combustion turbines have a combined generation capacity of 500 MW.

TVA is considering a proposal to upgrade the site to a combined-cycle plant, which would add an additional 350 MW of capacity.

TVA plans to remove five fossil fuel plants from its network: John Sevier, Colbert, Widow's Creek, Johnsonville and Allen are scheduled to come down by 2021.

2020 Presidential Preference Primary Ballot Set

NASHVILLE — Today Secretary of State Tre Hargett certified the names of three Republican and 16 Democrat presidential candidates for the March 3 Super Tuesday presidential preference primary. On Super Tuesday, Tennessee will join 13 states to help decide who will be the next president of the United States.

The following candidates will be on the March 3 ballot:

Republican Primary Ballot
Donald J. Trump, Joe Walsh, and Bill Weld

Democratic Primary Ballot
Michael Bennet, Joseph R. Biden, Michael R. Bloomberg, Cory Booker, Pete Buttigieg, Julián Castro, John K. Delaney, Tulsi Gabbard, Kamala Harris, Amy Klobuchar, Deval Patrick, Bernie Sanders, Tom Steyer, Elizabeth Warren, Marianne Williamson, and Andrew Yang.

As certified candidates for the presidential preference primary, these candidates are unable to appear on the November 3 general election ballot as the nominee of a different political party.

"This primary will determine which candidates will represent these two political parties on the November ballot for our country's highest elected office," said Secretary Hargett. "I hope every eligible Tennessean will register to vote or make sure their voter registration is updated by the February 3rd voter registration deadline. It is easy to register to vote or update existing voter records by visiting our online voter registration system at GoVoteTN.com."

The deadline for 2020 presidential delegate candidates to file a petition to be elected is noon December 12. Delegate candidates are not considered qualified unless the Division of Elections receives a letter from a presidential campaign authorizing the delegate candidate to run.

Both the Tennessee Republican Party and the Tennessee Democratic Party have their own rules about selecting presidential delegates. Republican presidential delegates are decided by an election, coordinated through the division of elections. Party rules determine Democratic presidential delegates. Upon graduating from The U of M, Kasey received the Carson Circle Award, an award that recognizes a select number of outstanding graduating seniors who exemplify Dr. Donald K. Carson's ideals of making the university a better place through their involvement and leadership

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

See solution in next week's edition.
