Three Generations At Spivey Eye Clinic

McKENZIE — Dr. Brooke Spivey, the oldest daughter of Dr. Scott Spivey, began her practice at Spivey Eye Clinic on 45 Hospital Drive in McKenzie last month, making her the third-generation Spivey to join the business, after her dad and her grandfather, Dr. A.L. Spivey III. Brooke, a 2014 graduate from McKenzie High School and a 2017 graduate of the University of Tennessee at Martin, graduated with her doctorate degree from the Southern College of Optometry in Memphis this May.

Brooke Spivey grew up watching her dad and her grandfather work in optometry which is part of the reason she went into the practice. She always wanted to go into the medical field, and she enjoyed the flexibility of her dad's schedule as an optometrist. She job-shadowed and had a mentorship at Northwest TN Eye Care in Martin

Don Barger (left) was administered the oath of office by Charlie Trotter, city attorney.

Trezevant Approves Budget, Accepts Resignation

TREZEVANT (June 8) — The City of Trezevant adopted a new budget for the 2021-22 fiscal year beginning July 1 during its Tuesday, June 8 meeting. During the meeting, the board inducted Don Barger as a councilman to replace Christie Creysse, who resigned in May. The board accepted the resignation of Eddie Granger, who submitted his resignation through written correspondence read during the meeting.

A tax rate 67 cents per $100 assessed value on real estate will fund a $403,700 including the General Fund, Street Aid, and Solid Waste Budget plus another $596,475 for the Water and Sewer Department, which includes $300,000 in capital improvements to the water wells and sewer system.

The board approved rate adjustments of 50 cents on the minimum bill for usage of 1,000 gallons and $1.03 on the minimum sewer rate. Jeff Goad said a rate hike was mandated after the proprietary fund experienced financial losses over the last two years. The city used the recommended rate of increase as proposed by the Tennessee Association of Utility Districts. Part of the capital expenses includes a new water line, replace wells and sewer lift stations.

A second and final reading on the budget is June 22 at the Trezevant Senior Citizens Building.

Nancy Fowler, a resident, and her daughter, Tina Peevyhouse voiced concern about a certified letter Fowler received requiring her to bring her real estate up to city standards.

Peevyhouse said her mother is working to improve the property. She said her mother was also unclear on some of the terminology of the letter. Some of the confusion included a fence that apparently did not meet code.

After considerable discussion, the board agreed to extend the time to comply until December 31 and to research the requirements of fencing.

City Attorney Charlie Trotter administered the oath of office to Don Barger, who immediately was placed at the council table and voted on the evening's business.

Barger is a retired associate of Milan Arsenal. He moved to Trezevant in 1967. He is married to Scarlett, a retired associate of the county of Carroll.

Hunter Ensley, Tennessee Vols Headed to College World Series

Following June 12 and June 13's subsequent wins against the Louisiana State University Tigers in the Knoxville Super Regional at Knoxville's Lindsey Nelson Stadium, the University of Tennessee baseball team is scheduled to play in its first College World Series since 2005. This will be the University of Tennessee's fifth ever appearance in the College World Series. Tennessee's first game is June 20 at the TD Ameritrade Park in Omaha, Nebraska. The Vols will play the University of Virginia. Time of game is to be determined. ESPN networks will televise the game.

Huntingdon native Hunter Ensley is a freshman outfielder on the University of Tennessee team. He is the son of Marty and Alice Ensley and younger brother of Carson Ensley. Hunter was the first athlete in Huntingdon High School history to be a finalist for both Mr. Football and Mr. Baseball. His junior year, he batted

.632 with 44 runs, 12 doubles, two triples, seven home runs and 43 RBI. He also helped lead the Mustangs football team to a 13-1 record and appeared in the Class A state semifinals as a senior. He was a star football player for the Huntingdon Mustangs, earning the TSWA Class A All-State honors twice (in 2018 and 2019).

Hunter Ensley was the Perfect Game number 9 ranked player in Tennessee, Perfect Game number 52 ranked outfielder in the nation and Perfect Game Top 500 number 292 ranked player. He is a two-time Perfect Game Preseason Underclass All-America Selection, a two-time finalist for Tennessee Class A Mr. Baseball, and a two-time TSWA Class A All-State Selection in 2018 and 2019. He was also the 2019 All-West Tennessee Baseball Player of the Year.

Ensley, number 18 on the team, made his collegiate debut as a pinch hitter in the ninth inning at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte game March 9.

The University of Tennessee Volunteers are ranked 2 in SEC baseball and have a 50-16 record for the 2021 season. If the team secures five more wins, they will set a Tennessee program record, topping the 1995 team's 54 wins. It also means Tennessee baseball would win its first national championship in the school's history.

HCMC Has Positive Projections on COVID, Hospital

PARIS — The outlook for Henry County Medical Center, particularly as it relates to COVID-19 and hospital volumes continue to be very positive, CEO Lisa Casteel announced during her community update for June.

Henry County continues to experience low COVID-19 cases, despite a recent uptick, Casteel said. "There was a two-week period in May where the hospital was averaging six or seven patients per day, so we monitored that very closely. But those numbers came right back down to our normal one to three in-patients with COVID-19. I reached out to other hospitals in the area and only one other hospital was experiencing a slight upward trend. All others continue with low to no levels of COVID-19."

As for vaccinations, Henry County is at 33% in first dose vaccines while the state of Tennessee is at 39% first dose vaccinations. Casteel reiterated HCMC was still administering vaccinations and people can make arrangements by contacting the hospital at (731) 642-1220. She also noted that other locations are offering the vaccine as well, including

Walgreens, CVS and Wal-Mart.

Casteel said during her update that the organization is following CDC guidelines for all hospitals, so masking is still in place at HCMC and its affiliated facilities and clinics.

Patient volumes at HCMC continue to bounce back, according to Casteel, and she expects those numbers to continue to trend upward. "In January and February, we were at 70 percent of our volumes and currently some of our services lines are at 90-percent volumes, so we're still not all the way there but we are going to continue to experience increases."

HCMC celebrated Healthcare Week in the month of May, which allowed the organization to recognize its partners who have been working under the stress of the pandemic. Those affected by COVID-19 were also recognized as HCMC lined Tyson Avenue with luminaries in honor of each COVID-19 patient that was either treated or passed away in the facility during the past year.

Looking ahead to June, HCMC will highlight telehealth and provide information on its newest tele-health initiatives at Eagle Creek Clinic and Transitions. Also, June is Men's Health Month so HCMC will be focusing on the many health conditions men most commonly face during their lifetimes.

To view the entire update from Casteel, you can watch on our YouTube channel here: <https://youtu.be/J-H9wAygZ-wb> For more information about HCMC, its health initiatives, COVID-19, or service offered, go to www.hcmc-tn.org.

Two Arrested for Drugs While on Moped

McKenzie Police Department arrested a McKenzie woman and a Sharon man for drugs after a traffic stop on a moped on June 8 around 4:19 p.m. Patrolman Dalton Raspberry and Patrolman Coleman and Patrolman Dennett initiated the stop of the moped, which Gearin was driving. A check of his license revealed a suspended status.

A search of a backpack with the two subjects revealed 3.3 ounces of a green leafy substance believed to be marijuana, THC wax-style paraphernalia, another baggie with 14.3 grams of marijuana, approximately 14 'hits' of LSD, a package of THC cartridges, three 3.5 grams of psilocybin mushroom-infused chocolate bars, a digital scale, multiple torch lighters, a fake driver's license with the name David South, $1,249 in a wallet. In a purse was Ms. Jamie Carter's license, two packs of vape cartridges, watermelon THC-baked bars, torch lighter, grinder with marijuana residue, and vape pens.

Once at jail, Ms. Carter stated she dropped her pack of cigarettes in the floor. Nearby was a clear baggie with approximately .5 grams of marijuana and two green pills.

Gearin was charged with driving on a suspended license, violation of financial responsibility, expired registration, possession of schedule I (LSD), possession of meth, possession of marijuana, and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Ms. Carter was charged with possession of marijuana, possession of meth, contraband in a penal facility, possession of drug paraphernalia.

Ms. Carter had previously pled guilty to domestic assault and theft and failed to report to jail to start her 11-month sentence. She is ineligible for bond on the new charges.

of $1.1844, a rate equal to the certified tax rate of more than 20 years. One of the highlights of the budget is the final $884,000 payment on the financing bond for the construction of McKenzie High School, constructed in 1998.

The budget represents a two-percent pay raise for administrators, faculty, and staff plus a $1,000 bonus in November, just prior to the Christmas holiday.

The $9.35 million budget represents a .8 percent increase from the FY2021 budget, and funds 112.65 full-time equivalent licensed positions plus approximately 35 substitute teachers. The BEP funding formula is based on 1,200 students through a hold harmless provision for this year following a pandemic. The actual number of students is estimated at 1,146.

The majority of the budget is funded through the state's Better Education Plan (BEP) funds and local sales and property taxes.

The school receives $729,846 (estimate) from the federal government and will receive ESSER 3.0 funds, as part of the pandemic relief funds. A total of 22.85 full-time equivalent positions are funded by federal funds.

While the long-term debt retires in April, 2022, the Board began discussions about constructing a new all-purpose facility at McKenzie High School to accommodate practices of sports teams, band, and other activities. The present, single gym, is used for physical education, school assemblies, sports practices, and sporting events.

The Board voted overwhelmingly to again pursue construction of the all-purpose facility. Karen Fowler was the lone no vote. It was considered several years ago, however, the board at that time wanted to delay construction - closer to the end of the school's bonded indebtedness, which occurs in April 2022. ESSER funds will fund a portion of the building, pending approval the funding authorities.

Lynn Watkins, director of schools, said the estimated cost of the facility has increased tremendously since it was first proposed several years ago.

Significant upgrades to school sites are being funded by ESSER - a pandemic relief fund. Those are air conditioning at both the elementary and middle school gymnasiums. Other improvements include upgrades to the locker rooms at the middle school gymnasium. The air condition will be placed on the front exterior of the gymnasium, said Watkins.

Fowler proposed the exterior of the McKenzie Elementary School be painted. She had an estimate of $133,000 to complete the work. She noted the exterior has peeling paint and mold on the north side of the building. She recommended the district develop a long-range plan for the replacement of the elementary and middle schools.

The board voted against Fowler's motion to paint MES.

A contract for the middle school and high school softball and baseball teams to use the city-owned fields was approved, with Fowler the lone no vote.

Fowler, Chad Brown, and George Cassidy said the respective booster clubs made significant upgrades to both the softball and baseball fields in recent years. Over the last three years, the OnDeck Club made $12,000 improvements to the city-owned softball fields, said Fowler. She also noted eight to nine of the field lights do not work and the scoreboard worked during one game, the final one of the 2021 season.

The board approved the contract of $3,500 annually to use the city fields, with the city providing certain services.

Watkins said the 2021-22 teaching positions are filled at this time. Newly employed are Luke Anderson, sixth grade math; Dylan Benson, high school science; Morgan Bromley, fifth grade English language arts; Nickolas Cobb, seventh grade science; Rachel Edlin, first grade; Tyler Holt, eighth grade math; Morgan Klinzing - CDC at the elementary school; Hope Powell - first grade; and Ashley Sellers, second grade.

City's actual payment) for a multimodal grant.

The City will not increase property tax rates. Full-time employees will receive a 50 cent an hour raise.

The Council approved Resolution 21-002 for the redistricting process of the City Wards. Each ward will supply an individual to serve on a six-person committee. Following multiple committee meetings, a recommendation of redistricting or abolishing the ward system will be given to the Council to vote on during the August meeting.

If the Council votes to abolish the six wards in McKenzie, the City's charter will have to be amended and approved by the Tennessee Legislature.

Before the meeting, Councilmembers were presented with two proposals on lightning alert/warning systems. The system by Thor Guard is considered a prediction system that would cost the city approximately $20,000 for two units (City Park and Mulberry Park). The Thor Guard system would have a warranty that could be re-established at a yearly rate of $400. The second system by Earth Networks is a lightning detection system that would cost the city $19,000 with a five-year contract. At the end of the contract, the city would have to re-enter into another yearly rate contract.

In regards to Mulberry Park, the Council was informed by Nicole Brown of a planned community event scheduled for June 12. Ms. Brown also voiced her concerns about the conditions at Mulberry Park in regards to the walking track and hazardous playground equipment. Parks Director Mike Beasley stated he was aware of the event and his crew was working to get everything ready. He added the playground equipment could not be replaced or repaired because the manufacturer was no longer in business.

Public Works Director Johnny Mercer said he would have the old playground equipment removed by Friday afternoon.

In other business, the Council approved the payment of $5,642.00 to Tencarva Machinery for a sewer pump.

During department reports, Mercer stated he was pursuing the possibility of purchasing or leasing a new heavy brush truck for the department. The current truck has over half a million miles on it and is not holding up well. $12,000 has already been spent on repairs in 2021, and it may need a new engine ($18,000 before installation).

Mercer received a proposal for a new truck from River City Hydraulics from Sherwood, Arkansas. The proposal lists the truck's value at $157,155.52 with a monthly lease of $2,800 over five years (total cost $168,000).

Fire Department Captain Kevin Hill informed the Council of points in the 2021-22 budget. Earmarks were made for five seats of turnout gear valued at $14,7000 and $25,000 from capital outlay to purchase a new brush. The current brush truck was not designed to carry the heavy water tank and the weight is damaging the truck's axles.

Hill also stated the fire department received 41 calls in May, 17 were EMS assists. The number of assists concerned the Council due to the long wait time for ambulances to arrive at the scene. Mayor Jill Holland said she had made Baptist Hospital-Carroll County aware of the issue.

During Beasley's report, he stated the department had wrapped up the regular ball season and were continuing the regular mowing schedule. He added the TWRA sent their biologist Michael Clark to examine the City Park Pond. Clark stated the City was not at fault for the pond turning-over. Turnover occurs when a sudden cooling event triggers the top layer to cool and sink. This mixing action produces an anoxic environment in which fish simply cannot survive. Common cooling events that may trigger this process are large amounts of cool rainfall during a storm or possibly an unusually cold night during the early fall.

He continued his report to say Nights of Broadway begins June 17. The Farmers Market had a successful season-opening on June 5. He finished by stating he had not heard from Steve McAdams about a date for Casting for a Cure fishing rodeo.

The next meeting of the McKenzie City Council is July 8 at 6 p.m.

while attending UTM, which showed her the different ways optometrists could practice. She also attended two externship rotations—one in Louisville and one in Chattanooga—and one internship rotation while attending the Southern College of Optometry. She thinks it is "pretty cool" to continue her family's legacy, as they are the people who influenced her and made her want to practice optometry.

Dr. Brooke Spivey is trained in optometric laser use, a skill which is not yet approved in Tennessee. Being fresh from college means she knows many new techniques, as technology and legislation in optometry is rapidly changing. She is excited to use her knowledge to help care for people in her community. One thing she learned from her dad is that when patients go to the doctor's office, their appointment should be all about them. It is the doctor's job to not only take care of a patient's eyes but to listen to patients.

Brooke Spivey married Corey Burress this April. Corey is from Martin and works in construction. The couple currently resides in McKenzie but are in the process of building a new home in Martin.

Dr. A.L. Spivey plans to retire from the business October 1 after 55 years of practice. After his retirement, he plans to maintain his optometry license so he can fill in for his son or his granddaughter if needed. He is proud of Brooke and is happy to see her serve her hometown and continue the family legacy at Spivey Eye Clinic. His patient exam room will become Brooke's when he retires.

Dr. Scott Spivey has practiced optometry for 27 years at Spivey Eye Clinic and has two patient exam rooms at the clinic. He will continue his practice alongside his daughter at Spivey Eye Clinic.

The Spivey Eye Clinic business practice originated over 100 years ago, well before Dr. O.C. Wells Jr. bought the business in 1937. Dr. A.L. Spivey, III of Union City started his practice in McKenzie in 1967, joining Dr. Wells. Dr. Scott Spivey joined his father's practice in 1994, the same year Dr. A.L. Spivey bought out Dr. Wells. The current Spivey Eye Clinic building was built in 1995. The building has four total patient rooms and modern optometry equipment. There are eight full-time employees and three full-time doctors at Spivey Eye Clinic which serves patients in many West Tennessee counties.

Spivey Eye Clinic is open Mondays from 9:30 a.m. to 12 p.m. and 1:30 to 5 p.m., Tuesdays through Fridays from 8:30 a.m. to 12 p.m. and 1:30 to 5 p.m., and Saturdays from 8:30 to 11 a.m. The clinic's doctors and staff welcome new patients. To book an appointment, you can call (731) 352-2473.

Butler said the 2020-21 fiscal year budget should close on June 30 with a $1 million surplus. "The fund balance is strong," said the mayor, who noted the 2020-21 fiscal year was unusual with the budget largely affected by COVID-19 influencing both revenues and expenditures. State and federal agencies provided COVID relief to the county. The mayor noted the 2021-22 FY budget includes $496,000 for improvements to the airport and $600,000 to Carroll Academy, both fully funded through state agencies. The county has experienced growth in industrial development, residential development, and sales tax revenues, which he called "record amounts." The county also received record payments in lieu of taxes, said Butler.

The recent cap of $50,000 annually to the "growth" contribution to the Carroll County Watershed Authority should net $100,000 in revenue to the county.

The tax rate is divided as follows: General Fund $1.0701; Solid Waste $.0810; Highway $.0750; School Transportation $.0769; and General Debt Service $.1101.

Donations to non-profit organizations remain unchanged. Those are: Rescue Squad, $3,000; Gordon Browning Museum, $5,000; McKenzie Memorial Library, $6,000; Carl Perkins Center, $25,000; Tennessee Rehab Center $500; McKenzie Senior Citizens $200; Carroll County Shooting Sports Park, $10,000; WRAP Organization, $3,823; Total - $53,523.

The budget includes a $4,000 annual raise for Stacey McCaleb, the county financial officer. Kenny Jackson, judicial commission, who performs warrant service for law enforcement officers, was granted a raise to $15,000 annually. He was receiving $400 monthly, which was the lowest in the state. The budget also includes funding for a new roof on the courthouse and three coroners, who serve in rotation and receive on-call pay for pay if they respond to a scene. Presently, the county has one coroner.

In other resolutions, a Redistricting Committee was established the legislative districts for the commissioners to maintain equal representation in accordance with the findings of the 2020 U.S. Census. Redistricting must be completed following the decennial Census. Mayor Butler said the results of the 2020 Census are not yet released. The recommended members of the Redistricting Committee are: Larry Spencer, John Mann, Vince Taylor, Jeremy Fowler, Dr. Jay Phipps, Peg Hamlett and Joseph Butler.

HUNKER DOWN WITH KES

A Man For All Seasons

Daddy woke me up at first light the morning after I graduated from college with a 28 inch McCulloch 142 chainsaw in his hand, “Son, get up! Mother’s got breakfast on the table. We’ve got work to do.”

He was excited about the day. About life. About cutting...whatever it was we were about to cut!

I laid there for a moment, collecting my thoughts. I’m 22 years old. I just graduated from the highly respected University. Surely I had earned the right to sleep in one day—at least till 6 AM!

Daddy didn’t tolerate dawdling.

I was buttoning my shirt in the half darkness as I stumbled toward the kitchen when it dawned on me; we don’t even own a chainsaw! I was washing down my second biscuit with some cold milk when I remembered I was taking Debbie Dillard swimming at Paris Landing State Park today.

I stared at the mimosa tree in disbelief. It took up half of our backyard! We’re talking an all day job here! Why in the world did he decide NOW was the time to cut this thing down!

And what am I going to say to Debbie...

I don’t know to this day if Dad was testing me. Or showing me he was still the boss. Was this some kind of teaching moment? Or did he just need help taking down a tree that had outgrown its living space.

You never knew with Dad. Mom would talk your ear off. Explain everything to you in perfect English two or three times. And then ask if you had questions. Dad just kinda pointed you toward what he expected you to do...and expected you to do it!

Daddy didn’t encumber us with lots of rules. He didn’t sit us down at any particular age and explain life to us. He never got into the right and wrong of things. Now, if you messed up, he was on you in a nanosecond. And he’d set you straight quicker than that!

But even then, as he intervened directly to get a point across, he’d end by saying, “You know better than that.”

And guess what. We most always did.

He seemed to do things backwards at times. If I hit two homeruns and won the game for our team, he wouldn’t say a word. He’d just find some firewood that needed to be stacked or some fence row for me to clear. If I struck out twice with the bases loaded and we lost, he’d put that big arm around my shoulder and tell me how he liked the way I hustled after that ground ball in the second inning.

You could make fun of the women’s hats at church. You could drop a fire cracker surprisingly close to your little brother. You could get in a fight with George Sexton and tear your shirt half off. Dad would let that pass. He figured it was part of growing up.

You hint you didn’t like something Mother cooked or ignored a direct statement from her or, Heaven forbid, you didn’t say “yes ma’am” quick enough... He’d be on you like a duck on a junebug!

As this Father’s Day approaches, a thousand thoughts race through my mind. But mostly, I am just thankful all over again!

He would return from Tupelo after delivering a load of hogs and before he could climb out of that old International truck I’d meet him with a ball and glove. He’d never get in the house. We’d play pitch till dark. I didn’t realize he’d driven 300 miles, fought twice with those hogs and probably skipped lunch.

He didn’t seem to notice either.

He’d let me follow along when I was too young to help. He’d take my side if Leon got to pushing me around. He showed me how to hold that hammer down toward the end and drive nails like a man. He treated me like a real person... before I became one.

I often thought he gave us too much credit for “knowing what to do” until I realized he honored us by trusting us, giving us the leeway, to figure out a bit of life as we went along.

Of course, he didn’t take his eyes off of us. Especially Leon!

At my college graduation Mom, as usual, was doing the talking. About what a fine young man I was turning into. What a special day this was. The sky was the limit!

Dad stood quietly off to the side. Without speaking. But if you knew him at all, you could see the pride bursting out all over him.

That made the day special for me.

And oh, Debbie Dillard and I never made it to Paris Landing. But, I’m telling you, she hauled mimosa limbs out to the road all day long like she was born to it.

Dad had that effect on people.

Love,
No. 2 Son

The Elements of Journalism

- Journalism’s first obligation is to the truth.
- Its first loyalty is to citizens.
- Its essence is a discipline of verification.
- Its practitioners must maintain an independence from those they cover.
- It must serve as an independent monitor of power.
- It must provide a forum for public criticism and compromise.
- It must strive to make the significant interesting and relevant.
- It must keep the news comprehensive and proportional.
- Its practitioners must be allowed to exercise their personal conscience.

Much like the physician’s hippocratic oath, journalists strive to live by these nine principles.

Harold Ross Martin
Friend, Mentor, Role Model

Harold Ross Martin was born December 11, 1929, to Luther Lee (1889–1961) and Mossie Cooper Martin (1892–1967). He was the youngest of five children; Caywood, Hazel, Kathryn and Rachael Jean.

When Ross turned fourteen, he was able to travel to Nashville and work at the railway terminal. Since his father was employed with the railroad as a mail clerk and schools didn’t keep up with absenteeism, he began working each December for the next two years.

During his junior year at McKenzie High School, Ross played tackle on the football team. His coach was the legendary Lon Varnell who brought the T formation home after a summer at the University of Kentucky. It was the same year he met his wife Martha Elizabeth “Tinsy” Fite.

As a senior, he continued playing football for the Rebels and served as team captain. After graduation, he completed a year at Draughon’s Business College in Paducah before marrying Tinsy on June 4, 1948.

As a married man, Ross started working for the Ward Coffee Company. He was expected to call on country grocery stores. His route took him from Dover to the Cumberland River, where he and other travelers were expected to ford the shallow waterways since there was no bridge at the time.

“I remember going across the river and getting stuck crossways. I had to get a tractor to pull me out,” he recalled in a 2000 interview. He later worked in the grocery business with his brother Caywood.

In 1955, he began working with Metropolitan Life Insurance as a salesman, later moving up to management. Over the years, he was awarded many honors, including being elected to the Million Dollar Round Table, a distinction for which only 3% of the world’s life insurance agents qualified each year.

While Ross worked in insurance, Tinsy was the adoring wife and homemaker with their two children, Carol and Phillip.

He was known for being civic-minded, one of his early pursuits was the establishment of the McKenzie High School Booster Club. In 1968, Ross along with J.A. Abernathy, Wilbur Headen and Kermit Holland started the program.

In 1976, he began running with two friends, Tommy Putman and Clark Brown. What started as a run around the block evolving into much more. In 1980, at the age of 50, Ross ran his first 26.2-mile marathon. Over the next five years, he ran five more marathons in Huntsville, Alabama.

“After the last one, I couldn’t run anymore. My legs just gave out on me,” he said. At his last physical exam, the doctor wanted him to return in a year for a check-up. After waiting 18 months, he scheduled an appointment citing the concern, “My energy level had started to go down.”

He was diagnosed with stage C prostate cancer. Stage D is considered the fatal stage. Although he wasn’t given a good prognosis, he immediately began undergoing treatment. Surgery, chemotherapy and radiation treatment were all employed in the fight.

He was unable to return to work and was forced to retire in 1988. But 1994, he was able to start back to work as an independent broker. Ross insisted cancer changed his life for the better, stating he appreciated things after his battle with cancer.

Ross worked to give back to the cause when he was made honorary chairman of McKenzie’s first Relay of Life campaign.

In his retirement, he stayed active. Music was a big part of his life as he played piano for the Baptist Church, off and on for over 60 years. He played golf with seniors, recording two hole-in-ones. Ross was a Rotarian, past president and Paul Harris Fellow.

Ross was known to many in the community as a friend, mentor and role model. He was a man of character, integrity and compassion. In May of 2010, Ross died and was buried alongside Tinsy, who died in 2006, at Mount Olivet Cemetery in McKenzie.

Inglenook Book Club News

The Inglenook Book Club met in June at Lakeside Assisted Living Center with 20 members and two guests present. Hostesses were Carolyn Goodwin and Victoria Ard, assisted by Elaine Williams.

After calling the meeting to order, President Moore introduced Joel Washburn, Editor and Publisher of the local newspaper, The McKenzie Banner, owned by Tri-County Publishing, Inc. He presented a most interesting and informative program on the newspaper business in general and outlining the different ways in which customs, mores, and governmental oversight have influenced what can and cannot be published in print.

For instance, not that many years ago whenever a female's name was published, if married, she was always referred to Mrs. with husband's name following, while unmarried ladies were Miss with full name following. That does not hold true anymore.

The Banner used to publish the "Hospital Report" each week that listed patients' names. However, governmental health privacy laws now restrict what can and cannot be released by healthcare professions about patient injuries or health conditions.

Probably the greatest impact on the newspaper publishing business is the advent of the internet. Many newspapers have simply gone out of business, merged with other papers, or been absorbed by media conglomerates such as Gannett, which owns The Jackson Sun. Those papers continuing to publish have had to drastically cut back on the number of pages in each edition.

Washburn gave a brief history of The McKenzie Banner, which is celebrating its 151st year, starting just five years after the Civil War. It is the oldest business in McKenzie, with the exception of Bethel University. It is a family-owned and operated business with the whole Washburn family involved, including Washburn's wife, Teresa, office manager who also publishes recipes in the paper each week. He jokingly said Teresa's recipes get a lot more attention and comment from the public than he does. Also part of the operation is Joel's mother, Ramona Washburn, Publisher Emeritus.

The Washburn family came to McKenzie from Connecticut. His father, James Lloyd Washburn, joined The Banner in 1948

after returning from WWII. He remained with the newspaper until his death in 1985. Joel showed old cameras used by James during his publishing days, all of which used film and worked very slowly, compared to today's quick-action digital cameras. He also displayed the drone used in the business.

Washburn talked about the old print shop on Waldran Street in McKenzie, which did all the printing for the Banner, as well as the Dresden Enterprise, which he sold this year. He then opened the floor for questions. Everyone enjoyed his talk very much.

President Moore asked Victoria Ard to introduce our other guest, Jean Alexander, librarian at McKenzie Memorial Library. Victoria made a delightful speech about all the hard work Jean does at the library, whether it be helping people locate specific books, or helping computer users, or all the other jobs connected to running a public library. Our club had previously voted to honor Jean's efforts by presenting a check for her personal use. Jean graciously accepted our gift with a heartfelt thank-you.

President Moore announced she delivered 30 packages of student scissors for the school teachers. Members brought glue sticks to today's meeting, and next month's items are boxes of Kleenex tissue. She and Donna Ward also delivered the goody box of snacks to City Hall employees.

Under Announcements, Chamber of Commerce representative Shirley Martin gave a schedule of upcoming events, the next being an after-hours networking event on Tuesday, June 15th at the Overflow Church. "Nights on Broadway" events have been scheduled for June, July, August, and September.

Next month's meeting will be hosted by Gaye Rowan and Suzanne Russell. Elaine

Williams has the program. Fun By The Numbers
Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Huntingdon Police Reports

Drug Possession — Sarah M. Burks, 35, and Brittany Baker, 30, both of Huntingdon, were both charged with drug possession and drug paraphernalia violations following a June 5 search of a Huntingdon residence.

According to the report by Officer Michael Verner, he went a residence on Hunter Ridge Cove to speak with Burks regarding retrieving a key to her former place of employment. While speaking to Burks, Verner detected the odor of marijuana coming from inside the home, and after getting Burks' permission to search the residence, he found four bags of marijuana packaged for resale, a white powder believed to be heroin, two bottles of pills, nine smoking pipes, and four marijuana grinders. Baker was also at the residence at the time of the search.

Drug Possession — Felipe D. Ramirez, 43, (address not provided) was charged with possession of marijuana and driving on a revoked license and Joseph M. Styers, 41, (address not provided) was charged with possession of methamphetamine and drug paraphernalia during a June 4 traffic stop in Huntingdon.

According to the report by Officer Brad Allen, he pulled over a vehicle driven by Ramirez with Styers as a passenger due to expired registration. Ramirez told Allen that he had never had a driver's license, but a computer check showed that his license was revoked. After getting Ramirez's permission to search the vehicle, Allen found two marijuana cigarettes and a glass pipe containing a substance believed to be meth.

Shoplifting — William Ralph Eason, 63, of Cedar Grove was charged with theft of merchandise under $1,000 on May 19 by Officer Labe Ezell at Walmart in Huntingdon.

Officer Ezell reported that he responded to a call about a shoplifter at Walmart, and upon arrival, he found Eason attempting to leave the store without paying for numerous items that were concealed on his person and under the seat of the electric handicap buggy he was riding. Ezell also noted Eason failed to scan numerous items in the self-checkout area. Eason owes Walmart $207.64 in restitution.

Break-In — Officers are investigating a recent break-in in the Huntingdon downtown area.

According to the report, someone forced entry through the rear door of the Strop CPA office on Paris Street and took multiple items some time between the evening of May 22 and the morning of May 24. Signs of an attempted break-in were also found at Cornerstone Eatery, which is in the same building, but nothing was found to be missing from the restaurant.

Carroll County Sheriff's Reports

Aggravated Assault — Christopher Darien Ramsey, 27, of 417 High Street, Hollow Rock, was charged with aggravated assault, domestic assault, and false imprisonment on June 6 after allegedly stabbing his wife.

Deputy Michael Sevarns reported that he went to the Baptist Memorial Hospital Emergency Room regarding a stabbing victim. Sevarns spoke with the female victim, who stated Ramey, her estranged husband, stabbed her in the leg with her own knife during an altercation outside Ramsey's residence.

Aggravated Assault — Nicholas Wilson, 30, of 170 Hill Top Drive, McKenzie, was charged with aggravated assault and domestic assault following a June 9 incident at his residence.

Deputy Michael Sevarns reported Wilson and a female victim got into a verbal argument and at one point Wilson grabbed the victim's hair, shoved her to the floor; and placed his hands around her throat, restricting her breathing and leaving visible marks on her throat. Sevarns noted the victim is 10 weeks pregnant.

Theft — Lindsey Box-Rotger of Huntingdon told deputies on June 27 that someone took her black 8 x 12' two-wheel trailer valued at $2,300 from her property on Highway 70 without her permission.

She said her doorbell camera caught a suspect on camera at around the time the trailer went missing at 1:45 p.m.

Theft, Drugs — Jason Eric Meggs, 45, of 654 Highway 424, Cedar Grove, was charged with theft under $1,000, criminal trespassing, possession of methamphetamine, and drug paraphernalia on June 24 by Deputy Michael Sevarns.

Sevarns reported he responded to a call about suspicious activity at an address on New Bethel Road and found Meggs sitting in a vehicle with a trailer that was backed up onto the property with an ATV halfway loaded up on the trailer. Meggs was found to be in possession of nearly two grams of a substance he said was meth, as well as multiple used hypodermic needles.

Assault — Timothy Gene Chappel, 54, of 2185 Buck Ditch Road, Bruceton, was charged with simple assault by Deputy Michael Smith following a June 24 incident at a Huntingdon residence.

Chappel reported that he responded to a domestic violence call at a Northwood Drive residence and spoke with the female victim, who said that Chappel pushed open the door of her home, knocking her down. She also said Chappel struck her with a clock, causing lacerations to her head and face and injuries to other parts of her body.

Hometown Hangout Celebrates Ribbon Cutting

BY LYNDSY SUMMERS

MCKENZIE (June 9) — Hometown Hangout hosted its Ribbon Cutting celebration Wednesday at 4 p.m., where the staff offered the first 25 customers one free scoop of ice cream or a small shaved ice. All customers from Wednesday were entered into a raffle to win a $50 gift certificate.

Early this year, Drew Beeler created a plan to run an ice cream and shaved ice business that could give his hometown of McKenzie a family-friendly hangout spot. On May 31, his plan became a reality with the opening of Hometown Hangout, a bright orange trailer parked outside of the Gary Simmons Showroom on 14985 Highland Drive in McKenzie. Beeler also runs Hometown Hangout's sister mobile event trailer, Rollin Snow, after its previous owners offered to sell him the business in early May. Drew Beeler, 19, a 2020 graduate from McKenzie High School proudly runs Hometown Hangout, Rollin Snow, and his family's business at Murray Nutrition in Murray, Kentucky.

Hometown Hangout and Rollin Snow offer 12 ice cream flavors, 33 shaved ice flavors, snow-blended coffees and real fruit smoothies. The two businesses also offer sugar-free options. Ice cream is served in a cup, cone, or waffle cone. Customers can choose up to three flavors to make their own shaved ice creations, or they can turn their favorite shaved ice flavor into a slushie. Everything on the menu ranges from $3 to $5. Customers can also ask for a punch card, which gives them the opportunity to earn a free small cup of shaved ice on their sixth purchase.

Complete with picnic tables, cornhole boards, giant Jenga and giant Connect Four, Hometown Hangout is the perfect summer spot for friends and family to stop by. Although Hometown Hangout is a permanent location, it will only be open during summer months, beginning Memorial Day and ending Labor Day. Rollin Snow will continue its operations year-round.

As of now, Hometown Hangout is closed Mondays and Tuesdays. It is open on Wednesdays and Thursdays from 4 to 9 p.m., Fridays and Saturdays from 12 to 10 p.m. and Sundays from 12 to 8 p.m. In the event of severe weather, it will close. Any updates are posted on the business's Facebook and Instagram pages (Hometown Hangout / @hometown.hangout).

Rollin Snow will be in downtown Paris at the Oak Ridge Boys' concert during the Tennessee River Jam Thursday night at 6 p.m. and the RC Cola and Moonpie Festival in Bell Buckle, Tennessee, Saturday, June 19.

Drew Beeler extends a thank you to his parents, Ashley and Tim Beeler, who co-own the business, for their help and support with his dream. He also wants to thank the town of McKenzie for its continued support. Drew and the Hometown Hangout staff look forward to "hanging out" with their community all summer long.

McKenzie Auto Parts Celebrates 50 Years of Business

BY LYNDSY SUMMERS

MCKENZIE—June 15 marks 50 years since Marvin Newman and Charles Hudson began McKenzie Auto Parts on 15385 Highland Drive.

Marvin Newman was born and raised in Huntingdon. He joined the Army after graduating from Huntingdon High School. After leaving the Army in 1963, Marvin began working at Standard Auto in McKenzie with Charles Hudson. In 1971, the two men began contacting other parts distributors and opened McKenzie Auto Parts on June 15 of the same year. Marvin was in charge of management and sales, while Charles was a salesman on the road.

When McKenzie Auto Parts opened, it was the fourth automotive parts distributor in McKenzie. The business first distributed with Goldstar and converted to Carquest in 1974.

Marvin Newman bought Charles Hudson's share when Hudson retired in 1984. Since then, McKenzie Auto Parts became a Newman family business. Marvin is married to Mary Newman, and they share five children: Rusty, Nina, Amanda, Carey and Joseph. Carey Newman will continue the business when Marvin retires.

T-ball teams from 1980 to 2019. Marvin was a member of the Rotary Club and on the Chamber Board.

In 1999, McKenzie Auto Parts began providing electronics through Radio Shack. Today, the company sells cables, batteries, computer mouses, keyboards and more sourced from various suppliers after the Radio Shack corporation's closure.

Marvin reflected on the changes he has seen in the business over 50 years. Today, most orders are made online through the McKenzie Auto Parts website rather than in-store. Five nights a week, shipment deliveries are made to the store.

Marvin and Charles opened McKenzie Auto Parts before the height of UPS trucks and FedEx, so any deliveries made to them were through the Greyhound. He has also seen a large change in prices, saying, "If you saw one of our old invoices, you'd be surprised [by the prices]."

Marvin and staff at McKenzie Auto Parts are hosting a 50-Year Appreciation Day Lunch June 16 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. He is proud to have made this milestone with his family by his side, saying, "We've always been a family business. We have been blessed by all of the customers we've had."

McKenzie Auto Parts is open from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and from 7 a.m. to 12 p.m. Saturdays.
