Congratulations, Graduates!

Congratulations to the Class of 2021! This edition honors you.

Without a doubt, the last year of your education presented numerous challenges. It is a testament to your resilience and determination that you have arrived at this moment. As you go forth, life will present a host of new challenges. Trust yourself. If at first you're not sure what to do, remember this past year; know that you will find the answers; you will meet the challenges and you will come out stronger and wiser.

In this edition, graduates from Carroll County schools and Gleason School are featured as well as our coverage of each school's graduation ceremony. It was an honor to cover this very important moment in your lives. Local businesses sponsored this edition and extend their well wishes to you. Your community is so proud of you.

Congratulations, grads!

McKenzie High School Graduates 76 In Sunday Commencement Ceremony

McKENZIE (May 16) — McKenzie High School held its 2021 graduation ceremonies on Sunday, May 16 in the gymnasium of the school. Seventy-six seniors graduated during the 3 p.m. ceremony. Due to the global COVID-19 pandemic, each graduate was limited to a maximum of 10 guests to attend.

The students marched into the gymnasium two-by-two, the ladies wearing red-colored caps and gowns and the men wearing gray.

Lyndsey Summers led the gathering in the Pledge of Allegiance, Kennedy Green, class president, provided the welcome message, Summers delivered the salutatory address and AJ Murphy delivered the valedictory address.

Nathan Nanney receives his diploma from Jon Davis, chairman of McKenzie School Board.

School Board Chairman Jon Davis handed each student his or her diploma as they crossed the elevated platform as Kelly Spivey, principal announced each student.

The top ten students, in alphabetical order, were: Brandon Boaz, Allie Chappell, Claire Cottrill, Kennedy Green, Olivia Henderson, Will Latimer, Lauren Mansfield, Annabelle Medford, AJ Murphy, and Lyndsey Summers.

Distinguished Scholars were Lilly Bennett, Brandon Boaz, Allie Chappell, Claire Cottrill, Ashlyn Dreyry, Austin Gant, Kennedy Green, Olivia Henderson, Will Latimer, Lauren Mansfield, Annabelle Medford, AJ Murphy, Nicholas Smiley, Lyndsey Summers and Eli Surber.

Scholarships to the seniors total $2,959,736 as of the day of graduation.

The Class of 2021 endured many obstacles, much of which was caused by the pandemic. It was a year of wearing facemasks, quarantines, limited attendance at basketball games, and always a question of whether or not in-person schooling would continue. The class's junior year was cut short in March, when school suddenly stopped for the year, leading to no spring sports.

Kennedy Green, president, said the class has been through much together including the pandemic, the change in principals, the loss of the beloved homecoming parade because of the pandemic.

She recalled Principal Spivey encouraging her to tell students to enjoy every day as part of the opening speech to students.

"As we throw our caps and walk out of these double doors today, I believe this what we must continue to remember. No matter what circumstances come your way, choose to be courageous and see the challenge through, no matter what," concluded Green.

In her speech, Summers said, "...There is a quote from the series finale of The Office that I have always thought applied to this school, the staff and all the students. 'No matter how you get there, or where you end up, human beings have this miraculous gift of make that place home.'"

She said McKenzie High School has "become a second home of mine and you all are like my family. I care so much about each and every single one of you, even if there are some of you I haven't spoken to in a long time."

She said each of the graduates has the same capacity for success and one does not have to leave town or attend a prestigious school to see success.

"We've been a part of history, not that any of us chose to be. We have survived. We have endured online school and those annoying masks. We have had to totally reorganize our lifestyles for the sake of the coronavirus, but we still all made it to the top. That is a success story right there, and I'll never get over how proud I am of all of us for sticking it out and still making the most of high school while we could.

In conclusion, Summers said, "The future is ours. It is scary, but it is ours. I can't wait to see everything we achieve in the next few years, and even more than that, I can't wait to see you all at our first reunion and hear all of your wonderful stories. The Class of 2021 will forever be the class to watch out for, because here we are despite nature itself holding us back. Nothing can stop us now but ourselves. I love you all; you're my family. Now let's graduate."

A.J. Murphy, valedictorian, praised the school, administrators, teachers and parents for their support. He said MHS is probably one of the best public schools one can attend. It has some of the best academic and athletic opportunities one could wish for. It has national winning BETA and DECA clubs and sports teams that advance in the TSSAA tournaments year after year.

Murphy challenged his fellow graduates to know, very little in life is handed to them.

"Most of your success will come as a result of hard work and actions...You will find that you will be solely responsible for many things that you will have to do," said Murphy.

In closing he noted friendships will fade but new friends will come into one's life.

Huntingdon Graduates 73 in Sunday Ceremony

BY JOEL WASHBURN
washburn@mckenziebanner.com

HUNTINGDON (May 16) — Huntingdon High School graduates 73 seniors during the 2 p.m. commencement exercises at Paul Ward Stadium on the campus of the school.

This is the second year to host the ceremony at the stadium due to the pandemic, in which everyone is encouraged to social distance.

The members of the Class of 2021 marched in to the music of "Pomp and Circumstance" and took their respective seat mid-field.

Huntingdon High School Principal Jonathan Kee addressed his last senior class as the school's principal. Next year he will serve as the director of schools. Mrs. Patricia Dillahunt, director, retires on June 30.

Dr. Kee announced the top 10 students. They were: Bethany Miller, valedictorian; Adyson Shands, salutatorian; Alli Reeves; Grant Bartholomew; Emma Raim; Anna Colvett; Jayden McGee; Matthew Jones; Madison Hughes; and Carter Cary.

In her valedictory address, Adyson Shands thanked Dr. Kee, the devoted teachers and faculty, family and friends, and the each of the students for their great strength and drive to make it to graduation day. She praised the faculty for never giving up hope, even when the days were more challenging than one could ever imagine. The teachers' creativeness and innovative ways allowed the class members to successfully complete the school year.

"This year has proven itself to be like no other. Each day was an obstacle, however, it was one we pushed through together. And today, we gather in Paul Ward Stadium, as a class and community, to commemorate each of us on this journey."

"The past twelve years of our lives have been spent as students. However, when I reflect on my time as a whole at Huntingdon High School, the academic lessons are not the first thing that come to mind."

She said she associates her time at HHS with certain words: integrity, honesty, loyalty, kindness, and the list continues.

"Any school can educate you, but it takes a special one to take the time to better each of their students as a person. And for that, I applaud you Huntingdon Special School District."

In her valedictory address, Bethany Miller said the graduates have been together in school for thirteen years.

"Thirteen years later, Miller said, "we prepare ourselves to cross this field one last time as a united class before we go our separate ways and begin a new chapter in our lives."

She said class members have learned it's okay to make mistakes and to learn new lessons that can help one through the challenges.

"We have learned to persevere through challenges because, if this past year has taught us anything, it would be that nothing is guaranteed. We have had anything but a normal year. Despite this, we have taken what we were given, and we made the best of it, which is exactly what we need to do whenever something comes up along the way. And we have learned the lessons that may not have been obvious like don't be scared to dream big."

In closing, she wished her fellow graduates the best of luck on future endeavors and do not forget the lessons learned at Huntingdon.

Following individual awards, each student walked to the front to receive his or her diploma from Dr. Lee Carter as Mrs. Dillahunt announced the students' names.

The traditional passing of the torch for the graduating class to the junior class president. Class of 2021 President Carter Cary symbolically passed the torch to Class of 2022 President Campbell Cary. The tradition has continued for many years.

Clarksburg Graduates 26 in Friday Commencement

BY JASON R. MARTIN
jmartin@mckenziebanner.com

CLARKSBURG (May 14) — The Friday night commencement at Clarksburg High School was an evening filled with tears of joy and sadness as 25 students walked the line receiving their diplomas. One was awarded posthumously in the memory of Emily Cary Peterson, who died in October 2020, following a car accident.

Principal Mrs. Lori Leasure welcomed the guests to the night's events. She reminded the graduates of their journey and told them to have faith in a higher power.

Class Historian Emily Reeves, daughter of Ricky and Pam Reeves, began the student body addresses. She reminded her classmates, "Life is a wonderful, precious thing." She went on to talk about community support during a year of face-masks, social distancing, virtual learning and quarantines that became the new normal.

Class Salutatorian Sarah Derryberry, daughter of Terry and Keli Derryberry, expressed her gratitude "to everyone who has helped and supported me throughout my high school journey. You have shaped me into the person I am today." She spoke to the underclassmen present to remind them to not take things for granted and to "not wish your life away, because before you know it, you all will be sitting here in this position."

Valedictorian Perfect Lor, daughter of Pao Lor and Kang Thao, thanked her parents for raising her "to be persistent regardless of the odds." She went on to thank the faculty of Clarksburg High School for their dedication and "passionate teaching, encouragement and advice."

Director of Schools Lex Suite announced each graduate along with his or her scholarships and academic accolades. With the announcement of their name, school board chairman Corey Bartholomew presented each graduate's diploma.

Before turning their tassels and becoming an alumnus of Clarksburg High School, the seniors presented roses to their parents in tribute to dedication and support.

The top 10 graduates were Perfect Lor, Sarah Derryberry, Emily Reeves, Myles Rogers, Samantha Roney, Michael Schaffer, Danica Follett, Nathan Yewell, Ethan Lindsey and Dawson Marlin.

West Carroll Graduates 68 in Thursday Commencement

ATWOOD (May 13) — Sixty-eight seniors at West Carroll High School became members of the 37th graduating class from the school system, which was formed with the merging of Atwood and Trezevant school systems in 1981-82 school year.

With the temperatures in the mid- to high-50s, friends and family gathered at the West Carroll football field to honor the Class of 2021 during the commencement ceremony. Male graduates wore the traditional maroon cap and gown and the ladies wore gray-colored caps and gowns.

Graduates marched onto the field two-by-two to the music of Pomp and Circumstances. Following the presentation of colors by the Tennessee National Guard, an invocation was offered by Tyler Curtis Johnson.

Mrs. Kelly Todd, principal, thanked family members for their support of the students. She said she watched the graduates progress from freshmen to confident seniors. She encouraged members of the Class of 2021 to cherish the moments with their fellow students. She said graduation is a beginning and they leave as alumni, but "you'll always be a War Eagle."

Preston Caldwell, director of schools, told the graduates that the night marks the beginning of a journey as an adult. In life, you will have many choices. He encouraged them to choose wisely.

Kassidy Simmons offered the welcome address followed by the salutatorian address by Paul Lucas Moore and the valedictorian's address by Lillian Neel.

Moore, son of Nat and Kristie Moore of Atwood, said he told his mom he wanted to be a doctor, wrestler, boxer and superhero when he was four years old - an age when one is not afraid to dream big. He reflected on his time at West Carroll in which the student learned math, science, reading and math. The time on the basketball court as a player also had its lessons, including the fact failure is unavoidable. He said a sign in his bedroom says 'you miss every shot you don't take.'

"I encourage the class of 2021, as we leave here and venture out: cherish the memories and no you can't win them all, but dream big and don't be afraid to shoot."

Neel, daughter of Sally Thompson, gave a "huge shout out to everyone who sacrificed anything to help us to be here tonight. Whether you are family are a teacher, we appreciate it."

To her classmates, Neel said, "First, I hope none of you forget that no matter how crazy life gets, God will always be by your side. Never lose your faith in Him, because He will help you through every change the world throws at you. It's normal to be afraid of change, but we will be taken care of.."

"Second, a wise man once told me, 'never let them win.' The older I've gotten, the more I've seen the truth in his words. If life, people will always try to bring you down. I know this is easier said than done, but don't let them. Know your worth. Every single person in this room is capable of greatness. Don't let anyone tell you otherwise. You have no control over who tells your story, so pick up the pen and write it yourself. you are the one thing in life you can control."

Neel also encouraged her fellow students to go far, far away and experience life and travel. Enjoy the little things. But as her grandfather said, no matter how far away you go, never forget where you came from. After a while, come back and make our community even better. "We are from West Carroll, and we should all be proud of that. We are lucky enough to come from a small town where our teachers actually care about us and we all everyone's name. I know that even within our school, we don't give ourselves enough credit. We can do anything we set our minds to.."

"I couldn't ask for a better group of people to grow up with. In the past year alone, we have proven how strong we truly are. Now, it is our time to show the rest of the world," concluded Neel.

Each graduate was presented his or her diploma once each name was announced individually. Graduate received a single rose to present to their parents before returning to their respective seat among their fellow classmates.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, graduate tossed their mortarboards into the air in celebration. They then exited the ceremony in a single line en route to waitin family members.

The top 10 graduates were Lillian Neel, Paul Lucas 'Luke' Moore, Wade Norbert Smith, Trey Browning, Kaleigh Marie Wilson, Riley Weaver, Alyssa Kerby, Gabriel York, Jaycan Martin and Emily Ramlow.

Gleason Graduates 24 in Friday Commencement

BY JOEL WASHBURN
washburn@mckenziebanner.com

GLEASON (May 14) — Twenty-four seniors at Gleason High School graduated during commencement exercises on Friday, May 14 in the Gleason gymnasium. The event caps a year of uncertainty with a worldwide COVID-19 pandemic that canceled or altered many events, limited attendance at school athletics, and placed a lot of uncertainty of whether or not school would continue as in-person or virtually.

Lee Lawrence, principal, said the graduates endured the uncertainty and preserved. He said the graduates will have stories to tell their children about their high school years.

While the pandemic appears to be waning thanks to the rollout of vaccines, attendance at the ceremony was limited.

In keeping with tradition, the graduates walked in two-by-two and took their respective seats at the floor level of the gymnasium. Also a tradition is the showing of a video of photographs of each senior, from their early childhood photographs to their senior photograph.

Chasney Brawner, valedictorian, addressed the challenges of the pandemic during her address to the gathering.

"We have overcome many obstacles throughout the days of our senior year - and we should be so proud of ourselves. A year ago, we didn't know if and when we would get the opportunity to return to class in person, and if our senior year would have the special events that the previous graduates were able to experience. Our administration has made sure that we were able to enjoy our last few days as a Bulldog, and for that, I am so very thankful...

"Our new chapter begins tonight. Set personal goals, and work hard to achieve them. Your goals will help to keep you focused. Upon successfully reaching your goals, you will be closer to reaching your destination. Now go out, work hard, focus on your goals, do not look in any direction but straight ahead, and most importantly, believe in yourself and remember that failure is not the opposite of success, it is actually a major part of it. Hard work, dreams, and dedication all add up to equal success. That is what has brought us to this day, and that is what will take us into our next chapter. As Walt Disney once said, "If you can dream it, you can do it."

"Our journey will not be an easy one, and we will face many trials and temptations along the way. Always remember to be strong and to stand up for what you believe in and do what you know is right. It will be tough at times, the Bible tells us that trials will take place but with God's strength and our faith in Him, we will overcome. Deuteronomy 31:6 states, "Be strong and courageous. Do not fear or be in dread, for it is the Lord your God who goes with you. He will not leave you or forsake you." We also have to lean on each other even though we are leaving and going our separate ways. Together, we can take a stand to overcome obstacles. Together, we are a team. Together, we are the class of 2021," concluded the valedictorian.

Elijah Young, class president and salutatorian, addressed the audience and his fellow graduates.

"Tonight, we are all thinking of 'lasts'. Not only us, but our parents, our friends, and the administration. Today is our final official day as high school students, so, let's all take a moment and thank those who helped get us to this point, and no I'm not talking about Photomath, Quizlet, and most importantly, Slader. In all seriousness, we thank first and foremost our parents and family, for their love, support, and encouragement. We would also like to thank faculty, administrators, cafeteria staff, and custodians for all they have done for us.

"2,555 days - We are teenagers for 2,555 days. One day we are walking into high school as freshmen, not quite sure what to expect, and the next, we are walking out as graduates ready to face the world. Life passes quickly and no one gets to press rewind. Nor are we able to press pause or fast forward. If we've learned anything in the last few years it's to take it all in.

Young continued, "Let's carry that lesson into our future - Let's live fully and never take anyone or anything for granted. Play your hardest in the game even if you are tired. Go out with your friends even if your heart has just been broken. Surround yourself with those who keep you the happiest, but who also keep it the most real. Appreciate the arms that hold you when you are down and then reach out to help you up. Fall in love with someone that makes your heart stop and your head go crazy. Study for the test, you will be glad. Eat the burger. Order the milkshake! And by all means, record it all in pictures and videos.

"The future is and should be bright, but, like our brief four years in high school, what makes life valuable is that it does not last forever. What makes it precious is that it ends. We know that now more than ever. And I say it today, of all days, to remind us that time is luck. So, do not waste it living someone else's life, embrace who you are! Find your true self and fight for what matters to you. Even if you fall short, is there a better way to live? Love who you are and never let hard days get you down or cause you to doubt your worth. We have to be greater than what we will suffer. Remember that every bad day is followed by a new day and that in all things, "this too shall pass". So, be hopeful in hard times and humble in good times. And importantly, do not be afraid to take a chance...

"In closing, as I look around here today, at you and all the people who helped us become who we are, I know it feels like we are saying goodbye, but we will carry a piece of each other into everything we do next. For 13 years, we have walked the same path. Now, we will embark upon 24 individual journeys. And as we do, it is my hope that we will remember at least these three things:

Take it all in - time flies but you're the pilot.

"Be yourself - everyone else is taken.

"Take a chance on your dreams - you'll win some, you'll lose some ... you'll learn a lot," concluded Young.

Graduates included: Elizabeth Jane Bailey, Jayden Nathaniel Biggs, Aayden Kumar Black, Chasney Renee Brawner, Cory Danae Burke, Paige Cheyenne Chandler, Haley Anne Clark, Jacob Jefferson Cochran, Caitlin Elizabeth Cook, Jacqueline Roseaaron Marie Ferrett, Jenna Belle Fowler, Bryan Austing Gallimore, Christina Marie Leigh Henry, Cayden James Huges, Cheyenne Elizabeth Lamb, Jetta Victoria Grace Latch, Chad Wayne McKnight, Jr., Lance Tyler Montgomery, Olen Ty Reed, Aliyah Naira Rosa, Lillian Jayde Ruesken, Lexia Elizabeth Snider, Cole Haiden Turnbow, and Elijah Malik Young.

The top 10 students were: Chasney Brawner, Elijah Young, Caitlin Cook, Christina Marie Henry, Cory Danae Burke, Jenna Belle, Lillian Jayde Ruesken, Lexia Elizabeth Snider, Jacob Jefferson Cochran, and Lance Tyler Montgomery.
