Congratulations, Graduates!

This special keepsake edition of The Banner celebrates over 350 graduating seniors from McKenzie, Huntingdon, West Carroll, Central, Clarksburg and Gleason. This edition honors every graduate and the determination that has brought them to this moment in their lives.

Included are photos (as available) of each graduate and coverage of each school's commencement ceremony.

Graduates, your accomplishments are a reflection of your resiliency and your ability to face unprecedented challenges and rise above. Take pride in your success and remember this moment of celebration.

Although they are responsible for their own success, it is also in-part thanks to community members who invested their time, effort and care into cultivating productive young adults. From parents, grandparents and guardians to teachers, coaches, administrators, and support staff – your support has helped these graduates more than you know.

This edition was made possible by the many local businesses and individuals who have extended their congratulations and well wishes to you through advertisements on these pages.

The Banner hopes you will take the time to read these messages of pride and will remember to support these businesses, as they are the backbone of our community.

The Banner extends a special thanks to each school for providing us with senior photos, names and information vital to making this special edition complete.

Congratulations to the graduating Class of 2023! We wish you all the best of luck as you enter a new stage in your lives.

– The Banner Staff

ATWOOD (May 11) — West Carroll High School was the first of the county's schools to graduate on Thursday, May 11, 2023.

The ceremony was planned for the football field, however, a threat of rain caused the event to be moved into the school's gymnasium.

Sydney Bosley provided the invocation, Jennie Simmons, senior class president, offered the welcome address, Mariah Bryant gave the salutatorian address, and Juan Bernal gave the valedictorian's address.

Each candidate for graduation walked across the elevated platform as Joe Tetleton, principal, presented diplomas. Each graduate was presented a red, long-stem rose to present to their parents or guardians.

The benediction was offered by Seth Edwards.

Top Ten graduates were (in order): Juan Bernal, valedictorian, Mariah Bryant, salutatorian, Nicole Castro, Jennie Simmons, Sarah Browning, Zetta Coleman, Jake Bissen, Lakyn Mitchell, Skylar Jones, and Kaylee Butler.

Honor Graduates include: Juan Bernal, Sarah Browning, Mariah Bryant, Nicole Castro, Zetta Coleman, John Crouse, Skylar Jones, Lakyn Mitchell, Brock Polinski, and Alexander Rutledge.

Did You Know?

A nursing shortage in the United States is expected to intensify in the coming years as the aging population grows and the need for health care increases as well. Projections from the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics suggest there will be more than 203,000 openings for registered nurses each year between 2021 and 2031. And it's not just a shortage of RNs that the health care industry will be forced to confront. The BLS' Occupation Outlook Handbook also projects a growing demand for advanced practice registered nurses (APRNs), with estimates suggesting as many as 30,200 APRN openings each year between now and 2031. Qualifications to become an APRN typically include completion of a master's or even doctoral program, while RNs typically must complete a four-year bachelor's or two-year associate's program.

Congrats

How To Make A Résumé ATS-Friendly

Job searches are often described as akin to looking for a needle in a haystack. That could be even more so in the digital age, an era when online job boards feature hundreds, if not thousands, of listings. Sifting through those listings can be time-consuming and force job seekers to wonder if their résumé will even be seen.

Conventional wisdom regarding résumés may no longer apply. A résumé can still be a useful asset, but job seekers must recognize the game has changed, specifically in regard to how résumé submissions are received and reviewed. Many companies now use applicant tracking systems (ATS) to sift through résumé submissions before they ever land in the inbox or on the desk of an actual human being. Because ATS is so popular, job seekers would be wise to embrace strategies to make their résumé more ATS-friendly to increase the chances the document finds its way to a hiring manager.

▶ The right keywords can help get a résumé seen. Though a résumé was once viewed as a tool that allowed job seekers to illustrate how they were unique from other applicants, uniqueness on a résumé may now be a detriment. ATS serve as virtual gatekeepers that scan documents submitted for job openings. If those documents don't feature certain keywords, they're likely to be relegated to the virtual scrap heap. Professionals should research which keywords are likely to get their résumé past the first stage of the hiring process and include them in the body of the document.

▶ There's more to it than keywords. Though the right keywords can ensure a résumé gets past the virtual gatekeepers, they're not the only features of a good résumé. ATS are programmed to read résumés that are formatted in certain ways. The experts at Jobscan note that the most ATS-friendly résumé is one that is chronological. That's something most job seekers are already familiar with, as professionals have long listed their professional experience in reverse chronological order. That approach still works, and Jobscan recommends including company name and location, job title, start and end dates, and achievements and responsibilities for each job listed in the work experience section.

▶ Avoid unique formats. Résumé data included in graphs, tables and columns might seem invaluable, but ATS software might make a mess of it. In addition, maintain a uniform font throughout the document. Sans serif fonts like Calibri and Helvetica won't be difficult for ATS programs to read, increasing the likelihood that the document will ultimately be seen by a hiring manager.

▶ Make the résumé mobile-friendly. A résumé that is easily opened and read on a mobile phone is likely to be just as easily read in an ATS program. Professionals can design their résumés and then open the documents on their phones. Documents that open quickly and easily are probably formatted in an ATS-friendly way, while those that don't may need to be simplified and reformatted.

In the age of digital job-seeking, professionals can take steps to make their résumés ATS-friendly to ensure the documents are ultimately seen.

Congratulations! Wishing you success in your future endeavors!

Clarksburg High School Graduates 20

Clarksburg graduates toss their caps into the air after being awarded their diplomas.

CLARKSBURG (May 12) — Friday evening, twenty seniors from Clarksburg High School were awarded diplomas. Among the senior class one student, Walker Anderson, was missing. Tragically, Walker died in November 2022; his diploma was accepted by his twin brother, Jesse.

Speeches were delivered by Valedictorian Grace Bartholomew, Salutatorian Carly Blount and Historian Ashlyn Smith. The students praised the school faculty and staff along with the new director of schools, Dr. Lisa Norris. Each student of the graduating class was recognized for the various distinctions and emblems of adornment. With the awarding of diplomas, each student’s plans on furthering their education were announced along with bestowed scholarships.

After the awarding of diplomas, each student delivered a purple rose in Walker Anderson’s memory to his parents, Wallace and Martha Anderson. Then students handed out roses to their parents and/or others who have made an impact on their lives.

The class’s top ten were Grace Bartholomew, Carly Blount, Ashlyn Smith, Cassie Blount, Jesse Anderson, Megan Foster, Brayden Cobb, Juliana Altom, Hunter Scott and Lily Moore.
