Lady Rebels Headed to State

BY JOEL WASHBURN

The McKenzie Lady Rebels basketball team is headed to Murfreesboro to participate in the Class 1A state championship games. The Lady Rebels, 28-2, defeated a strong and disciplined team in Moore County, who led the first half but fell behind the Lady Rebels in the second half.

The lone senior Lady Rebel had the best game of her career, said Coach John Wilkins. He said Dani Dyer had a career high 18 points and took two 'charges' in the game to help the ladies earn their first trip to the state tournament since 1963.

The home side stands of McKenzie High School gymnasium were filled with Rebels fans, who were there to support the young ladies - both players and cheerleaders - who proudly represent their school and community.

The Lady Rebels is also a team that shares the ball. While Moore County ladies worked extra hard to guard Savannah Davis, a Miss Basketball nominee, they soon realized the Lady Rebels have a bench full of talented players who are ready when their feet hit the playing floor.

Dyer, the left-handed player, was deadly under the basket with eight two-pointers, and two free throws.

The sisters MiKaela Reynolds and Kylie Reynolds had 15 and 12

Bill Stout
Marine, Entrepreneur, Leader

Golston “Bill” Stout was born on May 14, 1936, in Nashville to William Franklin Stout and Etta Mai Hand. His father is deceased and his mother still lives in Nashville. He went to Nashville schools in early life, graduating from Cohn High School. After graduation from high school, Stout had planned to attend college in Cookeville but wound up taking a job with Cain-Sloan Department Stores instead. He became bored and disillusioned with what he was doing with his life, and set out to make some changes. On his way to work one morning in October 1953, he made a decision pretty much by accident that would change his life dramatically. Bill had decided he could no longer tolerate the work he was doing and decided to join the Navy. But when he got to the recruiting station, it was closed, and that is where his life changed. One door down was the office of the U.S. Marine Corps recruiter. He decided to go in and check things out. He remembered walking into the recruiting station and standing there waiting for somebody to notice his presence when he heard a familiar voice. That voice asked, “What are you doing here, boy?” When he turned, he recognized a friend from his work at Cain-Sloan, a boy named Everett Yarbrough.

Yarbrough commented that he too had decided to join the Marines. Stout and Yarbrough signed up for the Corps together and stayed together for much of the next three years. They signed up on Monday, took their physical examinations on Tuesday, and left for an uncertain future on Thursday morning of the same week. And for the next several months, they would be anything but bored. The young men boarded a train in Nashville, bound for Atlanta that would take them to infamous Parris Island, South Carolina. Bill recalled when he and the other 77 recruits got off the bus at what Marines affectionately refer to as “P.I.” his life changed in a big way. Within seconds of their arrival, the Marine who was to be their Assistant Drill Instructor made his presence known in the most certain of terms. Within very few minutes, Bill began to wonder if he had made the right decision. But he did not ponder that question for very long. The drill instructor soon had them collect what for many years in the Marine Corps was known as a “bucket issue”. They received shaving gear, soap, and the cleaning equipment used for several weeks, comprising a large steel bucket, a scrub brush, and soap. They were then escorted (herded may be a better word) to their new home, known as a Nathan Hut.

There they would be transformed, according to their drill instructor, from the lowest scum of the earth into Marines - if they managed to make it through boot camp at all. The next morning the recruits received their first Marine Corps haircut, in which the head is transformed pretty much into the same appearance as that of a bowling ball. Not enough hair remained on their heads to pinch between two fingernails. From well before daylight until whenever the drill instructor tires of “training” his new charges, they are in constant movement. Not a second of that time is wasted; every movement on the part of a Marine “boot” is intended to accomplish something. That something may not be obvious to the recruit at the time, but in retrospect, he or she understands the concept. Over the next few months, Bill underwent a transformation that would change his life forever. From the young civilian who was bored with his life, he was molded into a sharp-looking, sharp-acting military fighter that is to this day feared by his enemies as the most intimidating human in the world - a United States Marine. Bill recalled on one occasion while they were on the rifle range learning to accurately fire the M-1 Garand rifle they had been issued, somebody in the platoon messed up while they were practicing close-order drill (marching), and they all paid for the mistake. Their drill instructor hollered, one of his favorite phrases, “Down on your haunches!” To the platoon, this meant they would have the privilege of “duck-walking” until the DI decided their debt to the Corps was adequately repaid for the transgression in question. They duck-walked around the dirt and sand of the swamps that are so prevalent at Parris Island, and finally into the watery swamp itself. They stayed in their crouched position and crawled through the water. If the water happened to be too deep, they were expected to stay underwater as long as they could hold their breath, grab a quick breath, then back into their “haunches” position. By the time this little training exercise was completed, every recruit in the platoon looked like a total disaster, with water, sand, mud, and grass from head to toe. Then the drill instructor marched his platoon of pitiful-looking young men back to their barracks, night down the middle of the rifle range within sight of other training platoons, and into the showers, clothes and all. As this filthy band of ragamuffins slogged through the range, tired and in a state of confusion as to the benefit of such an exercise, the drill instructor began to sing the Marines Hymn. Immediately the platoon joined in, visibly changing from a slouching position to their backs straight and chests puffed out. They strutted like the full-fledged Marines. Upon completion of their initial training, Bill, Yarbrough, and several others were assigned to Airman Preparatory School at Naval Air Station, Jacksonville, Florida. Then they were transferred to Naval Air Station, Millington, Tennessee, where he was trained as a jet aircraft engine mechanic. Bill was then transferred to Marine Corps Air Station in Cherry Point, North Carolina, and assigned to Marine Instrument Training Squadron. After a few months at Cherry Point, he became bored with his life and asked for reassignment. He was sent to Marine Corps Air Station, El Toro, California in preparation to send him overseas to Korea. While he was at El Toro, he recalled that he had gone to Hollywood on 24-hour liberty. While on his way back to his base, it occurred to him that he was 18 years old and was 3,000 miles away from his family. He said he had a single “buffalo .. nickel in his pocket. With that nickel, he bought a Tootsie Roll and hitchhiked back to El Toro. Within 30 days, he boarded the U.S. Navy Ship Marine Phoenix, a troop carrier from World War II days, and spent 20 days en route to Korea, with 3,600 Marines aboard a ship designed to carry 2,400 men. Upon arrival in Korea, they were picked up by an amphibious landing craft near Inchon and subsequently transferred to Pohang, about 200 miles north of Pusan for duty. After serving 18 months in Korea, he was transferred back to the States, traveling on the USNS E. D. Patrick. The voyage home took eleven days, and he landed at Naval Station, Treasure Island, California, before being sent back to his original unit at Cherry Point. He served the remainder of his enlistment and was discharged in October 1956, with the rank of Sergeant. When he returned home to Nashville, Bill got a job with Baird-Ward Printing Company, and later a friend helped him get a job with Victor Chemical Company. While working, he attended the University of Tennessee at Nashville, majoring in Chemistry. He attended college at night for seven years, completing the work on his degree. He later took a position with AVCO, an aviation subcontractor for companies such as Lockheed, Boeing, and ChanceVought. His company made parts for the Lockheed C-130 and C-141, the Boeing B-1 bomber, and NASA's Apollo spacecraft. At about this time, Bill met his wife, the former Betsy Gateley, who was originally from Atwood. Bill was tired of living in a big city, so when Betsy decided to move back home, Bill moved to Huntingdon. They were married on March 8, 1957. The Stouts have one son, Steve. In September 1964, Bill opened the first convenience store in Huntingdon. It was called Steve's Drive-in Market, named for his son Steve. Bill decided to remain open from six o'clock in the morning until 11 p.m. He recalled that his friends thought he was crazy to establish such ridiculous hours of operation. Later he was approached by the owners of another company, offering to sell him a store at Parkers Crossroads. He bought that store, the Crossroad Travel Mart, and kept it for about a year before getting out of the business after eleven years. In January 1975, he established the Huntingdon Termite and Pest Control Company. He has been in this business for the past 24 years. In this time, he has also gotten involved in politics. He was elected to the Huntingdon Town Council, serving two and one-half terms. He was vice mayor when Mayor Lee Chance died while in office, so Stout filled Chance's uncompleted term. Since moving to Huntingdon, Bill Stout has served in the following positions and on boards in this area: town council; vice mayor; mayor; Carroll County Draft Board; Carroll County Industrial Board; Huntingdon Housing Authority; President of the Rotary Club; a member of the Jaycees, and Chairman of the Carroll County Republican Party.

HUNKER DOWN WITH KES
An Anniversary...Of Sorts

My first newspaper article appeared the second week of March in 1984. A pound of bacon at the time cost $1.69. I had to look that up. And I don't know how that is relevant because I have no idea what a pound of bacon cost today. A gallon of gas in 1984 was $1.10. I also had to look that up. And I have no idea what a gallon of gas cost today... every time I go to the pump it's up another 30 cents. And brother, that is about as relevant as it gets! Wesley Ramsey, the venerable editor, publisher and owner of the local paper in '84 said, “Write something about growing up back home. Try to make it folksy, humorous, noteworthy, poignant, informative, philosophical and most of all, relevant.” I have been trying to do just that for 38 years. It is harder than you think! There are a lot of weeks when I don't feel folksy, or have a story. Of course, if you've ever glanced at one of my offerings—you already know that. And I sometimes wonder myself how me telling you about Bobby Brewer “fishing”, in 1955, for those goldfish in that small circular cement pond up in the center of our town square, is relevant at all...unless you had a childhood friend who was prone to do something just like that “to crank life up a notch” on a slow moving day in your wonderful past.

38 years. Do you realize that I have been writing about growing up back home...three times longer than I actually “grew up back home!” A lot of you ask if I make this stuff up. Listen, I'm not smart enough to “imagine” people like Graylene Lemonds, LaRenda Bradfield, Buddy Wiggleton or Kong King. They are as alive, fresh, smiling and real to me at this moment as they were back when our nation was trying to decide if they could elect a first ever Catholic president! And maybe you needed to have been standing beside the “fish pond” to truly believe Brewer climbed in, with his blue jeans and tennis shoes on, and went to trying to capture those goldfish with his hands. Or maybe, like me, you would have climbed in there with him because he obviously wasn't much of a goldfish fisherman. 38 years. And honesty compels me to report that may not be technically correct. I did miss one article. That was November 15, 1984. My grandfather died and I dropped everything and rushed home to see Granny. And besides, at the time I didn't know I was writing a weekly column. I just thought of something we did and I wrote it down. Come to think of it, that's all I'm doing today! It is noteworthy, maybe even informative—I don't think poignant—that I don't remember who was President of the United States in 1984. But I recall vividly so many details of the controversy surrounding John F. Kennedy being elected as a non-protellant president in 1960. Do you reckon we are more in tune, more sensitive to what's going on around us, more aware as wonder-filled teenagers, than we are when life has worn on us a bit?

Now folks, that is about as philosophical as I can wax. 38 years. Two things have made it all possible. One is the time, place and people that surrounded me “growing up back home.” And the other, of course, is the nice folks like you that listen in from time to time. The fifties were filled with “happy days.” We were between wars; everybody liked Ike; the pace was slower; you could understand your neighbors; and a brand new 1956 Chevrolet Bel Air cost $2,405. I grew up in the perfect place. We just had a mite of difficulty “seeing” it at the time. And I have told you repeatedly about every single person that blessed my life as we fought and loved, played and worked, laughed and cried our way through those early awakening years. And it has truly been a blast to hear that you have “remembered something” after hearing that I fell down that same hole once upon a time. Listen, your story is so often way better than mine. I thank you for taking the time to share them with me. And don't you for one minute think I'm a real writer! I have never passed myself off as such. I know it's just a ruse. Wesley Ramsey figured me out the very first year. About six months into this writing deal, I stopped by with my latest effort. I gave him time to read it, “Mr. Wesley, I hope that I do get better at this.” He looked up at me over his glasses just as seriously as it could be done and replied, “Son, I HOPE YOU DO TO!”

Irrelevantly Yours,
Kes

WILLIAM 'BILL' MOODY

FORMERLY OF McKENZIE — William L. Moody (Bill), 94, died Sunday, February 27, 2022, in Fort Myers, Florida. He and his wife, Dorothy Coats Moody, retired to the Lexington Country Club in Fort Myers in 2002 to enjoy the weather, golf, and to spend time with friends, children, and grandchildren. Bill was born in Yuma, Tennessee on June 17, 1927. He and his wife, Dot, along with their two children, Mark and Jill, lived in Huntingdon, then later McKenzie. Bill and Dot later moved to Dyersburg.

The family will receive friends during visitation hours on Tuesday, March 8, from 5 to 7 p.m. and again on Wednesday, March 9, from 10-11 a.m. at Dilday-Carter Funeral Home in Huntingdon. Services are at Dilday-Carter Funeral Home on Wednesday, March 9 at 11 a.m. followed by a graveside service at Oak Hill Cemetery.

After graduating from Huntingdon High School in 1945, Mr. Moody received an associates degree from Bethel College and a BS in Accounting from the University of Tennessee in Knoxville, enrolling through the GI Bill after serving two years in the US Navy aboard the USS Knapp in the Pacific.

After working as sales manager for Vickers Motor Company in Huntingdon, Bill co-owned two thriving car dealerships - Russell Chevrolet Olds in McKenzie and Moody-Wadley in Dyersburg.

Mr. Moody built car dealerships that were known throughout West Tennessee for their integrity and excellent service, and over the years, he received numerous awards of excellence from both GMC and Toyota. Bill had a passion for the car business, but mostly he had a passion for people. He was loved and respected by those he employed and by the customers he served. He never met a stranger and he never tired of the day to day life of providing for his family while running his business and serving his community.

Early in his career, Bill served his hometown of Huntingdon as president of the Huntingdon Lions Club, the Huntingdon Jaycees, and the Huntingdon Elks, and as commander of both the American Legion and VFW, as two-term alderman for the City of Huntingdon, as a member of the Board of Education for Huntingdon Special School District, and as Special Gifts chairperson of the Carroll County Cancer Society. He and his family were devoted members of the First Baptist Church.

Bill was a founding member of the Huntingdon Mustangs Quarterback Club. He brought his deep love of football, especially the Huntingdon Mustangs, to life every Friday night in the press box where he was well-known for calling plays with enthusiasm and accuracy. And he was a passionate fan of the Tennessee Vols - assisting in recruiting efforts among talented West Tennessee high school graduates as president of the Carroll County chapter of the UT General Association and holding season tickets for his beloved Vols for many many years. Kentucky Lake was his other "favorite place on Earth" and he spent many happy hours fishing the lake with his family and friends.

"Everybody knows Billy Moody" was a well worn phrase in Carroll County and beyond. Bill Moody's heart was deep and wide and his joy for living life was infectious to all those around him. He believed people are good - he loved them and they loved him back. As a father, grandfather, and great-grandfather "Daddy Bill's" love knew no bounds. He felt blessed to have been given his beautiful family and he shared this fact daily with any and everyone who would listen up until the day he died. He reminded us all that true joy results from giving yourself completely to love. We will miss his jokes, his charm, and his boundless faith in people and in God's goodness.

Mr. Moody is pre-deceased by his beloved wife of 66 years, Dorothy Mai Coats Moody.

He is survived by one son, William Mark Moody and wife, Patricia Lantis, of New York City, one daughter, Jill Moody Bateman, and husband, Terry Bateman, of Chevy Chase, Maryland, three grandchildren, William Allan Bateman and wife, Jennifer Anne Bateman, Claire Bateman Graziano and husband, Nick Graziano, all of Chevy Chase, Maryland, and Anna Bateman Birdsong and husband, Sam Birdsong, of Athens, Georgia along with four great-grandchildren: Addison Grey Bateman (Addie), William Alan Bateman (Liam), Walker James Graziano, and George Allan Birdsong. Mr. Moody is also survived by many treasured nephews, nieces, and great-nephews and nieces.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations be made in Bill's memory to St Jude Children's Research, a cause both Mr. and Mrs. Moody held close to their hearts.

Lady Rebels Win Region 6A, First Since 1963

BY JIM POTTS

The McKenzie Lady Rebels won the District Tournament against Houston County and now the Region Tournament with a win over Houston County. The Lady Rebels defeated the Lady Irish 68-61 and 53-48 during the regular season and beat them a third time in the district tournament 66-46. So this meeting was the fourth meeting between the two teams this season.

This is their first region title since 1963. That '63 team sported a 20-5 record including winning the Lake Conference, District and Region 7 Championship against the Henry Lady Pirates and going to the state tournament in Murfreesboro. The first round of the tournament is what is now referred to as substate. The Rebelettes, as they were known then, faced Centerville and lost a heartbreaker 39-38.

Members of that team included: Seniors — Judy Abernathy, Jeanne Duncan, Emily Field, Annette Sasser and Karen Webb. Juniors were Carol Ellis Dougherty and Judy Burroughs. Sophomores included Betty Blades, Pam Fuchs, and Sally House. Freshmen were Barbara Cozart and Paula Pinson. There were several team members that were not on the tournament squad including Sharon Nelson, Gina 1963 Rebelettes in no particular order: Judy Abernathy, Jeanne Duncan, Emily Field, Annette Sasser, Karen Webb, Carol Ellis Dougherty, Judy Burroughs, Betty Blades, Pam Fuchs, Sally House, Barbara Cozart and Paula Pinson.

Hansen, Kay Brown, Mary Lou Smith, and Diane Stoner.

Fast forward to 2022, some of those '63 players may well have observed the 27-2 Lady Rebels take it to the Houston County Lady Irish for the '22 Region 6 Championship. Savannah Davis and Mikaela Reynolds both had big first periods as McKenzie rolled to a 22-11 lead by the end of the period.

The Lady Rebels extended the lead to 31-17 in the first three minutes of the second period and ran off another 11 points by halftime to lead 42-24. In the third period, McKenzie exploded for 27 points to put the game out of reach 69-39. McKenzie emptied their bench starting late in the third period and all through the final period as the Lady Rebels claimed the region championship with a 73-58 win.

Savannah Davis led all scorers with 29 points for the night while Mikaela Reynolds had 18 points. Kylie Reynolds added nine points. Dani Dyer and Briley Auvenshine had five points each while Katie Chesser and Hannah Dillingham had three points each. Ally Gibson chipped in a point for the Lady Rebels.

Houston County was led by Josey Gant and Karlie Stinson with 19 and 17 points respectively. Kennedy

Jones added 12 for the Lady Irish while R'Shonte' Kizer had five points and Maddie Ross had four points. Haylie Brooks chipped in one point for Houston County.

Three Lady Rebels made the All-Region Team including Briley Auvenshine, Mikaela Reynolds, and Savannah Davis who was named Region MVP. The other All-Region players were McEwen's Faith Colston, Perry County's Cianna Wilson, Houston County's Karlie Stinson and Josey Gant.

The Lady Rebels moved on to a substate contest with Moore County on Saturday, March 5. (See related story on Page 1).

Gleason Rolls Westwood Advances To State Tournament

BY JIM POTTS

GLEASON — The Lady Bulldogs played host to Memphis Westwood Saturday night, March 5, with a state tournament berth on the line. Gleason came out hot and stayed that way from tip to finish.

The first period saw the Lady Bulldogs shoot their way into double digits leading 17-6 by the end of the period. They extended their lead with two back to back three pointers to start the second period to lead 23-6 with six minutes to go. Westwood started getting points on the board but Gleason still cruised to a 33-15 halftime score.

Their biggest period was the third period with the Lady Bulldogs outscoring Westwood 24-6 to lead 57-21 heading into the final period. At that point, the mercy rule was in effect for the fourth period. Gleason led by 40 a little over halfway through the period and

Carrington Lifsey and Alayna Anderson led the way with 25 and 18 points respectively. Ava Sawyers and Tinsley Parkins added five points each while Autumn Mingle, Daisy Blevins, and Kaylee Tucker had four points each. Sophie Wilson chipped in two points for the Lady Bulldogs.

Westwood only had two players score the entire game with one scoring 16 and the other scoring 15.

Gleason will face Clay County next Thursday, March 10 at 1:15 p.m. in Murfreesboro.

State Representative Darby Speaks to Chamber Forum

BY JOEL WASHBURN

HUNTINGDON (March 4) — State Representative Tandy Darby (R-Greenfield) was the featured speaker at the Carroll County Chamber of Commerce's Capitol Talk on Friday. Chamber President Brad Hurley introduced the freshman legislator, noting he was a graduate of Greenfield and UT-M. He noted Darby serves on Calendar and Rules, Agriculture and Higher Education committees.

Darby said he was humbled at the opportunity to serve as the voice of the people of Weakley and portions of Carroll and Obion counties.

He said West Tennessee sustained a reduction of 70,000 people between the census of 2010 and 2020, causing the realignment of his representative district. He expects a reversal in the population losses with the announcement of Sheriff Andy Dickson speaks with State Representative Tandy Darby.

Ford's Blue Oval project in the Memphis Megasite. He noted other economic development projects will also help West Tennessee.

He spoke of Governor Bill Lee's proposed funding formula for public education. The new system will allow funds to follow the student and provide funding according to students' needs and challenges.

In the question and answer session, Lynn Watkins asked Darby to evaluate the fund formula carefully as it rewards the special school systems in Carroll County but severely limits the funding of the Carroll County School System that provides bus transportation and vocational training for students of the county's five special school districts.

McKenzie Mayor Jill Holland thanked Representative Darby for supporting the restoration of a portion of the sales tax on single articles. The state took away a portion of the sales tax funding in the 1990s. Now with the state's windfall financial surpluses, it could return that portion of funding on the purchase of single articles, which would mean $90,000 to the city of McKenzie. She said the city could use the money for paving and other necessary items. Paving is unlikely to be placed in the budget for 2022-23, said the mayor due to the price of oil, a major component of paving.

Darby said he endorsed the legislation to support the return of the sales tax. He also said the roads are bad. That is in spite of the state raising fuel taxes several years ago to improve Tennessee's road system.

Fun By The Numbers
Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

MCKENZIE (March 2) — Schools across America celebrated National Read Across America Day, a day to celebrate reading. MES took the opportunity to encourage reading through a dress-up day and a reading night, which was held Friday. Costumed students, dressed in characters in a book, were greeted by costumed teachers and staff members as the students entered the building on March 2.

Mrs. Young is a 1971 graduate of McKenzie High School and attended the state vocational school (now TCAT at McKenzie).

McKENZIE (March 7) — The Rebels hosted the Richland Raiders on Monday, March 7 in sub-state action to advance to the State Tournament in Murfreesboro in two weeks.

The first part of the opening period was low scoring with points hard to come by. Defenses for both squads were in high gear as Richland took a 5-4 lead with four minutes left in the period. Within the next two minutes, the Rebels had retaken the lead 8-5 with two minutes left in the first period. McKenzie closed the period with a 7-3 run to lead 15-8 at the end of one period. Richland was primarily attempting to generate points from beyond the arc and not really working the ball inside during first period action.

The Rebels nailed a 3 and a layup in the first thirty seconds of the second period to extend the lead 20-8. The lead became 25-15 in favor of McKenzie by the 4:30 mark when shooting went a bit chilly for the next few minutes until the score became 27-19 with 1:30 left until halftime. The Rebels went on to lead 31-21 at halftime.

In the third period, both teams had 11 points each but the Rebels already had a 10-point lead so they continued to lead 42-33 by the end of the third period. McKenzie's largest lead was 36-23 with 5:30 left in the period. Richland trimmed the Rebel lead to 39-29 with three minutes left but McKenzie stayed in the lead 42-33 at the end of the third period.

McKenzie scored one basket in the fourth period and the remainder of the points were earned at the free throw line hitting 14-20 of them to secure the win 58-50.

McKenzie's scoring was definitely balanced across the board with Marquez Taylor and Stafford Roditis leading the way with 12 points each. Tate Surber and Zayden McCaslin added nine points apiece while Bryson Steele had eight points. Zay Webber and Zach Aird put up four points each for the Rebels.

Trey Luna and Jace Derbyberry led the way for Richland with 18 and 11 points respectively while Carter Edwards added nine points. Luke Jones had six points while Tyrell Randolph, Gage Kirk, and Andrew Huff had two points each for the Raiders.

McKenzie Coach John Wilkins had plenty of them to after the win. "I've been here 10-11 years now and I was fortunate enough to get [to the state tournament] one time and I've had good teams that just didn't make it; but taking two teams in the same year with boys and girls is just special." Wilkins gave special credit to his wife and kids for allowing him to do what he does. "I don't know if it can be stated enough but to do what I do, I have to have her support."

Wilkins gave credit to all the support from McKenzie fans and said "We're excited to go on two runs here and see what happens. Credit to the kids, they have worked so hard so we're going to go up there and see what happens."
