

Governor Lee Relaxes State Restrictions on Sports

NASHVILLE (January 28) — In an announcement, Tennessee Governor Bill Lee announced he has lifted the restrictions on sporting events contained in Executive Order No. 74.

“The guidance and rules of local education agencies and the TSSAA remain in place but Executive Order 74 will be suspended effective Monday, February 1,” Governor Lee said in a statement today. “I encourage Tennesseans to keep up their responsible personal choices as we work towards a COVID-free Tennessee.”

The TSSAA COVID-19 Regulations and Rules Modifications for practice and competition as well as the current restrictions on preseason scrimmages and jamborees adopted by the Board of Control at their July 22 meeting are still in place for all sports and must be followed. Visit the Tennessee Returns to Play page of TSSAA.org for complete details.

With the Governor’s announcement, the restrictions limiting cheerleaders and members of the general public from attending contests will be lifted on Monday, February 1. The TSSAA rules regarding masks, temperature checks, social distancing and COVID-19 recommended venue capacities will remain in effect.

“We’re proud that our member schools have been taking steps to follow the Governor’s orders and limit the spread of the virus,” said Bernard Childress, Executive Director of TSSAA. “It is vitally important that we continue to be smart and safe in our activities, wear a mask, wash our hands and practice social distancing at every athletic contest.”

Member schools are encouraged to limit fan attendance to a number that will allow adequate social distancing (e.g., 1/4 to 1/3 of typical seating capacity, depending on the characteristics of the particular venue) and should mark/designate bleachers or seats in order to promote social distancing among spectators. Member schools must facilitate compliance with any applicable state or local order limiting gathering sizes for participation in public events. In consultation with local health providers, member schools in areas experiencing high virus transmission should consider further limitations on attendance (e.g., family members only, or no spectators). Limit informal gathering in areas where social distancing cannot be maintained.

Representative Tandy Darby Appointed Deputy Whip

NASHVILLE — House Majority Whip Johnny Garrett, R-Goodlettsville, has named State Rep. Tandy Darby, R-Greenfield, to fill one of seven Deputy Whip positions within the Tennessee House Republican Caucus of the 112th Tennessee General Assembly.

“Tandy Darby is already standing out to be one of the leaders of our distinguished class of freshman Republican lawmakers,” said Garrett. “His efforts will support our fight to uphold our Tennessee values. I appreciate his willingness to serve in this capacity.”

As Deputy Whip, Darby will assist in counting votes as well as communicating with members about the Republican supermajority’s position on issues or important legislative initiatives. He will support Garrett who is the fourth-ranking officer of the House Republican Caucus.

“I am honored that Representative Garrett has asked me to serve in this leadership position,” said Darby. “I am thankful to the citizens of House District 76 for allowing me the privilege of serving them in the Tennessee General Assembly.”

Darby joins newly named Deputy Whips Rebecca Alexander, R-Jonesborough; John Gillespie, R-Memphis; Timothy Hicks, R-Gray; Eddie Mannis, R-Knoxville; Lowell Russell, R-Vonore; Todd Warner, R-Chapel Hill.

Darby lives in Greenfield and serves the 76th House District in the Tennessee House of Representatives which includes Weakley, and part of Obion and Carroll Counties. Darby serves on the Agriculture and Natural Resources, Calendar and Rules, and Education Administration Committees. He also serves on the Agriculture and Natural Resources and Higher Education subcommittees.

BETHEL HALL-OF-FAMER ON THE MOVE

Brent Dearmon Takes Over MTSU Offense

BY JASON R. MARTIN
jmartin@mckenziebanner.com

MURFREESBORO (January 28) — On Wednesday, it was confirmed former Bethel University Head Football Coach and university hall-of-fame quarterback, Brent Dearmon, was hired by Middle Tennessee State University. He will assume the role of offensive coordinator replacing Tony Franklin who retired at the end of the 2020 season.

For the last two seasons, Dearmon served as the offensive coordinator at the University of Kansas under Les Miles. Asked why he would leave a Big 12 Conference school for a Conference USA program, Dearmon commented, “it came down to family.” His parents live in Mobile, Alabama and his in-laws will be less than a two-hour drive away from Murfreesboro.

Brent Dearmon

According to Dearmon’s contract with the Kansas football program, he would owe Kansas in upwards of $500,000 if he left the school before the end of 2021 season. His salary with Kansas was in the neighborhood of $250,000 a year per-incentives. Asked for comment on the buyout and future contract, Dearmon said the buyout has been worked out contractually by the universities. He would not go on the record providing a dollar amount on the buyout or his salary at MTSU, but he did say he received a pay raise with the transition.

In 2019, Dearmon left Bethel University to join Miles’ staff. He was originally hired as a senior offensive consultant. By October of that year, Dearmon was promoted to offensive coordinator for the Jayhawks after Miles fired Les Koenning. Under Dearmon, Kansas’s offense showed improvement. In his first game as coordinator, Kansas racked up 569 total yards and scored 48 points. In the last three games for the 2019 season, the Jayhawks scored over 30 points a game.

The 2020 season was less than stellar for the Jayhawks as they finished the regular season 0-9. Much of the disappointment was credited to graduation especially that of senior quarterback Carter Stanley and the hardships of COVID-19.

“We knew coming into the season it was going to be tough. We started six freshmen,” said Dearmon on the disappointing season.

Much of Dearmon’s offensive strategy is based on a run-pass option (gives the quarterback the option to hand the ball off or throw a quick pass) in a hurry-up offensive scheme. Commenting on Miles’ style of football, Dearmon said he and his former boss had contrasting philosophy offensive schemes when it came to spreading out the offense and the use of fullbacks and tight ends. Miles was focused on clock management and a smash-mouth offense while Dearmon focused on the tempo of the game.

“What you see in an interview [on television] with Coach Miles is what you see in the locker room,” Dearmon said of the Kansas coach. “You never know what he is going to say, but he is very patient and I learned a lot from him.”

The MTSU Blue Raiders will see an offense that may closely resemble Dearmon’s during his tenure at Bethel University. He plans to institute his hurry-up offense focused around the option. For many years under Franklin, the Blue Raiders focused on their passing game leaving the determination of success or failure on the shoulders of the quarterback and his receivers.

“My goal, like every year, is for our team to lead the country in scoring and offensive yardage. We will have to hold onto the ball, preventing turnovers. We will also have to win the battle on third downs,” Dearmon remarked on his goal for the Blue Raider offense.

Dearmon, a 2006 graduate of Bethel, had a stellar career at quarterback. He holds the school’s career and single-season record in passing yards and touchdowns. He finished his Wildcat career with 7,045 passing yards and 77 touchdowns. As a quarterback, Dearmon led Bethel to the school’s first conference title, first playoff appearance.

After serving as a graduate assistant at Bethel, Dearmon spent three seasons as the offensive coordinator at Vigor High School in Prichard, Alabama. In 2008, they won a state championship as his offense averaged 36 points per game. He then took the head coaching position at B.C. Rain High School for two seasons.

From 2013 to 2014, Dearmon was part of the coaching staff at the University of Auburn under Guz Malzahn. He spent the 2013 season as a running backs analyst and the 2014 season as a wide receivers analyst. The 2013 team won the SEC title and played for the National Championship against Florida State.

Much of what Dearmon built as his coaching foundation came from his years with Malzahn, whom he considers to be one of the best offensive minds in football. When Dearmon was lured away from Bethel to work under Miles, numerous Kansas sports talking heads noted Dearmon would be the next great offensive coordinator in college football. When asked about those statements, he humbly replied, “It is an honor to be considered to be at level,” but he still places many coaches ahead of him including Malzahn.

Dearmon earned his first offensive coordinator position at Arkansas Tech, an NCAA Division II team in Russellville, Arkansas. In each of his three seasons as offensive coordinator at Tech, his offense was placed fourth or better rushing offense and several other offensive categories. This included a 360% increase in rushing yards in his first year.

The 2018 season brought Dearmon back to Bethel University serving as the school’s eleventh head coach in football history. He made history once again at his alma mater with a one-year head coaching stint where he commanded the nation’s highest-scoring offense at any level in 2018.

In his one season, Dearmon guided the Wildcats to their best season in school history (10-1). The Wildcats closed the season with a number three national ranking in the NAIA while averaging 540.3 yards per game and a nation’s best 55.0 points per game (the best in the nation including the NCAA and NAIA).

“I loved my time at Bethel building the program as a player and especially as head coach. That’s the most fun I’ve had coaching so far. I had great assistants and a good quarterback. As a former player, I think I was able to do more with the program since there were previous relationships,” said Dearmon about his time at Bethel.

Brad Chappell, Bethel University Senior Associate Director of Athletics has high hopes for his former hire, “I am thrilled that Brent is coming back to Tennessee. Coach Dearmon is a fellow alum, former colleague, and friend of mine. Bethel University is proud of him and we look forward to watching his success at an in-state school. I have no doubt that his hiring will have an immediate positive impact upon the football program.”

With national signing day (Wednesday, February 3) around the corner, the Blue Raider offense looks to pick up key players. One thing will be for certain, it will be exciting to watch whatever offense Dearmon leads.

Carroll County Electric Hears Updates on Projects

HUNTINGDON (January 28) — Carroll County Electric's Board of Directors heard updates on several projects during its monthly meeting at the Carroll County Chamber of Commerce.

Ryan Drewry, Office Manager, said the department's application to participate in the state's Tennessee Consolidated Retirement System has advanced to the actuarial department of TCRS, which provided no timeline for determining the CCED's beginning date of participation or cost.

Danny Brawner, general manager, said the department should receive two new bucket trucks in February. Those trucks were ordered in May 2020.

The Carroll County community is helping raise funds to match TVA funds to assist CCED's customers who are having difficulty paying their utility bills. So far, the local matching funds are $6,850 to be matched equally by TVA, which will match up to $10,000.

Brawner said the main office's customer service lobby remains closed because of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Customers can receive assistance through the drive-up window, via telephone or online.

TEC is continuing construction of its fiber-optic lines around McMoresville and have advanced to the County Farm Road. TEC received federal grants to extend fiber for high-speed internet in the McMoresville and Buena Vista areas. TEC is leasing part of CCED's fiber to connect the areas.

The board meets next on February 25, 2:30 p.m. at the Chamber office.

Dr. Simpson Joins Southern Chiropractic

HUNTINGDON — Southern Chiropractic and Acupuncture in Huntingdon welcomes Dr. Shelley Simpson to the practice. She joins Dr. Brock Martin and Dr. Krista Martin in their practice.

Dr. Simpson is a native of Kenton, Tenn. and a graduate of the University of Tennessee at Martin. During her time at UTM, she was a therapy technician at Cane Creek Rehabilitation, where she performed rehabilitation exercises and functional movements with patients. This hands-on care inspired her to pursue a career in chiropractic with a focus on mobility.

Dr. Simpson attended Logan College of Chiropractic and was awarded the Service Award for being actively involved as the Student Government President, Mentor and Peer Tutor for Anatomy, Physiology, and Neuroanatomy.

Dr. Shelley is trained in manual chiropractic techniques but also gentle treatments such as activator, flexion/distraction and Logan

Dr. Shelley Simpson

Basic Technique. Dr. Shelley is also trained in SFMA (selective functional movement assessment). This is a movement-based diagnostic system that is designed to find the underlying cause of pain by breaking down dysfunctional movement patterns. This is a technique commonly used with athletes of all ages.

Dr. Shelley's true passion is in pediatric chiropractic care. While at Logan University, Dr. Shelley was one of only fifty students who had the opportunity to intern with Dr. Muriel Perillat, a nationally recognized pediatric chiropractor for over 41 years. Through this mentorship, Dr. Shelley learned advanced pediatric treatment techniques including cranial therapies, manual techniques and reflex assessment. Dr. Shelley's advanced training in pediatric care allows her to help children with colic, reflux, ear infections and sleep issues through natural treatments.

"My favorite part of treating pediatric patients is helping alleviate the child's symptoms so the transition into motherhood is better for mom and baby. Listening to mother's say how much better everyone in the house relaxes and sleeps more after visits is one of the greatest rewards!"

Dr. Shelley spent the last year as a chiropractic physician practicing in the Memphis area and is excited to join the team of doctors at Southern Chiropractic and Acupuncture, 159 Court Square, Huntingdon.

David Roberson, Director of Communications for the Tennessee Department of General Services, said, "Key efforts at this time are concentrated on steel erection, balcony construction, exterior sheathing, and interior wall layout. Additional work has begun for exterior mechanical slabs and footings. The project is approximately 35% complete at this time, with an anticipated construction completion in the fall of 2021, with fixture and furniture installation to follow." The Lodge will consist of four levels and house 90 rooms. It replaces the Paris Landing Inn.

It will feature modern room designs, conference space, a full-service restaurant, bar, and lounge overlooking scenic lakes and natural beauty.

Paris Landing State Park is an 841-acre park located on the western shore of the Tennessee River, which is dammed to form Kentucky Lake (160,000 acres). The park sits on the widest part of the lake.

County Mayor Joseph Butler took the lead and telling Blackburn of new industries in the county, including VP Racing Fuels and Dynamix Casting in Huntingdon and Pottery Direct and Cachengo in McKenzie. He noted the five special school districts continue with in-person classes and Bethel University is very successful with its in-person classes.

Butler said the county and municipalities are experiencing increases in sales tax collections, thanks in part, to the expanded enforcement of tax collections of online sales from residents in the county. The county is also experiencing growth from out-of-state residents moving in.

He said two broadband grants is helping TEC company to expand fiber-optic lines in underserved areas

Blackburn said she has pushed for grants to underserved areas to eliminate the digital divide. McMoresville Mayor Phil Williams said he is happy to see the fiber expansion in the McMoresville area.

Blackburn said the county's school systems received a $300,000 grant to expand its distance-learning opportunities. Butler said the school systems are still working to develop the programs.

McKenzie Mayor Jill Holland said McKenzie is also experiencing new residents moving from out of state. Holland did say she was concerned that big tech can limit the free speech of the president. She also said she was disappointed the Congress did not adequately question the election certification and hopes Congress will take action to invest fraud in elections.

Healthcare Workers Fighting COVID-19 with Vaccines

BY BRITTANY MARTIN
brittany@mckenziebanner.com

NASHVILLE (February 1) — On Tuesday, January 26, Henry County Medical Center vaccinated 825 people in one day with their second dose of the COVID-19 vaccine. As of Sunday, Tennessee has vaccinated 654,537 people since mid-December 2020.

So in roughly 1.5 months, Tennessee's healthcare workers have vaccinated nearly as many people as COVID-19 has infected in 11 months.

Tennesseans are fighting COVID-19 with every tool in the arsenal, with several counties issuing mask mandates to keep infection rates down. On Sunday, January 24, the state's percent positive was 9.78 percent; as of Sunday it was 8.52 percent. According to the numbers, it seems like the statewide percentage of positive cases has been trending down over the past month.

However, the war is not over and health officials urge you to keep practicing common sense safety measures such as masking, social distancing, hand-washing, sanitizing and avoiding large gatherings. Coronaviruses mutate regularly; with more infectious variants of the COVID-19 disease now spreading, it is important to stay on guard.

As of Sunday, Carroll County had 3,283 total cases (+101 since last week), 62 hospitalized (+3 since last week), 68 dead (+7 since last week), and 3,041 inactive/recovered (+132 since last week). Over the last 14 days, Carroll County averaged 14.6 new cases per day; 14 days prior, the average was 23.3 new cases per day. Over the last seven days, the average percent positive was 20.5 percent; seven days prior the average was 22.7 percent.

Carroll County announced today they are now vaccinating 70-years-old and above, in addition to risk-based phases 1a1, 1a2 and 1b.

Henry County reported 2,751 total cases (+60 since last week), 62 hospitalized (+3 since last week), 63 dead (+4 since last week), and 2,580 inactive/recovered (+102 since last week). Over the last 14 days, Henry County averaged 10.6 new cases per day; 14 days prior, the average was 16.8 new cases per day. Over the last seven days, the average percent positive was 18.9 percent; seven days prior the average was 22.4 percent.

According to the Tennessee Department of Health website, Henry County is vaccinating 70-years-old and above, in addition to risk-based phases 1a1, 1a2 and 1b.

Weakley County reported 3,527 total cases (+71 since last week), 49 hospitalized (+0 since last week), 52 dead (+4 since last week), and 3,364 inactive/recovered (+75 since last week).

Over the last 14 days, Weakley County averaged 9.5 new cases per day; 14 days prior, the average was 16.5 new cases per day. Over the last seven days, the average percent positive was 13.5 percent; seven days prior the average was 9.2 percent.

According to the Tennessee Department of Health website, Weakley County is vaccinating 70-years-old and above, in addition to risk-based phases 1a1, 1a2 and 1b.

Henry and Weakley counties have a mask mandate in effect until February 27.

Tennessee reported 727,861 total cases (+19,144 since last week), 1,574 hospitalized (-554 since last week), 9,650 dead (+791 since last week), and 683,295 inactive/recovered (+28,960 since last week).

On Sunday, the United States reported 25,921,703 total cases (+1,045,442 since last week) and 438,035 dead (+22,025 since last week) during the COVID-19 pandemic.

In the world, 102,399,513 total cases have been reported (+3.6 million since last week), 2,217,005 have died (+92,812 since last week) during the pandemic affecting 223 countries.

The numbers are too big to fathom, but if you or someone you know has experienced or died from COVID-19, you know that each number represents a person that meant the world to someone. So many are working diligently to save lives, please help them by doing your part: wear a mask, wash your hands, keep your distance, so we can all put this pandemic in the past.

Coach Jasper says he is looking forward to the season. "Although these are trying times, I am extremely optimistic about where our program is headed. We lost some good guys this past season, but are blessed to have many key guys returning in our junior and senior classes. Just before everything began to shut down, we got some great work in with some of our freshmen and red-shirt guys. We were able to sign some phenomenal transfers, so I am eager to get the season underway and continue building our culture together."

The Wildcats needs to replace several key standouts. The Wildcats lost seniors Jeremy Beaulieu, Jeremy Johnson, Reiss Jenkins, Braden Simmons, Eriq Hicks, Robert Beacham and several other important performers. Johnson finished his career with 15 sacks which ranks second on the program's all-time list. He finished with 47 tackles for loss which is 1st on the all-time career list. He was named to the 1st team All-Bluegrass Division squad in 2019. Beaulieu had 325 career tackles which ties him with Tyler Murray for the all-time lead in program history. He was 4th in tackles for loss with 32. He was named second all-conference. Simmons had nine receptions, two of those for touchdowns.

The Cats return several experienced and talented standouts. The Wildcats have their leading rusher back from last season. De'Ontay Tate had 665 yards on 133 carries. He rushed for three touchdowns giving him 11 on his career which is 10th all-time in program history. His 1,822 rushing yards is seventh all-time. Tate was 2nd team All-Bluegrass Division last year.

J'Kobi Reddick, Jakobe Griffin, David Miller, Michael McClain, Trace Pierce, Cole Lyles, Caleb Nelson, Christian Ar-rambide, Blake Meadors, Ray' Quan Wilson, Davius Prather, Devious Christmon, Brandon Moore, David Miller, Vonte Bates, Rodrigo Campos, Caleb Hall and Tyler McCain are also back.

Reddick was 1st team all-conference. He was 6th in the nation in kick-off return yardage with 572. He was 10th in punt return yardage with 195. He had a 95-yard kick-off return last year which is the 3rd longest in program history. Reddick had 1,074 all-purpose yards last season. He had 18 receptions last year, second best on the squad. Griffin led the Wildcats in total tackles with 126. He had 8.5 TFL's and three sacks. Griffin was third in the MSC in tackles per game at 11.5.

Pierce was named 2nd team all-conference. Nelson was named 2nd team all-conference with 17 receptions and three touchdown receptions. He also was second on the team in kick-off returns with 172 yards. Aristilde led Bethel with 30 catches with four of those for touchdowns. Arrambide rushed for nine scores and threw for eight touchdowns. Meadors threw 10 touchdown passes and rushed for three scores. Wilson was fourth in receptions with 12. Prather caught 11 passes with two of those for scores. Christmon was second team all-conference and had three interceptions. He was third on the team with 53 total tackles. Moore and Miller had two picks. Moore was fifth in total tackles while Miller was 6th. Bates led Bethel with three fumble recoveries. Campos hit 42 of 43 point after attempts. He nailed five of seven field goal tries. Hall averaged 36.0 yards per punt.

Marvin Rudd is returning to the program. The Wildcats signed West Alabama QB and grad transfer Jacob Murphree. Jared Gentry, a defensive tackle from University of Memphis will be eligible. Transfer defensive back Kevin George from the University of Colorado will join the program.

Bethel returns 45 lettermen while losing 22. The Wildcats return 24 players who started at various times on offense and 17 who started on defense. They lost eight on offense and 14 on defense who started at various times last year. Four return on Bethel's special teams.

The Cats will run a spread gun offense while playing the 4-2-5 defense.

Coach Jasper spoke about his staff, "I am excited about our staff and how hard they have been working with our guys being remote. After the departure of Kevin Wewers to Kansas, we were able to promote Coach Morgan Cruce from within to run our offense. We were also able to add my dear friend and former Buffalo Bills teammate, Coach Keith Williams as our HB/TE coach. Coach Williams will also serve as our Strength and Conditioning Coach. Along with those changes on the offensive side of the ball we have added Carson Casarahi to work with our QBs. Luckily, there aren't many changes on the defensive side of things. Coach Chris Springer and those guys are back and ready to get after it. We were able to add a bright young man, John Pasley who work as a Defensive Assistant. All phases of the game are extremely important to us here at Bethel and we will continue to have coaches Cody McCallister and Justin Brown coordinating those Special Forces Units."

"Due to COVID-19 we are slated to play an abbreviated schedule and each week will be a challenge. This is the SEC of the NAIA, so this schedule didn't get easier on us. We are excited and will be prepared and ready to go."

Celebrating McKenzie's oldest business and historical record

Leslie A. Haugen

Former G-Man in McKenzie

I like to make the joke that the Feds are just around the corner because Big Brother is always watching. But did you know, for 24 years, a former FBI agent called McKenzie home?

Leslie Arlie Haugen was born January 14, 1916, to Herman and Rebecca Haugen in Mobridge, South Dakota. His father and mother were of Norwegian descent. Herman worked in the lumber industry, and Les wanted to experience more in life than just back-breaking labor like his father.

Les graduated high school with honors and received a football scholarship from the University of South Dakota. In 1939, he earned his law degree and had dreams of working for the FBI. Friends and family told the lanky 6'3" graduate to seek employment at a law firm. They told him, "The FBI will never hire a boy from a small town like Ipswich. You'd better forget that FBI stuff."

Les was determined to prove his naysayers wrong and applied anyway. At the time, there were only 650 men employed as FBI agents.

One day he received a call telling him to report for an interview in Aberdeen, South Dakota. There were 20 other hopeful applicants from North and South Dakota in the room. After the interview, he was told to stay close to a telephone.

He later received a call with instructions to report to the Ward Hotel and interview a "Mr. Fletcher" about a stolen car. Les returned to the FBI field office and wrote up the report. He learned he and one other man were chosen for a position in the FBI.

Les was then instructed to go for a physical examination. Two weeks later, he received a telegram the length of a legal sized sheet of paper advising him of his appointment and instructing him to report to Washington, D.C. There was a section in the telegram advising him to keep his appointment confidential. The telegram had come through the railroad station and by the time it got to Les, everyone in town knew about his appointment.

On October 2, 1939, the Number 17 train called the "Flyer" made a stop in Ipswich picking up the young Les Haugen who was wearing his one pair of shoes, his one suit, hat and topcoat, and a very small suitcase with the rest of his clothing.

He recalled it raining when the train pulled into the station in Washington, D.C. and he thought to himself that he was "in a mighty big place for a country boy." With no knowledge of the area, he took a cab to a hotel near the Justice Building.

He began five weeks of training in Washington. From there, he moved to Quantico, Virginia for firearms training. The "recruits" lived in green Marine barracks. After completing the training course, they had to qualify to continue the training. Les remarked in a 1983 interview that "a couple of fellows didn't make it and were sent home."

While finishing the program, the young men had been observed by inspectors who called each one aside and pointed out things they needed to work on before going on to their first assignment.

One inspector remarked, "Les Haugen is from South Dakota and he looks it!" It was suggested he should get better and more conservative clothes. The one suit he brought from home was an ill-fitting striped suit in what he described as a "sick shade of green." Les purchased two new suits, one gray and the other blue, and a wide brim fedora, a synonymous symbol of the FBI.

His first assignment was in Buffalo, New York working on what he considered simple assignments and investigations. By the fall, he was in Miami, Florida because of an influx of crime. He investigated White Slave traffic, a bank robbery which turned out to be bank embezzlement, and criminals who were from other areas of the country. In the spring, he was sent back to New York.

In 1941, he was transferred to New York City. He was assigned to an investigation that resulted in the first prosecution of German espionage agents in World War II. In October 1941, The Frederick Joubert Duquesne Espionage Case went to trial. 33 members of a Nazi spy ring headed by Frederick Joubert Duquesne were sentenced to serve a total of over 300 years in prison.

Les was then transferred to Jackson, Mississippi under FBI Agent in Charge for Mississippi Percy Wydie II to help in the capture of a convicted bank robber operating in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi. The figurative, Charlie Chapman, who said he would never be taken alive, was killed in an ambush near Philadelphia, Mississippi.

After a transfer to Atlanta, he was sent to Philadelphia where he stayed until he resigned in 1951. His last case involved the apprehension and conviction of two men who had been involved in a kidnapping and murder.

Because of his height, the bureau decided he shouldn't be used in surveillance cases. This led to Les serving as a firearm instructor.

The former agent was proud of his work with the FBI and placed great praise for his former boss, J. Edgar Hoover. "He was a dynamic leader, he didn't please everyone. He probably did more than any single individual in building the respect and stature of law enforcement at all levels."

When he left the FBI, he decided his 12 years of government service was enough. Les ended up working for General Mills in Minnesota in the personnel department. In 1981, at age 60, Les and his wife, Betty, moved to McKenzie where he served as personnel director for Republic Builders Products.

Once in the private sector, he traded in his Fedora for a white Stetson, began gardening and teaching Sunday school. He taught personnel administration at Bethel College, was president of the Rotary Club, a teacher at the First United Methodist Church, director of the Administrative Council and President of the Men's Club. He was appointed McKenzie city judge and served in that position for five years. He lived in McKenzie for over 24 years.

On January 3, 2006, Les died at age 90, at Gateway Hospital of Clarksville from complications of pneumonia.

HUNKER DOWN WITH KES

He 'Hammered' Life Into Us

On Tuesday, April 13, 1954, a young Jim Greengrass, batting 5th and playing leftfield for the Cincinnati Reds, hit four doubles that led his team to victory.

Twenty year old Hank Aaron made his major league debut in that game, also batting 5th and playing leftfield, for the Milwaukee Braves. He failed to get a hit in five trips to the plate.

The very first thing Mr. Aaron taught us about life is it's not how you start—it's how you finish!

The first time I saw him play was at old Sportsman Park in St. Louis in August of 1959. Hank was in centerfield that night. And he was already a certified superstar, having won the NL batting title, an MVP award and the World Series just a couple of years before.

Here's what I remember about that game. The Cardinals had put it out of reach by scoring a parcel of runs early. Hank was on first in the eighth or ninth inning. Most guys by then would be just playing out the string—let's get the game over. Joe Adcock bounced a single up the middle. Hank took off like a flash, flew around second and slid into third just ahead of the throw.

Most players would have jogged down to second and let it be. I was twelve years old but I got the message....

The second thing Hank Aaron taught us about life, we're not going through the motions here!

Hank played with us in those days. We'd choose up sides. And we didn't take the field as Kesley Colbert, John Ingram or Jackie Burns. Heck no! We were Stan the Man Musial, Joltin' Joe DiMaggio and Hammering Hank Aaron! And when you consider it was the Deep South in the late '50's, it was even more of a tribute to Mr. Aaron than we realized.

The last time I saw him play was in Atlanta Fulton County Stadium. This was late in his career, around 1972 or '73. He was back in leftfield. In the second inning someone hit a long fly down the leftfield line that fell into foul territory about five rows into the bleachers.

Hank couldn't have caught it but he only took a step to his right and stopped. I went to coaching from the grandstands. "He's got to get over there! You've got to hustle over in case there is a play!" I gave everyone around an earful of my outstanding baseball knowledge.

A few innings later, another ball was hit, I'm telling you, about the exact same place down the leftfield line as the first one. This time Hank took off with everything left in his aging body, he flew across the foul line, put his right hand on the wall and leaned two rows into the stands and made a fabulous backhanded catch.

He knew the four-foot difference in the two fly balls immediately off the bat!

One of Hank Aaron's most enduring life lessons (I think this one was just for me); if you don't know what the heck you're talking about when you blatantly start to criticize—keep your stupid mouth shut!

I didn't actually see the next lesson. So I may not get it exactly right. But I've heard it so often from folks who would know, you'll get the essence....

Bob Gibson, the legendary pitcher for the Cardinals, was on the mound against the Braves late in his Hall of Fame career. His blazing fastball by then had slowed to mere mortal status. A young Brave hitter cracked one a mile over the fence. He strutted back into the dugout saying something to the effect that, "Gibson wasn't nearly as tough or as good as advertised."

Aaron quietly got up from his end of the dugout and moved down to face the young player. Leaning in close so every word would have the intending impact, Hank explained baseball to the up-and-comer, "Son, if we could roll back ten years, Gibson would have knocked that bat right out of your hands!"

Without fanfare, Hank Aaron set the record straight, stood up for a fellow competitor, dispensed hopefully a dash of humility and gave us a quick snapshot into his wonderful character. Whew! That's almost more life lessons than you can count on both hands!

I don't remember the exact occasion. Maybe it was when he retired; or his induction into the Baseball Hall of Fame. It could have been at any number of lifetime achievement awards Mr. Aaron received over the years. Someone asked his daughter about the moment and her dad, what it meant to her....

Her heartfelt answer I pray is still reverberating around the world, "He was a better father than he was a baseball player."

Add one more lesson to the list.

Respectfully,
Kes

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Carroll County Sheriff's Reports

Debit Card Fraud — Deputies are looking into a recent report of debit card fraud.

Holly Miller told deputies on Jan. 20 that several unauthorized charges had been made on her debit card totaling $133. She said she spoke with her bank and they told her the charges were made through a cash app by a Dresden man, who Miller said she had gone out with on a date.

Protection Order Violation — A warrant was recently issued against Robert Harris, 52, of Bruceton for violation of an order of protection.

According to the report by Deputy Cody Walker, he responded on Jan. 23 to a residence on Mt. Pleasant Church Road after receiving a call that Harris was standing in the front yard yelling at his ex-girlfriend, Holly Sanders. Harris had left the property before the deputy arrived, but Sanders confirmed that Harris had been on the property. Walker noted that Harris had previously been served with a court order to stay away from Sanders and had failed to show up for his court date.

Assault — As of the time of the report, deputies were looking for Kenneth Ray Beckham, 34, of 1450 Dollar Hill Road, Huntingdon, for allegedly assaulting his girlfriend.

According to the report by Deputy Chance Townes, he responded to a residence on Clay Farm Road on Jan. 25 after receiving a call about a domestic assault. Townes spoke with Deanna Holiday, who said that Beckham, her boyfriend, had punched her in the face at their residence and had kept her from leaving for nearly an hour to prevent her from contacting the police. She said she finally did manage to leave, went to the home of relatives, and called the Sheriff's Department. Townes noted that Holiday had a busted lip and blood on her shirt. When deputies went to 1450 Dollar Hill Road, Beckham was not there, and they had not yet made contact with him at the time of the report.

Vandalism — Deputies are investigating recent vandalism and a possible break-in on private property in Lavinia.

Kelly Scott of Lavinia told deputies on Jan. 25 that he went to a house that he owns on Spring Creek Road at around 5:15 p.m. that day and found that the garage door had been kicked in and the lock had been broken on the back door of the house. Scott said he had been there earlier that day and everything had been fine. Damage was estimated at $300 altogether.

After-School Programs Join Forces, Share Resources

MCKENZIE — Renee Hodson, founder of Two Sisters and a Book, and Reverend Garrett Burns, director of Community Engagement at Bethel University, both spoke to McKenzie Rotary Club about their after-school tutoring and mentoring programs.

Both programs were assisted by generous donations from the Moore Fund, administered by the McKenzie Rotary Club. Both programs purchased Chromebook laptop computers with the Rotary funds in an effort to assist students who might need the additional tutoring and support for their school.

Both programs operated independent of each other. However, COVID-19 created some unusual circumstances that brought the two programs more closely together. They were already sharing the Chromebooks as needed. Then, the programs somewhat merged at Webb School to achieve social distancing.

Renee, a certified teacher, who works with special education students at McKenzie Elementary School, brought special talents to the merged program, said Burns.

Two Sisters and a Book

Renee Hobson of Two Sisters and a Book and Garrett Burns of Bethel's Community Engagement Program were the featured speakers at the January 26 meeting of the McKenzie Rotary Club.

has 22 students and use the Chromebooks each day. Rotary assisted by purchasing Chromebooks, some tablets, and playground equipment.

"It's truly been a blessing," said Renee.

The pandemic brought extra financial resources to the programs. The Essential Worker COVID-relief funds allows working parents to pay for the after-school tutoring program.

Garrett Burns said Bethel University's students participate in Community Engagement, a scholarship program first initiated by Stacie Freeman, professor of Sociology. The students get a first-hand look at working with young students at various levels of advancement. Many of the students are pursuing degrees related to the work they are experiencing with the program.

Burns said next school year, 118 Bethel students have shown interest in working with Community Engagement as part of the scholarship program. The targeted number is 20.

The Fellowship Hall Hosts Ribbon-Cutting

BY BRAD SAM

McKENZIE (January 29) — A ribbon-cutting ceremony was held Friday afternoon at The Fellowship Hall ahead of its Saturday grand opening. Owner-operators Weltonette and Jermaine Taylor welcomed community and business leaders, including Mayor Jill Holland, into the venue at 150 Broadway for a sneak peak at the various services offered at the new business. The Fellowship Hall comprises four businesses. The banquet hall is available for rental starting at $150 for four hours. Pamela Hannah operates Pamela's Place, a full-service salon specializing in natural hair braiding. Amber Johnson operates a boutique with stylish clothing and accessories. Weltonette also utilizes part of the building for her services as a body sculpting professional. She offers deep tissue massages, facials, cool sculpting treatments and more. The Taylors also offer a Friday Night Youth Ministry each week from 6-7 p.m. for ages six to 14 featuring teaching, snacks, games and fun. Weltonette relocated from Memphis in 2018, followed soon by Jermaine. He works as a contractor, serving mainly in the Memphis area. The couple wished to remain near Memphis, but sought a small-town environment to start their new venture. Weltonette told The Banner, "With The Fellowship Hall, we're going to provide an elegant, safe, fun venue for the city of McKenzie. It has been our vision, my husband and I, to bring the community a place to plan any events, birthdays, baby showers, Christmas parties, etc. As you walk through, you'll notice The Fellowship Hall has also provided a home for small businesses with women owners... In addition, my husband and I have a big passion for the youth in the community, so we will be providing the youth ministry every Friday." The Taylors reside in McKenzie with two daughters, six-year-old Alaya and two-month-old Jenesis. The Fellowship Hall can be reached at 731-393-3448.
